HOOVER LANDSLIDE GIVES REPUBLICANS SENATE, HOUSE

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The whirlwind of votes, which swept Herbert Hoover into the presidency, today had given the Republican party a clear majority in the Senate of the new Congress, although the insurgent bloc retained its perennial "balance of power."

The new Senate, convening after next March 4, will have 56 Republicans, 39 Democrats and 1 Farmer-Laborite. This will be the greatest Republican strength exhibited in the Senate since the Harding landslide of 1920 gave that party actual control of the upper branch of Congress.

Hoover's tremendous victory was credited with helping Republican nominees to win seven seats from the Democrats, although but five Democratic Senators were beaten, as one—James A. Reed, of Missouri, retired voluntarily, and another, Cyrus E. Locher, of Ohio—was defeated in the primaries.

WIN 20 OUT OF 34

In the 34 seats contested yesterday, the Republicans won 20, the Democrats 13, and Senator Henrik Shipstead, Farmer-Laborite of Minnesota, the other.

Maintaining their own lines almost intact and inflicting damage on the opposition, the Republicans apparently had lengthened their Congressional lead of two years ago and may command 250 of the 435 votes in the House.

While some of the Democratic

Reed Re-elected to Senate—Heavy Pa Vote Keeps Hoover Lead High.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Herbert Hoover's Pennsylvania plurality over Gov. Smith was mounting toward 800,000 as belated returns were received from remote sections of the state.

His lead in 6,716 districts out of 3,571 in the state was 772,974, and it was expected that the districts still to come will send the plurality above 800,000.

The figures so far received gave Hoover a total of 1,664,123 and Smith 891,149.

Senator David A. Reed, (Rep.) candidate for re-election, had a plurality of approximately half a million over William N. McNair, Democrat, in returns from 4,582 districts.

A recheck by Republican party leaders of the vote in the First Congressional District, made up of so-called Vare wards, indicates that the official count will be necessary to determine the winner between James M. Beck, (R.), and William L. Rooney, (D.). First figures favored Beck. Later complete figures gave the district to Rooney, while the recheck put Beck ahead by 101 votes.

Albany Votes 5 to 2 for Smith

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 7.—(AP.)—This city, which has known Alfred E. Smith for eight years as Governor of New York State, gave him a majority of 14,268 over Herber Hoover, his Republican opponent in the presidential race.

NO STREET CAR FARE BOOST

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

"There is not going to be a raise in the street car fare tomorrow and the street cars are not going out of existence," A. W. Robertson, president of the Philadelphia Company, the Pittsburgh Railways Company and the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company, said today in addressing the Luncheon Club of the Pittsburgh Chapter of the Knights of Columbus at the William Penn Hotel. "I rather overstated my case when I spoke before the Real Estate Board a short time ago," he said.

Mr. Robertson was introduced by J. D. Callery, chairman of the board

Smith Cuts County Margin to 47,000; Carries Homestead, Other Boroughs.

Herbert Hoover carried Allegheny county by a majority of about 47,000 votes in one of the hottest presidential elections in the history of this Republican stronghold.

He carried Pittsburgh by a narrow margin of 6,400 votes, winning only 16 wards, against 14 turned in majorities for Gov. Alfred E. Smith. Hoover was given the lead in McKeesport, Duquesne and Clairton.

The normally independent districts in city and county proved Hoover strongholds. This, political observer held, may prove to have an important bearing on subsequent elections, if the same interest is manifested as was shown yesterday.

Smith carried 17 of 68 boroughs, including Homestead, Rankin, McKees Rocks, Glassport, East Pittsburgh, Mt. Oliver, Millvale and Sharpsburg. Wilkinsburg was the star Hoover borough, giving him 8,136 majority.

REED WINS BY 60,000

United States Senator David A. Reed, available returns indicate, was given a majority of about 60,000 over William N. McNair, Democrat, in the home county of both.

The entire Republican slate of state, congressional and legislative candidates in the city and county won, according to partial reports from the various districts.

The vote cast by men and women of Allegheny County seems to have established a new record. Apparently more than 375,000 of the 472,000 eligibles went to the polls. Less than 10,000 of the 183,000 voters registered in Pittsburgh failed to go to the polls, the rush necessitating the sending of extra ballot boxes to many districts.

With only four out of 728 districts in Pittsburgh missing, the vote here was:

Hoover	90,548
Smith	84,158
Hoover's lead	6,390

Out of 1,427 county districts, 1,337 gave

Hoover	204,632
Smith	156,801
Hoover's lead	47,831

Seven hundred and seventy-nine of the county districts, in the senatorial fight, reported:

Reed	115,743
McNair	80,715
Reed's lead	35,028

M'KEESPORT HOOVER'S

The vote in McKeesport, with two out of 45 districts missing, was: Hoover, 8,252; Smith, 5,182. Clairton gave Hoover 1,959; Smith, 1,274. The vote in Duquesne was: Hoover, 2,093; Smith, 1,864.

The real feature of the fight here, in addition to the tremendous vote, was the manner in which the Smith cohorts ripped the Republican organization to pieces in the city of Pittsburgh. One organization stronghold after another fell before the Smith advance, but the big Hoover majorities in the residential sections gave him his slight lead in the city.

Smith carried the First, Second, Fourth, Sixth, Eighth, Ninth, Tenth, Twelfth, Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Seventeenth, Twenty-third, Twenty-fourth and Twenty-ninth wards, a total of 14 wards.

Hoover carried the Third, Fifth, Seventh, Eleventh, Thirteenth, Fourteenth, Eighteenth, Nineteenth, Twentieth, Twenty-first, Twenty - second, Twenty - fifth, Twenty - sixth, Twenty - seventh, Twenty-eighth and Thirtieth wards, a total of 16.

MANY SMITH WARDS

Senator M. G. Leslie's ward, the Ninth, went for Smith. So did the Fourth, of which Senator James J.

Today

At Least, Big Voting. Home Goes Coolidge. Another Pasteur Wanted. Mussolini on Movies.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(Copyright, 1928.)

THE news columns will supply you with facts and guesses on the election.

The main thing is that people really took the trouble to vote, something that comparatively few have done usually.

It would have been more encouraging had interest in public questions aroused the unusual interest, rather than questions aside from American government.

But voting for any reason is welcome.

OLD Vermont farmers that knew "Cal Coolidge" as a little boy, helping his father with the farm chores, would have been amazed to see that same "Cal" yesterday getting out of a seven-car special train, taking him from the White House to the polls at Northampton, Mass.

THE President cast his first vote in Northampton, was elected councilman there, long ago, and has been steadily in office ever since, nominated nineteen or twenty times—never beaten. A record in politics as good as Cromwell's in war. Cromwell never lost a battle.

THE old farmers would observe with pleasure that being President, with $75,000 a year salary, a White House and a big yacht have not spoiled Calvin Coolidge. Next March he will move from the White House to Northampton and resume life in a small house which he rents for $32.50 a month.

SUCH a man is not dependent on money. But the President could save plenty of it. More than one law firm would be glad to guarantee him three times his presidential salary. And he would not have to work hard. Perhaps the President chooses to wait a while, look around, and, possibly, take a second elective term in the White House, eight years hence.

THE erection of a fine statue to the great Frenchman, Pasteur, honors Chicago. Excepting the Lincoln statue, none in Chicago is erected to so noble and useful a man.

HOOVER GRATIFIED AT SMITH MESSAGE

HOOVER HOME, STANFORD UNIVERSITY CAMPUS, Cal., Nov. 7.—(AP.)—President-elect Herbert Hoover today sent the following response to the congratulatory telegram sent to him last night by his Democratic opponent, Gov. Alfred E. Smith:

"I am in receipt of your kind telegram. I deeply appreciate both the spirit of it and your good wishes for the future."

Another to Senator Joseph T. Robinson, the Democratic vice presidential candidate, at Little Rock, Ark., said:

"I deeply appreciate your telegram of congratulation and of good wishes."

Mr. Hoover began his first day as President-elect by taking a long stroll through the coast range

VOTING MACHINES, METRO PLAN AHEAD

The constitutional amendment for voting machines will receive a sweeping majority in Allegheny county, on the basis of incomplete returns. The Metropolitan district plan also will carry, this amendment running 10,000 ahead in returns from 621 scattered precincts.

Other proposed amendments, including that increasing the debt limit of Pittsburgh from 7 to 10 per cent; that for a bond issue of $50,000,000 for state highways; one for a similar bond issue for state prisons and homes and $5,000,000 for National Guard armories, were being badly worsted.

Senator Frank J. Harris, sponsor of the voting machine amendment, announced late today that the Philadelphia districts tabulated to date have given a majority of over 96,000 for the voting machines. The vote was 129,608 for to 37,502 against. The same districts, on the Pittsburgh metropolitan district plan, gave 95,000 for and 45,000 against. This information was received. Senator Harris said, during long dis-

Rep. Sarig, Minority House Leader, Loses

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7—(AP.)—The defeat of Representative Wilson G. Sarig, of Berks county for re-election, leaves the minority party leaderless in the House of Representatives and removes one of the most colorful figures from the state legislative halls.

Re-elected regularly since 1914 until this year, Sarig was one of the few accomplished orators in the lower branch.

13th Ward Gets Big Hoover Vote Honors

Honors for turning out the greatest proportionate Republican plurality in any city ward were claimed today for the Thirteenth, of which J. Scott Morgan is chairman. The vote was: Hoover, 5,088; Smith, 2,944.

"Bad Boy" Mayor Campaigns in Jail, Loses

NEWBURYPORT, Mass., Nov. (AP.)—The handicap of having to spend most of his waking hours turning a wringer in the laundry room of the Salem jail proved too great an obstacle for this city's "bad boy" Mayor, Andred J. Gillis, to surmount in yesterday's election and in consequence his aspirations to be a member of the next State Legislature received a severe jolt.

Gillis directed a spirited sticker campaign from the jail, but got only 4,454 votes while his opponent, W. J. Boardman captured the Eighteenth Essex district with 6,061.

The "bay boy" is doing a 60-day term for operating a gasoline service station in a restricted area of the city.

FAULKNER GRILLED ABOUT POKER BOAT

The three outstanding witnesses before the graft-probing grand jury today were Police Inspector Charles Faulkner, Patrolman Pete Connors, and P. E. (Happy) Moran, fired city sleuth.

Adjoining the grand jury room scores of the 224 persons indicted 10 days ago hurried to the district attorney's office to post bond, thus evading the bench warrants to be issued tomorrow for the delinquents.

In that grand jury room District Attorney Gardner asked Faulkner why the Pittsburgh Yacht Club was allowed to operate its gambling boat in the Allegheny River after county detectives had raided it. The grand jury testimony being secret, those on the outside were unable to learn whether Faulkner answered that he hadn't known it was running—or what he answered.

Moran and Connors, the pair who as city sleuths "worked" the extortion case against Justice of the Peace C. J. Ranshaw and four constables, were called to tell what they knew of the theft of confessions made by two of the constables. Moran is under arrest in connection with the theft.

SMITH HIDES DEFEAT TRAGEDY UNDER SMILE

'GOODNIGHT!' HE KISSES FAMILY

By D. HAROLD OLIVER,
Associated Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Alfred E. Smith has fought the greatest battle of his long public career and has conceded his defeat.

Although returns were not complete, he had admitted today that his hopes for the presidency had been dashed by an overwhelming vote for Herbert Hoover, his Republican opponent. But he went down smiling, say the friends who stuck with him to the last, and now seeks "to be left alone for a while."

Surrounded by members of his family, the four-times Governor of New York had planned to stay at his hotel today preparing for the trip back to Albany, where he will vacate the Governor's chair December 31. He probably will go to the state capital tomorrow and rest a while before taking a vacation trip with Mrs. Smith, who was by his side almost constantly throughout the long and arduous campaign.

He motored back to his hotel from Democratic headquarters shortly before 1 o'clock this morning.

At 2:15 a. m., he kissed each one of his children good night and cheerfully announced that he would see them in the morning. Chairman Raskob and several old cronies also were among the last to leave his suite.

WIFE'S BIRTHDAY

In admitting the loss of his second fight in a political career that has run a quarter of a century, Gov. Smith found himself in the unusual situation of suffering the setback on his wife's birthday. While receiving returns at the General Motors Building, the Governor and Mrs. Smith were taken to Chairman Raskob's office before a huge birthday cake. It was a touching scene as the two glanced at the three tiers that made up the delicacy, upon which were figures portraying important milestones in the life of the Smiths.

One scene depicted the Gov. and Mrs. Smith leaving St. Patrick's Cathedral after their marriage, an- represented the two seated at rd table, a third pictured Mrs. h sewing, a fourth showed the Governor and his wife dancing to "The Blue Danube" and a fifth rep- e Smith's Maj. John of state ture. Mrs. Flora M. Vare, sister-in-law of Senator-elect William S. Vare, who was a candidate for re-election to the State Senate, was defeated by Lawrence E. McCrossin, Democrat, giving that party a seat in the State Seante from the Vare stronghold in South Philadelphia for the first time in the memory of the present generation of political leaders.

On the basis of the party enrollment Hoover would have carried Philadelphia by 517,000. In other words, in Philadelphia Smith attracted 377,000 Republican votes.

In most other upstate counties Smith polled a heavier vote than did John W. Davis, but his gains here were more than counteracted by the great increase of votes for Hoover over the Coolidge poll.

Smith apparently lost four normally Democratic upstate counties which in 1924 gave Davis more votes than Coolidge. They are Columbia, Fulton, Greene and Monroe.

Gen. Edward Martin, auditor general and chairman of the Republican state committee, will become state treasurer, and Charles A. Waters, of Gov. Fisher's cabinet, will succeed Martin as auditor general.

Will D. Porter, president judge of the Superior Court, was re-elected with the rest of the Republican state-wide ticket.

The veteran Congressman Thomas S. Butler died after receiving the Republican nomination and will be succeeded by James Wolfenden (R.). George Franklin Brumm (R.) was successful over Bernard O'Hare to succeed Cyrus M. Palmer from the Thirteenth (Schuylkill) district. Charles J. Esterly, a former Congressman, of Sally Ann Furnace, won from A. H. Rothermel, of Reading (D), to succeed Robert Gray Bushong from the Fourteenth district.

KENT DEFEATED

One of the hardest blows to Democratic prestige in the state was received when Congressman Everett Kent, of Bangor, was beaten by William R. Coyle in the Thirtieth district. Kent, one of the best orators of the delegation, had been expected to retain his seat, but he was swept down in the wave of Hoover popularity.

The sitting members from Philadelphia defeated by the Smith strength in sections of Philadelphia are Stephen C. Denning and Arthur Greenstein in the First district and John A. O'Neill and Clarence C. Mart, in the Fifth. Joseph Argentier, Republican candidate to succeed John J. Guerin from the Fifth district, also went down to defeat.

BURKE MAKES FIRST RADIO G. O. P. VICTORY SPEECH

Last night, as the Republican landslide became evident, Burke telegraphed Hoover:

"The American people have again vindicated their wisdom and millions of your friends throughout the world rejoice with you tonight in a victory that means four more years of prosperity and increased international friendship. You have broken the solid South and introduced Dixie to the Republican household where a hearty welcome awaits her. It is a great tribute to a great party, but a greater tribute to the man who led us to this unprecedented victory."

In Palo Alto, Cal., Hoover read the wire and telephoned Burke his thanks.

Telegrams congratulating Burke for predictions that came true reached him today. One was from Charles D. Hilles, national committeeman from New York, another from C. Bascom Slemp, prominent southern Republican.

In his radio speech Burke made this remarkable statement:

"No matter who won this battle I would have had a friend in the White House. I have known and admired the many good qualities of Gov. Smith for many years. He would have served conscientiously and well. But this was a Republican year."

SMITH CARRIES 14 WARDS

Coyne is the leader, and the Eighth, where Roy D. Schooley, one of Mayor Charles H. Kline's chief lieutenants, is chairman. Joseph G. Armstrong's home ward, the Seventeenth, turned in a big Smith majority. The Sixth Ward, dominated by Alderman P. J. Sullivan who was elected to Congress yesterday, also turned in a Smith majority.

The largest majority for Hoover was given by the Fourteenth Ward, the home of Secretary of the Treasury A. W. Mellon. Mellon's home district, the second, gave Hoover 312 and Smith 65. Secretary of Labor James J. Davis was not so fortunate. His district went for Smith, 147 to 140.

Alderman John J. Verona, chairman of the Third Ward, created a surprise by holding his ward in line for the Republican nominee by a few votes. The Fifth Ward, of which Councilman James F. Malone is the leader, gave Hoover a sizeable majority, although it had been placed in the doubtful column.

Verona was the only one of the "three musketeers" who some time ago declared war on the Kline administration to carry his ward for Hoover. Alderman Thomas Flanigan lost the First Ward to Smith and Owen McManus lost the Second.

Secretary of Internal Affairs James F. Woodward, of the Sixth ward, McKeesport, saw Smith carry his ward 710 to 473 for Hoover.

BOND ISSUES HIT

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—Out of approximately 650,000 voters who cast ballots in Philadelphia, only about 160,000 expressed themselves on the 14 proposed amendments to the state constitution.

On the five proposed bond issues the vote was against four of them. No. 2, the $8,000,000 loan for State College; No. 3, the $25,000,000 loan for purchase of forest lands; No. 4, a proposed $5,000,000 loan for armories, and No. 9, the $50,000,000 road loan.

No. 10, the $50,000,000 loan for penal and welfare buildings, was given a majority of about 14,000 in the city.

The largest favorable vote was that recorded for No. 13, authorizing use of voting machines by communities so desiring.

A heavy vote was cast against No. 1, which would, among other things, have authorized the state to do its own printing. The vote was as follows:

	Yes.	No.
No. 1	45,943	110,342
No. 2	87,585	98,156

ARNOLD ROTHSTEIN

This is Rothstein, famed throughout the country for his plunges and his sportsmanship. At one time, he had amassed $17,000,000. He died in Polyclinic Hospital.

VIRGINIA GIVES G. O. P. MARGIN

Ahead since the first 10 precincts reported, Herbert Hoover enjoyed a comfortable lead of 21,121 votes as weary tabulators attempted to check the 236 precincts missing out of the state's total of 1,665. State Democratic headquarters predicted the Hoover majority would mount to 25,000 or more with the complete returns.

Hoover won in Richmond, capital of the old confederacy and long a Democratic stronghold, by a vote of 10,791 to 10,189 for Smith. He also carried Norfolk, Portsmouth, Roanoke, Harrisonburg, Staunton and Danville.

Lynchburg, home of Senator Carter Glass, gave Hoover 2,730 to Smith's 1,987, while Winchester, home of Gov. Harry F. Byrd, reported 1,173 for Hoover and 804 for Smith. Hoover led in 46 counties to 49 for Smith, but the Republican nominee won in 17 of the 21 recognized cities.

Sweeping onward with the Hoover tide, Menalus Lankford, Norfolk Republican, defeated Joseph T. Deal, Democratic incumbent for Congress in the Second District. Four congressional contests were still in doubt with Republicans leading in two of them and the Democrats in the others. Complete returns, it appeared, would be necessary to decide the contests.

of the Philadelphia Company, who has been connected with the operation of local transportation companies for 46 years. "It always seemed strange to me that people pay 25 cents to stand in a bus when they can ride in a street car with more comfort for 10 cents or less," Mr. Callery said, in his introductory remarks.

CRITICISM ELSEWHERE

Mr. Robertson stated that transportation companies are constantly under public criticism in other cities as well as this.

"Each time some solution is offered we start a new investigation. Standards of performance are constantly being pushed higher than any company can meet. It is this margin between the standard and actual performance which causes criticism."

Mr. Robertson repeated the explanation of the difficulties in changing from two-man to one-man cars. He stressed the fact that actual operations show that the one-man car is equal in safety to the two-man operations.

"We believe that the street cars are best equipped to handle the 1,000,000 passengers a day who must be carried in Pittsburgh," said Mr. Robertson in speaking of the busses. "If we start running cheap busses they will take 10 to 15 per cent of our street car passengers away. I don't believe that we want our street car fares raised. We believe that as a sensible, all-around proposition, you must maintain the financial integrity of the street car service. We believe that the cheap buss is no adequate substitute. Therefor we are furnishing a de luxe buss service designed for people who formerly drove their own cars to town."

GLOOM CLOUDS N. Y. OVER SMITH DEFEAT

WHERE GAMESTER STAGGERED WITH FATAL WOUNDS

SHOT WHILE IN ROOM?

COOLIDGE WIRES HOOVER, CURTIS CONGRATULATIONS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—President Coolidge today telegraphed President-elect Hoover that his election "and the indorsement of the administration are of great satisfaction to me." Mr. Coolidge also dispatched his congratulations to Vice President-elect Curtis.

The full text of the President's messages read:

"The success of our party with your election to the presidency and the indorsement of the administration are of great satisfaction to me. With this indorsement I can now retire from office in contentment. I send you my most cordial congratulations on your victory, and to yourself and Mrs. Hoover my best wishes, in which Mrs. Coolidge joins."

President Coolidge wired Mr. Curtis:

"It is a special satisfaction to congratulate you on your election to the office of Vice President, because I know your peculiar fitness for that position. I regret that the country will not also have your distinguished services as a Senator. With all good wishes for your future happiness, in which Mrs. Coolidge joins."

Atlantic City Police Arrested in Fights

ATLANTIC CITY, Nov. 7.—A police lieutenant was arrested, charged with beating a watcher of the opposing party with a club. A constable who attempted to arrest a patrolman was arrested himself by three officers.

Hoover's Sister Is Early Voter

They trod pathways which brought crowding back memories of those years of youth, when as students at Stanford, they studied geology together.

With the strain of election over they both were carefree and happy and pointed out to each other spots made familiar in the long ago days. After a restful night the President-elect and the first lady that is to be were awake early and had breakfast together in a small breakfast room overlooking the beautiful garden of their home. It was a simple meal, such as most families might sit down to, consisting of melon, bacon and eggs, toast and coffee.

Donning heavy wraps to protect them against the early morning chill, they started out for an hour's walk, moving leisurely as they took in the beauty of the sun-dipped hills which form the western ridge for the rolling campus of the school where they first met.

Returning home, the President-elect went to his study to write his message of thanks to the American people for selecting him as President for the next four years.

While he was engaged in this work, Hoover received a congratulatory message from President Coolidge which he also intended to answer later in the day, along with those received from Vice President Dawes; his running mate, Charles Curtis, of Kansas, and from many others.

As the morning wore along the President-elect literally was deluged with telegrams and cablegrams. More than 2,000 were received at his home during the night and word came that the telegraph companies literally were swamped with thousands of others.

Virginia Students Shroud Statue Of Jefferson

UNIVERSITY, Va., Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Two statues of Thomas Jefferson on the grounds of the University of Virginia were draped in mourning today. One of them bore a card, reading: "To the Memory of Jefferson Democracy and Religious Freedom—Died November 6, 1928."

Students of the university, where the sentiment was overwhelmingly Democratic, shrouded the statue in black at an early hour today, when it was practically certain that Virginia had gone Republican for the first time since reconstruction days.

Prof. Julius Stieglitz, who teaches chemistry at Chicago University, says "We need a Pasteur to solve the cancer problem. That task calls for a man free of preconceived notions and prejudice; not a man of medical training, seeking to explain cancer according to old methods."

THE ignorant sometimes ask: "Of what real use is science?"

Bismarck taking five billion francs from France, after the War of 1870, thought he had reached the limit. Dr. Stieglitz reminds you that the cash value to France of Pasteur's discoveries far exceeds five billion francs, to say nothing of his work against human disease and suffering.

WHAT Dr. Stieglitz says of Pasteur and the cancer problem encourages men of no special training. Clear thought and accurate observation work wonders. The inventor of the sewing machine did not know how to sew. Had he known, it would not have occurred to him to put the eye of the sewing machine needle in the point of the needle, rather than in the old place, farthest from the point.

That one idea made the sewing machine possible.

MUSSOLINI, wiser than superficial critics in America, has only praises for moving pictures. Quite accurately, he classes them among the greatest agencies for the education of mankind. The other two are moveable type and photography.

MUSSOLINI spoke at the dedication of the National Institute of Educative Cinematography in the Villa Falconieri, at Frascate. In the present stage of human development, with the Stone Age only 12,000 years behind us, moving pictures are by far the greatest force in education. In one hour they can teach the young, through the eyes, more than printed books or oral lessons could teach in a month.

MR. DURANT, automobile man and Wall Street shaker, is said unofficially, to have bet $1,000,000 on Hoover against $200,000 bet on Smith. Five to one were the longest odds on Hoover. Four years ago they were 10 to 1 on Coolidge. Remember, however, that the betting was 8 to 1 on Hughes, against Wilson.

ARNOLD ROTHSTEIN, "big New York gambler," died withholding to the last the name of his murderer. That is the code of gamblers, gunmen, bootleggers and the underworld generally, a code that must encourage killings, among those that observe it, but useful for the law-abiding.

ROTHSTEIN, who had announced his intention "to quit the racket," did so after refusing to pay gambling losses of $340,000. "Welcher," the winning gamblers called him, and killed him as a warning to others. Rothstein said the game that fleeced him was dishonest.

SMART SET LEADER TURNS TO POETRY—'FIRE AND FLESH'

MRS. FRANK C. HENDERSON
A social registerite in New York, Mrs. Frank C. Henderson has turned from the "400" to literature and today she waits for the publication of her first book of poems.

WRITING "FIRE AND FLESH"
This is Mrs. Henderson as she wrote "Fire and Flesh," her first volume. Poetry, she says, makes life more worth while.

SHE KNOWS LIFE
Mrs. Henderson is empirical and knows the life of which she writes. She has studied it in the streets, in society and in the fine arts.

POETRY HER HOBBY
Even as her book is ready for the presses, Mrs. Henderson points out that poetry is only her hobby. Riches obviate turning it into money.

COUNTIES GO STRONG FOR HOOVER

The Hoover state landslide was early apparent as reports trickled in to the Sun-Telegraph from counties throughout Western Pennsylvania.

Voting records were shattered everywhere. The extra large turnout was accredited to thousands of women who cast their ballots for the first time.

The vote in Pennsylvania counties was:

VOTERS RIOT AS NEW LAW BARS THEM

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Disorders late yesterday took a squad of mounted police to the office of Charles Stoebling, commissioner of registration, in Jersey City, when a crowd stormed the office after it was learned that under a recent law, persons in Hudson county who had moved since registration must go to the county seat for reinstatement on the voting list.

Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, accused the commissioner of striking the names of voters from the list by a "trick" and of "keeping them waiting for hours."

A number of women fainted in th crowd which had gathered to seek reinstatement as voters, and were taken away in ambulances.

Many persons were reinstated in both Hudson and Essex counties in time to vote.

Search for Crashed Plane at Uniontown

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Nov. 7.—Searching parties that scoured the mountainous district five miles southeast of here after an airplane was reported to have fallen, returned early today without having uncovered anything to substantiate the story. In addition to the ground forces, two airplanes from Burgess field flew over the district in effort to find the plane. Two boys told the story of having seen a plane dive toward the mountainside.

ELECTION FORECAST MADE IN JUNE OPENED, CORRECT

When A. L. Humphrey, president of the Westinghouse Air Brake Company, returned from the Kansas City Republican convention, where he had been a delegate, he sat down and wrote a political forecast. He signed it; his stenographer, Miss E. Schaner, witnessed it, and it was sealed.

"Put it in the safe and open it on the morning of November 7," Miss Schaner was told.

She opened it this morning. The prediction was this:

This political prognostication is to be sealed and not opened until after the November election.

I am firmly convinced after my return from the Kansas City Republican national convention that Gov. "Al" Smith, of New York, will be the Democratic nominee selected at the convention to be held in Houston the latter part of June, in which event I make the following prediction:

First, if Smith is nominated, he will receive the lowest percentage of popular vote of any candidate that has run on the Democratic ticket since the Greeley campaign in 1872.

"Second, it is my prediction that Smith will not carry to exceed two northern states (unless by chance there should be a third ticket in the field) and that he will not carry New York State. I further predict that Hoover will carry so-called New York up-state by over 300,000 majority. In other words, if Smith succeeds in carrying New York, he will have to have a majority in New York City of over 800,000.

Third, I further predict that the solid South will be broken by at least two states south of the Mason and Dixon line going for Hoover.

Fourth, my prediction is that the campaign will assume more the nature of a crusade on the part of the women of this country than a political campaign. More strength to them!

A. L. HUMPHREY,
President Westinghouse Air Brake Company.

SUSPECT HELD AS SLUGGER

An alleged footpad who, police say, was caught after he and a companion had slugged Magnus Glass, an employe of the Mercy Hospital at Stevenson and Vickroy streets, early today, is being held in the Center Avenue Police Station. Police are searching for his accomplice who escaped.

The suspect, Thomas Martinez, 23, Mexican, staying at Labor Temple, Washington street, was captured after a chase of several blocks by Constable John Schneider who witnessed the holdup. Glass was struck on the head with a piece of lead pipe and suffered a severe laceration of the scalp. Martinez was taken to Mercy Hospital by Schneider and there was identified by the victim, police say. Glass was treated at the hospital.

PADLOCK TWO DRUGSTORES' LIQUOR

Temporary padlock injunctions were ordered today by Federal Judge Nelson McVicar against the drug store of Saul Seegman, 1021 North Canal street, Sharpsburg, and the drug store of Lester E. Cochrane, 5872 Northumberland street.

Agents testified in affidavits that they had bought liquor at the two stores. The Sharpsburg store was raided September 6. The Cochrane store was visited August 21. In both raids liquor was seized.

The temporary injunctions, it was explained, will not mean the closing of the stores, but does forbid further sale of liquor.

Hoover Carries Smith Hotel Home

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Herbert Hoover carried the election district embracing the Hotel Biltmore, Gov. Smith's home while in New York City. It was the Thirty-sixth Election District of the Tenth Assembly District and the Governor voted therein.

The vote was: Smith 223, Hoover 404.

Gov. Smith took up his legal residence in that district after moving from the old Oliver street home on the Lower East Side several years ago.

GUNS GUARD JAWORSKI AT TRIAL

With spectators barred from the courtroom and doors and hall guarded by four deputy sheriffs and eight heavily-armed county detectives, the trial of Sam Jaworski, alias Sam Pallas, brother of Paul Jaworski, gunman-murderer, opened in Criminal Court today before Judge Ambrose B. Reid.

Jaworski is being tried on charges incidental to the sensational rescue of his brother from the county jail over a year ago while the latter was under sentence of death.

The jail delivery was described by Guards Theodore S. Steinbrenner and David Harris.

A few minutes before court opened, Sam Jaworski was led into the courtroom by four deputy sheriffs. He was neatly dressed in a dark brown suit. Not a smile brightened his dark face, but neither was there an air of defiance. He took his seat beside his counsel, Attorney W. F. Daniels.

Chief of County Detectives George W. Murren has taken the most stringent measures to prevent any attempt of Jaworski's friends to deliver him from the hands of the law. Additional sheriffs and detectives are likely to be on duty in the corridor and court room when Paul Jaworski is brought into court to testify for the defense.

Policeman Injured As Cycle Crashes

Motorcycle Patrolman James McGuire, of the Central Police Station, was cut and bruised early today when his motorcycle ran against a temporary barricade in Blockhouse way near Second avenue. He was thrown to the street and the cycle plunged onward, coming to a stop when it ran against two parked automobiles. He was treated at the Mercy Hospital.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 7.—More than 250 persons were arrested for alleged election disorders. Many were immediately freed on writs of habeas corpus. Two free-for-all fights at polling places and one death from alcoholism were reported.

King Alfonso Kin Sails for America

BURNING CROSS FLARES IN SKY NEAR WILKINSBURG

A large burning cross was seen early today by residents of Wilkinsburg, Penn township and Forest Hills after the communities had been rocked by three bombs set off near where the cross was seen.

Borough police say that it was probably erected by members of the Ku Klux Klan rejoicing over the defeat of Alfred E. Smith in his race for President.

MAN ILLEGALLY JAILED BY HOUGH IS RELEASED

Fred Connors, Jr., who was committed to the workhouse, October 12, by Magistrate E. M. Hough, after he had been arrested for abusing his family, was released on a habeas corpus writ in Common Pleas Court today. Ordering his reclase, Judge Thomas J. Ford declared Connors had been illegally committed.

Assistant City Solicitor William M. Randolph told the court he could not sustain Magistrate Hough's sentence. He said Connors should have been charged with disorderly conduct, instead of habitual drunkenness.

Habeas corpus proceedings were initiated by Attorney Frank J. LaGorio, Connors' counsel, upon the request of the latter's father. The defendant's mother, it was said, urged Magistrate Hough to send her son to the workhouse.

COUNCIL ASKED TO FINANCE AIR BEACON

GRANT ST. SITE SUGGESTED FOR LIGHT

A city-owned aviation light beacon will be erected on top of the Grant Building, Grant street and Fourth avenue, if Council affirms an ordinance pending in committee.

The ordinance authorizes an agreement with the owners of the Grant Building whereby the latter will pay all expenses connected with the installation under plans to be approved by the safety director.

The measure authorizes the city to buy the beacon from the building owners for $11,000 and then lease the light to the building owners at an annual rental of $1. The owners will pay all future maintenance expense and in return will be granted the use of the beacon and an exclusive option to buy it for the original price of $11,000.

Million Loss in Fire at Buffalo

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Buffalo's most disastrous fire in years was brought under control last night after it had swept half a dozen buildings along the water front and lower Main street.

The damage was estimated at not less than $1,000,000, with probability that it would reach $1,500,000.

Davis Precinct Favors Smith

Error May Throw Forest Bonds Into Court

YORK, Pa., Nov. 6.—(AP.)—A typographical error made in printing the York county ballots resulted in Amendment No. 3 to permit a $25,000,000 bond issue for state forests, appearing as permitting a $5,000,000 bond issue. Attention of the county commissioners was not called to the error until this afternoon. Should the vote be close, it is believed here the matter would have to go to the courts.

New bath treatment at home affords quick relief from the tortures of rheumatism

Since 1925 Transkutan has amazed the medical and scientific world with the almost immediate relief from pain and increased ease of movement it affords quickly in all forms of chronic Rheumatic diseases, including Lumbago, Neuritis, Sciatica, Gout and even Arthritis.

After the very first bath, in most cases, pain is definitely relieved. Each succeeding bath usually brings marked improvement, and normally the full benefits of Transkutan are realized in from four to eight baths.

Transkutan aets quickly, though safely. There are no long drawn out treatments that do not show for months whether they are helping you. The very first bath tells whether you will find magical relief thru this pleasant and private method at home. Simple directions make the bath easy for anyone to take.

Do this: Go to your druggist right now. Merely deposit with him $5 for your test bottle of Transkutan. If you happen to be one of the rare few who do not experience noticeable relief from pain from the first Transkutan Bath return the empty bottle to the druggist and he will immediately return your $5 deposit. Thus you can determine, without risking one cent, whether or not Transkutan can help you.

At all MAY STORES, McCulloch (Dow) Stores or your favorite druggist.

YEGGS GET $10 FROM 2 SAFES

Cracksmen looted one safe of $10 and failed in an effort to open another in the Bloomfield district early today.

The yeggs found an unlocked safe awaiting them in the office of E. C. Haus, auto repairs, 4036 Liberty avenue. They obtained $10 in cash. At the office of the A. D. Miller & Sons gasoline station, 3501 Bigelow boulevard, the combination of the safe was knocked off, but the thieves were unable to open the door.

At both places entrance was gained by breaking a glass panel in the door.

RILEY, SMITH CONVENTION BACKER, DIES

CLEVELAND, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Judge Thomas P. Riley, of Malden, Mass., who helped swing the New England states to Gov. Alfred E. Smith at the Democratic national convention, thereby assuring his nomination, died of pneumonia in a sanitarium here last night.

Judge Riley had been ill only two days. He was stricken here about a week ago while rounding out the part he played in the campaign in behalf of Smith. His efforts, in conjunction with Senator David I. Walsh, of Massachusetts, resulted in the New England states casting their lot with the New York Governor at Houston.

Judge Riley had a varied political career. He once ran against President Coolidge for the lieutenant governorship of Massachusetts, but was defeated.

Nurse Gains 7 Lbs. in 2 Weeks

New YEAST and IRON builds weight quickly. Your own druggist guarantees results—or pay nothing

Nobody Admires a "Skinny" Woman

©I.Y.Co.

"I am a nurse at the hospital and I am writing you to let you know I am glad to recommend your tonic IRONIZED YEAST.

It gave me a good appetite. I got strong and gained 7 pounds in 2 weeks. I could write all day about how much good IRONIZED YEAST did me. You would be surprised at the strength I gained in 3 or 4 days. I will send you some of my friends' names so you can write them about it." Martha Barnes

What Makes Ironized Yeast Work Such Wonders?

People are amazed at the wonderful benefits of IRONIZED YEAST. Many were doubtful before they started. But after taking it regularly for only 3 or 4 weeks they gained 5 to 15 pounds. Ugly hollows fill out. Skinny limbs become gracefully rounded. Blemished skin gets clear and beautiful.

Only when Yeast is Ironized is it more effective—for Iron is needed to bring out the weight-building and strengthening values of Yeast. Pleasant tablets. Never cause gas or bloating. Safe for all.

Try It on "Money-Back" Offer

Go to any druggist today and get a full size treatment of IRONIZED YEAST. If after this generous trial you are not delighted, your money back instantly.

CAUTION! While the amazing health-building value of IRONIZED YEAST has been clearly and positively demonstrated in cases of lack of energy, indigestion, constipation, skin eruptions, poor complexion and a generally weakened condition, IRONIZED YEAST should not be used by anyone who OBJECTS to gaining weight.

Amazing Numbers of Pennsylvanians Write Letters Like These!

What IRONIZED YEAST has done for all these folks it should certainly do for you. Take advantage of our generous trial offer. If not delighted, get your money back.

Didn't Put Much Stock In It Till He Gained 10 Lbs. in 3 Weeks

"My health began to fail. Never put much stock in advertisements till I tried IRONIZED YEAST. Gained 10 lbs. in 3 weeks and continued till I weighed what I should."—K. M. Reavick, Harrisville, Pa.

Rundown, Thin, Gains 7 Lbs.

'Was so rundown and thin didn't think anything would put flesh on me. But took IRONIZED YEAST and have gained ... lbs. Sleep better, eat better and am not so nervous.'"—Mrs. J. L. Gager, Cold Springs, Pa.

G. O. P. LANDSLIDE STRENGTHENS PARTY IN CONGRESS

SENATE, HOUSE VOTE POWER INCREASED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—In step with the majorities piled up by Herbert Hoover, the Republicans increased their voting power in both House and Senate in yesterday's election.

Among Democratic House seats captured by the Republicans are six in the border state of Kentucky and one in New York, where a Republican was elected to a seat held by a Democrat not up for re-election. On the basis of early returns, one Republican seat was won by a Democrat.

TWO SURE IN SENATE

In the Senate the Republicans had definitely picked up two seats. Four Republican seats involved in the election appeared to be in the safety zone.

Senator Thomas F. Bayard, of Delaware, was the first Democrat to bow to the Republican sweep, losing to John G. Townsend. Senator William Cabell Bruce, of Maryland, lost to his Republican opponent, Phillips Lee Goldsborough. Three Democrats, all from the South, were re-elected—Connally, of Texas; Swanson, of Virginia, and Stephens, of Mississippi.

20 DEMOCRATS UP

Twenty Democratic seats were at stake in the election. Of these, King, of Utah; Pittman, of Nevada; Trammell, of Florida; Walsh, of Massachusetts, and Copeland, of New York, were in the lead.

The four Republicans elected were La Follette, of Wisconsin, Greene, of Vermont, Reed, of Pennsylvania, and Frederic C. Walcott, succeeding Senator George P. McLean, of Connecticut, who retired.

Among Republican leaders of the House re-elected were Speaker Nicholas Longworth, Tilson, of Connecticut, the party floor leader, Hawley, of Oregon, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, and Dempsey, of New York, chairman of the Rivers and Harbors Committee.

CLOSE FIGHTS FEATURE

Nip and tuck contests were on for the Senate seats held by the following Democrats: Kendrick, of Wyoming, Dill, of Washington, and Wheeler, of Montana. A close race also was waged in Missouri between Charles M. Hay, Democrat, and Roscoe C. Patterson, Republican, for the seat vacated by the Democratic Senator, James A. Reed.

In Illinois, where the seat of Frank L. Smith is vacant, Otis F. Glenn, Republican, gained a slight lead over A. J. Cermack, Democrat early today.

Senate—47 Republicans, 46 Democrats, 1 Farmer-Labor.

Firebugs Burn 3 Houses in Ohio

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Nov. 7.—Two additional unoccupied Tuscarawas county dwellings were fired early today, the third since last Saturday. New Philadelphia firemen extinguished blazing papers in an upstairs closet at the dwelling here owned by George Markos, Barberton. Uhrichsville firemen battled a blaze in a dwelling owned by the Uhrichsville Ice Company. Last Saturday flames did $2,500 damage to a Dennison dwelling house.

Says Wife Broke Statue Over Head

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Nov. 7.—A new use for household statues was revealed here when James P. Lynch, of Clarksville, in filing a libel in divorce against his wife, Anna Rankin Lynch, of Newell, stated that when she came home from a dance in Brownsville she smashed the statue over his head.

MELLON LIKELY TO STAY UNDER HOOVER

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS,
Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, of Pittsburgh, stood forth today as likely to retain his post under the administration of President-elect Herbert Hoover.

While discussion has revolved around Secretary Mellon ever since Mr. Hoover was nominated at Kansas City last June, not until the past week did anything of a definite character come from sources close to the President-elect to indicate his attitude towards Mr. Mellon. Dispatches from Colorado during Mr. Hoover's stop in the state on his way to the Pacific coast stated rather definitely that the Republican standardbearer was disposed to tender Mr. Mellon the treasury portfolio again.

It is regarded as more or less certain here that Mr. Mellon would accept the appointment. Recently during one of his regular press conferences, in response to questioning, he permitted the impression to go out that he would be found willing and ready for further service as head of the financial affairs of the government if the post were tendered him. At the same time he let it be known that the proposal that he go to London as American ambassador to the Court of St. James did not appeal to him. He said the social obligations consequent to the diplomatic post would rest too heavy upon him.

Thieves Loot Butler Home, Then Fire It

BUTLER, Pa., Nov. 7.—County authorities and city police today were searching for thieves who, after looting the home of Nicholas Monajos, of Mitchell avenue, early yesterday, set fire to the structure, causing damage about $100. Neighbors detected the fire before it had a serious start. Three hundred and seventy-five dollars which Monajos had drawn from the bank was stolen along with a shotgun. Police believe the thieves were aware of the money being in the house.

Pronounced BREE-OSKY

It tastes sweet and fizzy. Daddy says it keeps his tummy feeling good and that it's good for mine, too. Everybody likes Brioschi because it is so palatable and refreshing. Famed the world over since 1850 as the best antacid. Enjoy a good drink and say good-bye to sour stomach with Brioschi. 75 cents the large can of 24 drinks at your favorite druggist, any Italian store or any of the May Drug Stores.

LUCKY TIGER

Election Proves Quietest Ever In Chicago

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—An hour after the polls had closed last night County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, head of the Board of Election Commissioners, declared the election day to have been the quietest in Chicago's history.

"There have been no disorders worth mentioning," he declared. "We found a few floaters and a few isolated attempts to intimidate voters. Even the 'Bloody Twentieth' Ward was quiet today."

Hospital Campaign Will End Friday

Workers in the Allegheny General building fund campaign will meet at noon today to make the fourth of a series of five reports. The luncheon will begin at 12:15 in the William Penn. Dr. S. H. Goldenson, of Rodef Shalom congregation, will speak. The public campaign will close formally with a luncheon on Friday.

MELLON GRATIFIED OVER HOOVER'S GREAT VICTORY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—An expression of gratification over the election outcome was made public today in a formal statement by Secretary Mellon.

"I am much gratified at the outcome of the election," Mr. Mellon said. "The country has spoken and has expressed its confidence in the policies of the Republican party, as outlined by Herbert Hoover during the campaign. It is also an extraordinary tribute to Mr. Hoover himself. He goes to the presidency with a strong and united backing from all sections, such as few men in our history have ever received. The country has shown its belief in him and its confidence in his ability to work out the problems which are ahead.

PRAISES RECORD

"I feel sure that he will measure up to these great expectations. He brings to his task an extraordinary equipment and a record of success in many difficult undertakings. He knows conditions both here and abroad. He has demonstrated on many occasions his capacity to analyze and to apply a proper remedy; and, from my knowledge of him, and of what he has already done, I am confident that under his leadership the country will be in safe hands and that he will make a President of whom we will be proud."

Unionville Worker Killed in Mill

ROCHESTER, Pa., Nov. 7.—Caught in a belt at the Edward Wahl grist mill, Unionville, near here, this morning, John Miller, 60, employed at the mill, was crushed so badly that he died a few minutes after being admitted to the hospital here.

Report $528,435 More in Hospital Campaign

More than half a million dollars in subscriptions was reported in the Allegheny General Hospital building fund drive at the luncheon held at noon today in the William Penn Hotel. When the reports were checked the exact amount was found to be $528,435, bringing the grand total subscribed to date to $4,557,123.

Dr. Samuel H. Goldenson, rabbi of Rodef Shalom Temple, was the speaker.

Hoover 6 to 1 in Home of Dry League

WESTERVILLE, O., Nov. 7.—(AP.)—This little city, home of the Anti-Saloon League, gave Herbert Hoover 1,225 votes and Smith 261 on its complete official count. Precinct C, in which is located the headquarters of the World League Against Alcoholism, voted Hoover 232; Smith 27.

Weather Conditions.

The disturbance that was located west of the Rocky Mountains yesterday morning now stretches, in the form of a trough, from north of Lake Superior southwestward over the upper Mississippi valley and the Central and Southern Plains states, with centers of disturbance over Iowa and over Oklahoma. The low is producing cloudy weather over the entire interior of the country and rain in the Plains states and the Mississippi valley. Rain also spread eastward over Tennessee and Alabama.

Relatively high pressure covers the Middle and South Atlantic Coast states, and there is high pressure over the Northwest. It is slightly colder over the Ohio Valley states and the Northwest and warmer throughout the low pressure area.

River Conditions.

The rivers are falling everywhere. Stage at Pittsburgh is 10.8 feet; Dam No. 2, 8.4, and Dam No. 6, 7.9. The dams are up.

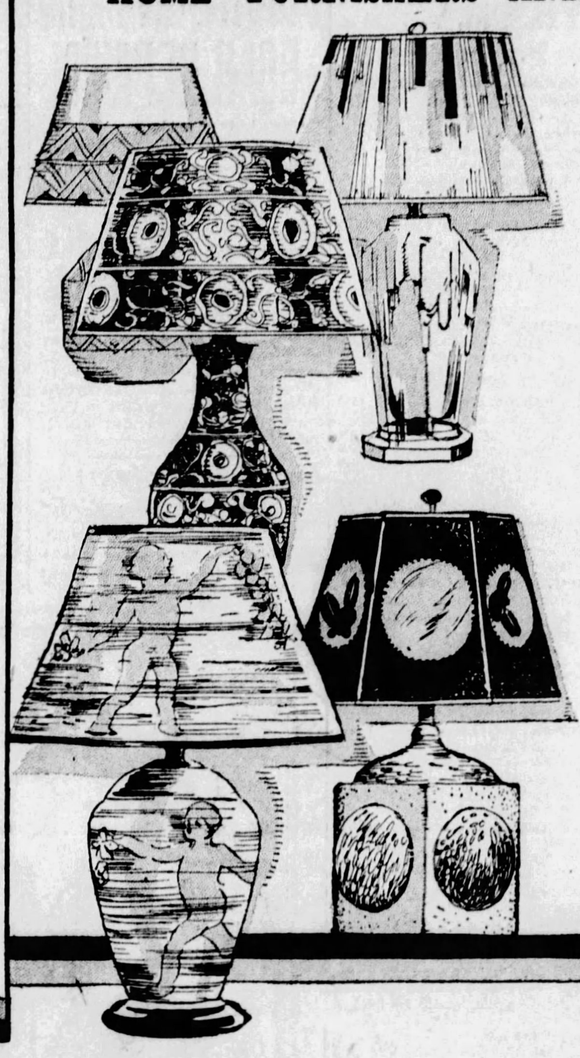
HOME FURNISHERS AND INTERIOR DECORATORS



A Pre-Holiday Presentation

French Lamps

Pottery—Glass—Bronze

Individual Designs of Great Beauty

Lamps that are most unusual and beautiful and very fine. The bases of fine pottery, of lovely Etling glass or of bronze, are imported from France. Each base has been studied by an artist, and the shades have been designed for every individual lamp. There is but one of each style, though there are many styles.

There are some of the most beautiful lamps we have ever shown. And the prices are surprisingly reasonable; lamps complete with shades, $18.50 to $60.00.

Camel's Hair Blankets

Light and Warm

These blankets are of the same make as those which were chosen to equip the Graf Zeppelin before it started on its transatlantic journey.

Camel's hair blankets were chosen because they must be at once very warm and light in weight. These are also soft and fine. In natural color with Grecian key border designs in brown; in different qualities, $15.00 to $60.00 each.

. . . Horne's, Fourth Floor . . .

Colored Sheets

Complete the Bed Ensemble

Blankets and comforts must match, and now one uses sheets of a pastel shade of the same color to form a complete ensemble. Hemstitched cotton sheets and pillow cases come in sets—two sheets and two pillow cases.

In delicate shades of pink, blue, yellow, lavender or green. 72x108 inches, $7.50 set.

81x108 inches, $8.00 set.

In each case the sheets are in the new correct length to tuck in properly and comfortably.

. . . Horne's, Fourth Floor . . .

IMPORTED CHAIRS

The handsome carved frames used in these chairs come from Belgium and Italy. They are assembled in our own cabinet shops and upholstered in the finest of imported fabrics, rich damasks, beautiful needlepoints and fine hand-worked tapestries.

In this particular group, which has just been completed, there are high-backed chairs and graceful low-backed ones, most of them following designs of the Louis periods, dignified, formal, luxurious.

$75.00 to $265

"Pink Willow" Breakfast Sets

A charming breakfast set of English porcelain, in the "Pink Willow" pattern, is most moderately priced. It's a 32-piece set, to serve six persons; cups and saucers, plates, fruit saucers, bread-and-butter plates, $6.00.

. . . Horne's, Fifth Floor . . .

Mary Ann's Cake Shell Pans

With these pans cakes are baked with a hollow space to be filled with some delicious filling. They are used in our Tea Room to make attractive desserts. Family size shell pan, $1.00. Set of six individual pans, $2.00.

POINCARE'S MINISTRY RESIGNS IN FRANCE

(Advertisement.)

DRUGS EXCITE THE KIDNEYS. DRINK WATER

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble because we often eat too much rich food. Our blood is filled with acids which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, begin drinking lots of good soft water and get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

RADICALS SPUR DISSOLUTION OF CABINET

PARIS, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Almost at the moment of the reconvening of the French Parliament, Premier Poincare's ministry resigned office yesterday. Four radical Socialist ministers previously had proffered their resignation to the premier, explaining that their party's program made continued collaboration with the national union cabinet impossible.

The Premier immediately put into effect his warning to the members of the ministry that in the event of any minister or ministers resigning he forthwith would submit the resignation of the cabinet as a body to President Doumergue.

The Socialist ministers involved were Albert Sarraut, interior; Edouard Herriot, education; Henri Queille, agriculture, and Leon Perrier, colonies. The action of the radicals was the outcome of the radical congress recently held at Angers, when the party demanded changes in the governmental program, with particular reference to the budget, which M. Poincare was not prepared to grant.

A resolution was adopted at this conference requiring that the radical ministers should retire unless the government consented to the organization of government functionaries in trade unions, unless appropriations for national defense were reduced and the demands for the budget changes were agreed to.

Thus came the downfall of the ministry under M. Poincare which checked the slump in the franc in 1926 and during the two and one-half years of its existence balanced the budget and stabilized the franc. It was a fraction of the radical party which itself is only a fraction of the Chamber of Deputies, which brought about this far-reaching result.

CHAMBER, SENATE MEET

The Chamber and Senate met this afternoon in regular sessions, but because of the government's resignation adjourned immediately after Presidents Bouisson and Doumer delivered orations paying tribute to the members who had died during recess.

President Doumergue immediately began consultation with a view to the formation of a new cabinet, first receiving M. Doumer, president of the Senate, and then M. Bouisson, president of the Chamber.

On announcement of M. Poincare's withdrawal with all his ministers from the government, weakness was displayed on the Bourse, one of the best political barometers in France. Prices slumped all along the line, shares of the Bank of France losing 1,000 francs per share.

The pessimism was due to the fact that in the general opinion M. Poincare will decline to form a new cabinet and that possibly another experiment in government by the parties of the left will be tried.

It is expected that President Doumergue again will call on M. Poincare to form a new government. What the former premier's view may be is not known, but the majority opinion this evening is that he will decline, on the ground that the "Union National" has been destroyed and he does not want to form a government exclusively of moderate conservative ministers.

M. Briand, who has held the premiership many times, is favored to succeed M. Poincare, with M. Painleve second choice and M. Tardieu third.

MUSSOLINI WOULD MAKE FASCIST COUNCIL SUPREME

ROME, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Premier Mussolini yesterday presented to the Senate a bill dealing with the functions and powers of the Fascist grand council. This body last September approved a measure giving to itself a legal and constitutional status as an element of the government.

The new measure provides that the Fascist grand council shall be the supreme body which shall coordinate all the activities of the regime and give advice on all matters submitted by the government.

The Premier will be the president of the council, which will be made up of the presidents of the senate and chamber of deputies, the ministry, the commander of the militia, various undersecretaries and representatives of the confederations of workers, farmers and industrials. Meetings of this body are to be secret and the members serve without pay.

Mercer County Polls 75 Per Cent of Votes

MERCER, Pa., Nov. 7.—(AP.)—A new record in voting was established by the Mercer county electorate yesterday when 75 per cent of the 41,000 registered voters cast ballots. In one district, the second precinct of the Second Ward of Grove City, 163 ballots were cast in 160 minutes.

Davises Vote at Home in New York

LOCUST VALLEY, N. Y., Nov. 7.—(AP.)—John W. Davis, Democratic presidential candidate in 1924, and Mrs. Davis interrupted a quiet day at their Long Island home yesterday to go to the polls and cast their votes. Mr. Davis said he had no comment to make on the election.

Hoover's Home Backs Him 10 to 1

WEST BRANCH, Ia., Nov. 7. (AP.)—Herbert Hoover's birthplace returned a majority of more than 10 to 1 today in favor of its native son over Gov. Alfred E. Smith.

The vote, which was the largest ever cast in this Quaker settlement stood: Hoover 528; Smith 46.

A celebration is planned for Thursday, in the event Hoover is elected president. Gov. John Hammill has been asked to speak on that occasion.

Child Alone, Saved From Burning Home

NEW KENSINGTON, Nov. 7.—Roy Lasher, 3, son of Mrs. Effie Lasher, was rescued by firemen last night when the Lasher home in the rear of 1204 Stanton avenue, burned. The child, alone while the mother canvassed the city with Christmas cards, was unconscious when firemen ran upstairs and took him from a crib. At the Citizens' General Hospital he was revived with a pulmotor.

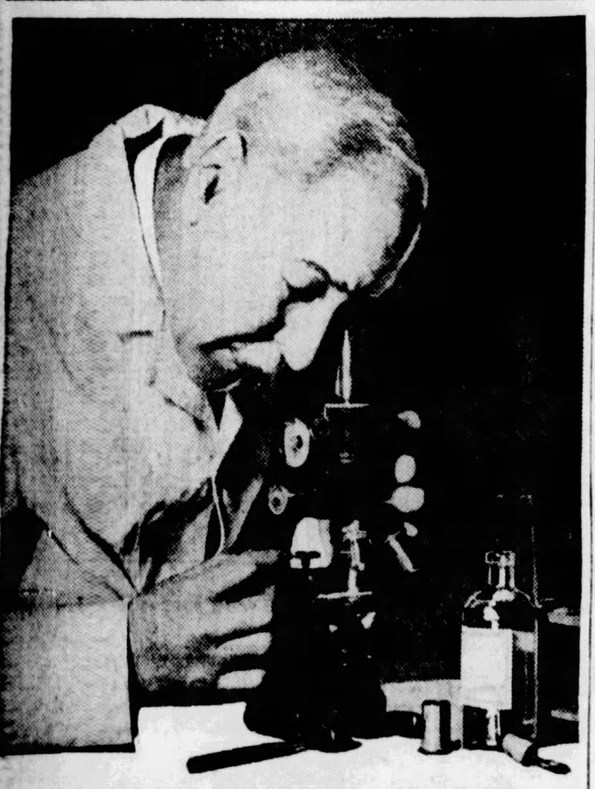
Turn Hair Dark With Sage Tea

By JEAN MACON

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product for only 75 cents, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive.



200,000,000 germs die in 15 seconds!

Listerine checks SORE THROAT

DO YOU realize what protective power lies in the Listerine formula? Are you aware that, full strength, Listerine is entirely safe to use, yet so powerful that it kills even the stubborn B. Typhosus (typhoid) germ in 15 seconds?

Now you can understand Listerine's effectiveness against ordinary colds and sore throat which are caused by germs.

Keep Listerine handy, and use it systematically in nasty weather. It may spare you a dangerous siege of illness. Would you like to receive our elaborate free book, "Personal Hygiene"? Write Dept. S.12, Lambert Pharmacal Co., St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

Do this and escape colds

Countless colds start when germs are carried to the mouth on food. By using Listerine on the hands before every meal, you attack such germs and lessen the risk of cold. Remember this, mothers, when handling baby's food.

WHAT'S ON THE AIR

By DARREL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor.

BROADCASTING stations will get back to normal schedules tonight following the arduous weeks of radio campaigning by the Republican and Democratic parties. The features will be resumed at the regular times.

A wild and hilarious celebration took place in local studios last night following the election of Herbert Hoover. Especially jubilant were those in the studio of KDKA. Among them was James Francis Burke, counsel for the Republican party, who sent greetings to Herbert Hoover over the radio.

But it's all over now but some more shouting, and as far as radio stations are concerned they will get back to normal schedules starting tonight.

FEATURES AT KDKA

"Down by the Old Mill Stream," and Foster's "Old Dog Tray" will be sung by the Foresters over KDKA at 8:30 p. m. Other selections are "There Never Was a Girl Like You," "If You're in Love You'll Waltz," "Baby Days" and "Neapolitan Love Song," by Victor Herbert. "Once in a Lifetime" will be contributed as a violin solo.

Trade and Mark will sing about roses in the Smith Brothers program at 9 o'clock. Some of the numbers are "There's Something About a Rose," "Second-Hand Rose," "Moonlight and Roses," "Rose of Washington Square," "Broadway Rose" and "Roses of Yesterday."

The second of a series of operas will be broadcast during the Balkite Hour at 10 o'clock.

SPITALNY AT WCAE

A musical football treat is promised by the Ipana Troubadours over WCAE at 9 p. m. Coach Lanin has promised a winning combination of musical features.

Massenet's "Elegie" will be sung as a tenor solo on the Palmolive hour at 9:30 p. m. The old-time favorite, "Annie Laurie," will be sung by the soprano. Two symphony selections are "Manhattan Serenade" and "Savage Carnival."

ROGERS WILL EXPLAIN

Somewhat discouraged, but still hopeful, the boosters of Will Rogers for president will try to explain tonight why he didn't win. The program will be heard over WJAS at 10 p. m.

At 9 o'clock the Millionaires offer a quartet rendition of "Daddy," by Parks; the waltz, "Over the Waves," and a tenor solo, "Somewhere a Voice Is Calling." A selection from "The Red Mill" will be played by the orchestra.

Some of the selections on the United Military Band concert at 10:30 o'clock are Losey's march, "Twentieth Century," which includes Robert's arrangement of gems from Stephen Foster; Sousa's "Semper Fidelis," Pryor's "Teddy After Africa," and Tschaikowsky's "Marche Slave."

Acids In Stomach Cause Indigestion

Neutralize Acid After Meals With Bisurated Magnesia. Instant Relief. Makes Stomach Feel Fine.

Nearly nine-tenths of all stomach disturbances, indigestion, gas, sourness, heartburn, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of acid in the stomach. Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm.

An acid stomach needs a soothing alkali to instantly neutralize acidity and permit proper digestion. Quickly prove this truth. Lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from May Drug Company or any reliable druggist a package of Bisurated Magnesia—either powder or tablets—and take some after your next meal. It is amazing how quickly all sourness, gas and pain stop and how good the stomach feels.

You take no risk in trying Bisurated Magnesia. Every druggist is authorized to return the purchase price to any user, who after using one full package, is not completely satisfied. Bisurated Magnesia is harmless, pleasant and convenient to use, and non-laxative. Thousands use it daily.

"MORNING AFTER" FIGURES SHOW WHERE SMITH LOST

HOOVER SHOWS STRENGTH IN SOUTH

"Morning after" analysis of the electoral drift clearly shows the inroads Hoover made into states believed impregnably Democratic and explains in clear, cold figures where the Hoover landslide found its impetus.

ALABAMA.

ARIZONA.

Hoover held an easy lead, with 48,648 to Smith's 24,043, with 183 out of 503 precincts returned.

ARKANSAS.

A total of 798 precincts out of 2,018 in Arkansas give Smith 62,060, Hoover 32,548. Gov. Henry Parnell, Democratic incumbent, has 42,237 to 10,947 for M. D. Bowers (Rep.) All Democratic congressmen are assured victory.

CALIFORNIA.

The majority accorded Hoover in California steadily approached the 300,000 mark. The vote from 6,898 complete and incomplete precincts out of 9,086 in California gave: Hoover, 745,900; Smith, 406,485.

COLORADO.

Colorado has given its support overwhelmingly to Hoover, but returned its Democratic Governor, William H. Adams, to office with almost as great a majority. Hoover had 151,809 votes and Smith 81,124 and 930 of the state's 1,566 precincts.

CONNECTICUT.

Loyalty of Republicans in the small towns of Connecticut to their political faith turned back the city tide of Democratic votes and gave the state's seven electoral voters to Herbert Hoover. Hoover carried the state by a plurality of 44,041 in a total poll of 548,177, of which he had 293,926 and Smith 250,471.

DELAWARE

Delaware gave Hoover a lead in 182 districts out of 219, a vote of 48,648, against 31,048 for Smith. Other Republican candidates had safe leads.

FLORIDA.

Their normal ballot boosted by an army of "Hoover Democrats," Republicans apparently have been able at last to wrest Florida from her place in the Solid South, maintained for more than 50 years by sweeping Democratic majorities. With 556 precincts out of 1,263 tabulated, the vote was Smith, 56,-171; Hoover, 71,782. With 452 precincts reported, William J. Carey, Republican candidate for Governor, ran 17,006 votes behind Doyle E. Carlton, Democratic nominee. United States Senator Park Trammell was given assurance of his re-election over Barclay H. Warburton, the mayor of Palm Beach, his Republican opponent.

GEORGIA.

Georgia held true to the Solid South tradition, 1,457 precincts giving Smith 118,155 to Hoover's 85,530.

IDAHO.

Hoover swept ahead to a two-to-one lead in Idaho returns from 265 precincts of the 849 in the state showing Hoover 32,853, Smith 17,-117.

ILLINOIS.

Returns from 5,652 of Illinois' precincts gave Hoover a vote of 1,379,792, to 1,044,621 votes for Smith. Of these precincts, 2,875 were in Cook county (Chicago), where Hoover was given 655,037 votes and Smith 615,397.

INDIANA.

All Republican candidates polled better than expected. Hoover had 639,080 to 372,700 for Smith, in 2,458 out of 3,567 precincts.

IOWA.

With more than half the precincts returned, Hoover lead Smith in Iowa 422,601 to 262,886.

KANSAS.

With a native son on the presidential ticket for the first time in history, Kansas voters returned a Republican majority that went skyrocketing above the 175,000 margin today, with but little more than half the state heard from. Returns from 1,402 precincts out of 2,867 in the state gave Hoover 280,842, Smith 103,606.

KENTUCKY

Crushed by a stampede of Republican votes, the Democratic party in Kentucky suffered its greatest defeat at the polls yesterday, for not only did the voters accord the Hoover-Curtis ticket a majority estimated at 160,000, but they took six seats in the House of Representatives away from the Democrats.

LOUISIANA.

MAINE.

By the largest plurality ever given a presidential candidate, Maine voters chose Herbert Hoover. His plurality, with a few scattered precincts not reported, was 96,568. In 1924 Calvin Coolidge won the state over John W. Davis by 96,476. The Coolidge majority over the vote of Davis and La Follette was 85,094.

MARYLAND.

Maryland, caught in the Republican landslide, piled up a majority for Hoover that is expected to exceed 60,000 when complete returns are in. Senator William Cabell Bruce (Dem.), went down to defeat with a majority already approximately 30,000 for his opponent, former Gov. Phillips Lee Goldsborough (Rep.), it may reach 40,000.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Running far ahead of the race between Smith and Hoover and a close gubernatorial contest in Massachusetts, United States Senator David I. Walsh, Democrat, was swept into office today. Late returns showed Smith with a substantial lead, while Walsh's plurality had nearly reached the 100,-000 mark. Smith had 516,052 to Hoover's 511,225 in 1,118 precincts.

MINNESOTA.

Minnesota, early returns indicated, will give 100,000 majority to Hoover.

MISSISSIPPI.

Another Southern state that remained Southern. In 841 precincts out of 1,590 Smith had 86,103 to Hoover's 20,642.

MISSOURI.

Hoover was leading Smith by more than 45,000 votes today with half of Missouri's 4,229 precincts heard from. Returns from 2,152 precincts gave Hoover 355,805, Smith 310,065. Roscoe C. Patterson (Rep.), was leading Charles M. Hay (Dem.), for United States Senator. Returns from 1,827 precincts gave Patterson 271,295, Hay 266,870.

MICHIGAN.

Michigan proved more Republican than the Republican National Committee and was one of the real landslide states. In 1,813 precincts Hoover had 517,439, Smith 194,495.

MONTANA.

Partial returns from all but seven of this state's 56 counties today gave Hoover a lead of nearly 11,000 votes. Four hundred and fifty-two precincts out of 1,514 in the state gave Hoover 44,310; Smith, 33,-478. United States Senator Wheeler was 6,000 votes ahead of his Republican opponent, J. M. Dixon, Roosevelt campaign manager.

NEBRASKA.

Dawn today found Nebraska, "the doubtful," safely in the Republican column in its major races. On the face of returns from nearly half of the state, the presidential choice of this farm state went to Herbert Hoover, whose majority was approximately 40,000 votes. United States Senator R. B. Howell, Republican, virtually was assured of re-election with more than 750 precincts, giving him a 40,000 majority. He issued a statement in which he characterized the Republican sweep as a victory for prohibition.

NEVADA.

Hoover apparently has taken Nevada despite the fact that Senator Key Pittman, Democrat, is leading his Republican opponent, Sam Platt, by a margin which promises election.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

New Hampshire remained in the Republican column by a comfortable margin, with a plurality of approximately 35,000 for Hoover, exceeding by about 7,000 that of Gov Charles W. Tobey, Republican candidate for Governor of the state.

NEW JERSEY

Sweeping on through precinct after precinct with increasing pluralities, Hoover carried Republican candidates for state office with him in New Jersey. With more than one-third of the count completed, Hamilton F. Kean, Republican candidate to succeed Edward I. Edwards, Democrat, in the United States Senate, and State Senator Morgan F. Larson, Republican gubernatorial candidate, had accumulated leads which appeared well beyond the power of additional Democratic strength from Essex or Hudson counties. Republican members of the House of Representatives and of the State Legislature also were leading their opponents by substantial majorities.

NEW MEXICO.

Although Hoover led Gov. Smith by nearly 5,000 votes early today, returns were so scattered that the Democratic leaders refused to concede in the state's three electoral votes. With 173 of the state's 779 precincts reported Hoover had 25,-574, Smith 19,144 votes.

NEW YORK.

NORTH CAROLINA.

On the face of returns received at Democratic state headquarters today Hoover apparently had defeated his Democratic opponent in this usually Democratic state. It appeared Hoover had carried the state by about 1,700 to 3,000 votes.

NORTH DAKOTA

Republican candidates for national and state offices apparently swept North Dakota in Tuesday's election on the basis of returns. Figures from 658 precincts today gave Hoover 60,727 and Smith 39,683.

OHIO.

Hoover has 598,526 to 332,452 for Smith, with 3,524 precincts out of 8,760 returned.

OKLAHOMA.

The expected contest in Oklahoma failed to develop, returns from 2,701 precincts out of 3,280 giving Hoover 239,578, Smith 140,721.

OREGON.

Hoover maintained near a two-to-one lead following receipt of half of the precinct returns.

PENNSYLVANIA.

RHODE ISLAND.

Gov. Alfred Smith carried Rhode Island by 1,493 votes. After a night of doubt, during which the ultimate outcome could not be guessed at, the final figures were: Smith 118,951, Hoover 117,458. The big surprise of the election, in view of Gov. Smith's victory, was the defeat of United States Senator Peter G. Gerry for re-election.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Hoover's claim to South Dakota's five electoral votes swelled to a 36,000 majority as the unofficial count grew to within 75,000 votes of the estimated balloting.

TENNESSEE.

TEXAS.

UTAH.

Eighty-nine of 434 precincts gave Smith 48,557, Hoover 53,901, but the precincts unreported were conceded Hoover strongholds.

VERMONT

With only a comparatively few voting districts missing, Hoover had carried President Coolidge's native state of Vermont, 78,865 to 36,688, with only a few precincts missing.

VIRGINIA.

Hoover carried Virginia by a plurality estimated, upon incomplete returns, at 20,000, completely wrecking calculations of the Democratic starategists who had placed the Old Dominon in the "sure" column.

WASHINGTON.

Little opposition to Hoover, who has 180,593 to 57,175 in 1,408 precincts.

WEST VIRGINIA.

All Republican state candidates were forging ahead in West Virginia as 1,079 precincts out of 2,310 gave Hoover 172,955, Smith 119,539.

WISCONSIN.

Young Bob La Follette swept back to the Senate from Wisconsin by an impressive majority. His opposition to Hoover apparently failed to take, the Republican candidate having 474,219 to Smith's 350,475 in 2,590 out of 2,767 precincts.

WYOMING.

Hoover led the ticket in Wyoming with 317 out of 693 precincts giving him an estimated majority of close to 15,000. Senator Kendrick, (Dem.) had a bare 500-lead over his Republican opponent, Congressman Winter.

ROOSEVELT IS ELECTED N.Y. GOVERNOR

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democrat, former assistan secretary of the Navy, was elected Governor over Attorney General Albert Ottinger, Republican, by approximately 50,000 votes, final returns showed today.

United States Senator Royal S. Copeland was re-elected by a plurality of about 260,000. He defeated Alanson B. Houghton, of Corning, former ambassador to Great Britain.

The rest of the Democratic state ticket is expected to pull through by pluralities ranging from 25,000 to 50,000.

HERBERT HOOVER—THE NEXT PRESIDENT

Fraud Charge Made by Roosevelt

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, this morning at 12:45 charged that fraud was being committed in counting the votes in 1,000 districts upstate. He added that he was sending 100 lawyers to the districts.

HOOVER GETS 444 VOTES IN ELECTORAL COLLEGE

Congressmen who appeared doomed in the early stages of vote returns slipped through to victory, the result caused jubilation in Republican circles.

Not only were Speaker Nicholas Longworth, of Ohio, and Representative John Q. Tilson, of Connecticut, majority floor leader, returned to power but most of the organization spokesmen will be found on the House floor again.

40 STATES FOR HOOVER

The landslide that carried Hoover into the presidency by the greatest Republican majority in history was still going today.

North Carolina has joined Virginia and Florida in the break-up of the solid south, and late returns this morning put the state in the Republican column for the first time since reconstruction days.

Before many hours Texas may also join the bolters. With some 30 counties missing, Hoover was maintaining a 10,000 lead over Smith in the Lone Star state, and in view of the dimensions of the Republican sweep elsewhere in the South there seemed to be little reason to doubt that Hoover would also get those 20 electoral votes to add to his already unbelievable total.

By way of compensation, however, Rhode Island's five electoral votes drifted over into the Smith column this morning by a scant majority.

444 ELECTORAL VOTES

Without Texas, Hoover has an electoral total of 424 as against 87 for Gov. Smith. With the 20 from Texas it soars to 444, a high record for all time. Even in 1912, the year of the Republican split and the Democratic landslide, Woodrow Wilson only garnered 435 electoral votes, and eight years ago, in 1920, when the late Warren G. Harding cycloned through the nation the Republican total was only 404.

The shifts from early reports disclose that, giving Texas to Hoover, only eight states gave their electoral vote to Gov. Smith—Massachusetts and Rhode Island in the North, both by scanty margins, and Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Mississippi, Louisiana and South Carolina, in the South.

Two of the metropolises of the South, Atlanta and Birmingham, went Republican for the first time in their history.

SIDEWALKS FAIL SMITH

Nobody could have been more genuinely surprised at the devastating character of the defeat than Gov. Smith himself and his immediate associates in the campaign, including Chairman Raskob, Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, and others.

The loss of New York was a bone-crusher for Gov. Smith and his managers. They had not entertained that possibility for a minute. They may have had fears about other eastern states, New Jersey, for instance, but about New York—never.

Oddly enough, it was Gov. Smith's own sidewalks of New York that curled up and hit him.

Greater New York, embracing the five boroughs that four times have combined to send him to the executive mansion at Albany, threw him down in his great thrust for the presidency. With the enormously increased registration, Gov. Smith and his managers had confidently looked forward to 600,000 majority in New York city.

It gave him, instead, but little more than 420,000, a cool 100,000 less than it gave him four years ago, and that was just about the difference between victory and defeat.

Democratic leaders were still walking around in circles this morning trying to find out what happened. They were asking themselves, "What happened in Brooklyn?" And nobody seemed to know.

There is today, however, no longer any mystery about the enormous increase in registration in New York and throughout the country. On the basis of the returns, it would seem that the enormous army of new voters came out to sock Gov. Smith and his presidential aspirations.

The most startling upsets, however, occurred in the South. Nowhere, save Mississippi, South Carolina and Louisiana, did Gov. Smith have a walk-away. In Alabama, North Carolina, Georgia and Arkansas the Democrats had to fight hard for victory, and in Florida, Virginia and possibly Texas their fight availed them but little.

WHAT HAPPENED?

In the wake of the crash and falling debris today, the party leaders and the experts were trying to find out what hit them, not only in the South, but in the East and West as well. Post-mortems were in order wherever politicians gathered.

The concensus seemed to be this:

In the South, it was the combination of religious prejudice and dry sentiment, with most emphasis on the former. Ever since the Houston convention, the evangelical ministers of the South have preached political revolt against the Democratic nominee, ostensibly because of his wet views and his Tammany affiliations, but actually, the Smith leaders charged, because of Gov. Smith's Catholicism.

In the East, it was largely the prosperity issue raised by the Republicans and drummed steadily into business men, great and small. Prosperity screamed at business men from full page advertisements in the daily newspapers. Every Republican orator hammered it home in his stumping. And to this, of course, also can be added something of religious prejudice, although it probably played a considerably lesser part in the East than in the South.

In the Middle West, through the great grain belt that runs from the Alleghenies to the Rockies, the elements that conspired to the smashing defeat of Gov. Smith are probably a mixture of those that operated in the South and East—prosperity, religion, prohibition, Tammany, and the feeling on the part of the farm communities that Mr. Hoover will be more able to solve the agricultural problem than would the product of the sidewalks of New York, who got his political training in the congested districts of a great city.

And always in the background of the post-morteming loomed, "the woman vote." It was enormous, and it was preponderately for Mr. Hoover and against Gov. Smith, particularly in the South and West, where he suffered his greatest reverses.

In the final analysis, most leaders believe, the preponderance of the woman vote spelled Gov. Smith's doom. The new army of some 10,-000,000 voters on the registration books was mainly composed of women, and Mr. Hoover got most of them.

Berger, Congress' Only Socialist, Loses Out

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Late returns from the Fifth Congressional District of Milwaukee presaged the defeat of Representative Victor L. Berger, lone Socialist in Congress, by William H. Stafford, Republican nominee, who assumed a lead of 1,000 with only 14 precincts missing. Stafford, former congressman, wiped out the earlier lead of 2,600 which had indicated Berger's election and put him ahead.

POLITICAL PARADOXES SEEN IN VOTE YESTERDAY

Yesterday's election revealed some political paradoxes and unusual features.

George W. Olvany, leader of Tammany Hall, failed to carry his own district, one of the so-called "silk stocking" wards of New York, for Gov. Smith. The vote was: Smith, 153; Hoover, 360.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., the home town of Theodore Roosevelt, maintained its Republican traditions. It gave Hoover 8,462 votes, Smith 4,647. Franklin D. Roosevelt, a distant relative of the late President, however, only lost the city in the gubernatorial race by 2,000 votes, running almost 2,000 ahead of the Governor.

Albany, New York's Capital City, which has known Smith as Governor for four terms, gave him a majority of 14,268 votes over Hoover. The total Smith vote 42,312, Hoover 28,044.

The home ward in Philadelphia of William E. Vare, who was credited with swinging the Pennsylvania delegation to Hoover at the Republican convention, went to Smith.

Uniontown, Pa., claims the record for "getting out the vote." Ninety-six per cent of its registered voters marked ballots in the election.

Thomas Sloan, 115, of Guthrie, Okla., the state's oldest citizen and claimant of the "oldest voter" title, cast his vote for Gov. Smith. He shook hands with the Democratic nominee on Smith's campaign visit in the state.

Mrs. Mary H. Leavitt, Hoover's sister, was the first to cast a vote in her precinct, in Santa Monica, Cal.

Dexter, Ga., is Democratic. The vote there was Smith 315, Hoover 0.

ALL ALLEGHENY CITIES FOR HOOVER

Herbert Hoover, Republican presidential candidate defeated Gov. Alfred E. Smith, his Democratic opponent in the three third-class cities in Allegheny county.

The totals were:

McKeesport—Hoover, 8,498; Smith, 5,309; Duquesne—Hoover, 2,693; Smith, 1,864; Clairton—Hoover, 1,969; Smith, 1,274.

Taken for a Ride; Thieves Get His $60

Accepting an automobile ride offered by two men who are said to have promised to get him some liquor, police say, John H. Davis, of Akron, O., was taken to a downtown alley and robbed of $60, he told police at the Central Station. Davis said he met the men at Ferry street and Liberty avenue and they took him to an alley several blocks away and took his money.

Mrs. Reed Smoot Dies After Long Illness

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Mrs. Reed Smoot, 65, wife of the Utah Senator, died today at 7 a. m., after a long illness.

CURTIS SLEEPS WHILE BAND OOM-PAHS

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Clad in his pajamas, Vice President-elect Charles Curtis today stood in the doorway of the stateroom of his Pullman car and received the congratulations of fellow-passengers on his overwhelming victory in yesterday's general election.

"That's great!" he said as a smile beamed over his face.

Senator Curtis arrived here this morning en route to Washington from his home in Topeka, Kan., where he voted yesterday.

Promptly at 6:30 a. m., the hour set by the Kansas statesman to arise, Sanford Jarrell, of San Francisco, representative of the Republican National Committee, knocked on the door and aroused the Senator to tell him of his victory. Fellow-passengers, who eagerly read election returns throughout the night, pressed forward and congratulated the next Vice President.

After breakfast, Senator Curtis issued this statement:

"I am gratified with the returns. Mr. Hoover made a wonderful candidate. Personally, I am grateful to the American people for the splendid indorsement given the Republican ticket."

SLEEPS SOUNDLY

His wish that he be not disturbed during the night was respected by members of his party and train attaches, even demonstrations by citizens of Marceline, Mo., and Fort Madison, Ia., where a band was on the platform, did not awaken him.

At Fort Madison the crowd, after begging members of the train crew to awaken him, threatened to board the train and congratulate Mr. Curtis, but the locomotive started before the drive got under way.

When asked if he would resign from the Senate or complete his term, Mr. Curtis said he had made no decision.

After voting in Topeka, Kan., yesterday, he began his trip to Washington to resume his senatorial duties which he had neglected during the political campaign which carried him through 31 states.

DEATH ROLL

Elizabeth M. Jeremy.

Funeral services for Miss Elizabeth M. Jeremy, 68, retired actress, who died Sunday, were held yesterday at her home, 220 North Beatty street. She was born in Pittsburgh, July 4, 1860, a daughter of Charles and Elizabeth Jeremy. She was educated in the Franklin School, Pershing's Female College and the Bishop Bowman Institute. Miss Jeremy entered the theatrical profession and made her debut in Pittsburgh at the Opera House in 1878 with the John Ellsler Stock Company in "The Factory Girl," from 1878 to 1891 she played leading pany, Ellsler Stock Company, Bartley Campbell's, "My Geraldine" Company, Frank Mardaunts' "Old Shipmates" Company, Samuel Colville's Saken, "From Life" Company, Augustine Daly's New York Theater Company, E. H. Sothern's Company, Harrison and Gormley's Company, Boucicaults Company, J. K. Tillolson's, Arthur Rehans Company and others. She leaves a nephew and two nieces.

Rev. Samuel P. Montgomery.

Funeral services for the Rev. Samuel P. Montgomery, 72, pastor of Union United Presbyterian Church, Westmoreland County, who died Sunday, were held today at the church. Burial took place at Deer Creek cemetery, Bakerstown. The Rev. Montgomery was born in Butler on December 21, 1855. He graduated from the Western Theological Seminary in 1866 and was pastor in the West for four years before coming into the Monongahela Presbytery. Later he entered the Conemaugh Presbytery. He leaves his wife, Jennie Carothers Montgomery; a son, Archibald G. Montgomery, of Cleveland, Ohio; four daughters, Mrs. Charles R. Dale, of Pittsburgh; Mrs. Frank H. Highberger, of Harrisburg, and Miss Bethella Jane and Miss Sarah Montgomery, of Pittsburgh; a sister and a brother.

Mrs. Rebecca Cohen.

Mrs. Rebecca Cohen, 69, widow of Israel Cohen, died Tuesday in the home of her daughter, 1544 Shady avenue. Mrs. Cohen was born in Russia and had been a resident of Pittsburgh 45 years. Previous to her residence in the Squirrel Hill district she had lived in the Hill district where her husband was engaged in business. Mrs. Cohen was a member of the Base of Abraham Lodge, the Ephiphany Street Synagogue and was engaged in a number of Jewish activities. She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Bessie R. Sable and Mrs. Dora Schultz; two sons, Samuel S. Cohen and Morris Cohen; six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Funeral services will be held from the home with burial in the McKees Rocks Cemetery, Thursday.

HOOVER LIKELY TO SWEEP BORDER STATES

By RALPH H. HEPPE,
Associated Press Southwestern News Editor.

Assured of a sweeping victory in Oklahoma and Kentucky, and running well ahead in Tennessee and Missouri, the Republican presidential ticket appeared early today to have made a clean sweep of this border group of states for the first time in a general election.

Although Herbert Hoover was leading in Missouri by 27,804 on returns from a third of the state, the outcome still was in doubt as the count proceeded slowly in St. Louis, a Smith stronghold. From the earliest returns, however, Hoover took the lead and clung to it, steadily increasing the gap that separated him from Gov. Smith as the count progressed. While Smith was losing in the state, it appeared that the Democratic senatorial and gubernatorial candidates would win out, as both of them held comfortable leads over their Republican opponents with a fourth of the state reported.

LITTLE DISORDER REPORTED IN RECORD VOTING HERE

COMPLAINTS QUICKLY SMOOTHED OUT IN COURT

Despite the unusually large numbers of voters drawn to the polls for the presidential election, little disorder was reported to Judges Thomas J. Ford and Richard W. Martin, who sat throughout the day and until late last night to settle complaints.

Judge Ford dispatched a deputy sheriff to the Fifth District of the Nineteenth Ward, Mt. Washington, to investigate a report that the board was drinking and turning away voters without allowing them to cast ballots. The deputy sheriff returned with a report that the charge was unfounded and was begun by a woman who grew hysterical in enthusiasm for her candidate. The case was called to the judges' attention by Mortimer B. Lesher, counsel for the Republican county committee.

The judges also sent for the box of the Twenty-sixth District, Eleventh Ward, after hearing a complaint from John H. Stubbe, 1429 Browning road. He said the contents of two ballot boxes were dumped into a dwelling house 50 feet from the polling place. It was explained that the boxes became filled and the boxes emptied to make room for the balance of the ballots to be cast.

Judge Ford denied a petition of John E. Laughlin, representing the Smith-for-President Club, to have ballot boxes in the First, Third and Sixth Wards deposited with Sheriff Robert Braun instead of the aldermen, as the law requires.

Police were called to Penn and Winebiddle avenues last night after watchers of the Democratic and Republican parties are said to have engaged in an argument at the polling place of the Twenty-sixth district of the Tenth Ward. "Pidgie" Andrews, 25, of Dearborn street, said to be a Democratic watcher, was arrested on a drunkenness charge.

Mrs. Mary Kindell, of the First Ward, went into court yesterday and complained that she had been ousted as a member of the board in the Fourth district and that Mary Tigue had been put in her place as minority inspector. A deputy sheriff was sent with her to see that she was given her place after the court had examined her credentials.

More than a score of residents who had moved from Irvine street when their former homes were razed to make way for improvements lost their right to vote yesterday through a court ruling.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Katherine McK. Schley Makes Society Bow at Afternoon Tea

ELECTIONS may come and elections may go, but debuts go on forever, one is tempted to paraphrase. Not that society folks aren't interested in elections and this one in particular, but young girls are being presented to society this week nevertheless.

Of course the debbies are too young to vote yet, and haven't been bothered trying to find a moment between entertainments to cast their votes. But their elders, many of whom are busy acting as hostesses to the buds, or as aides at debutante parties, did have a bit of trouble.

Now that the election is over, and one can talk over the results all the remainder of the week, social gatherings have more attraction than ever. Someone once said that the greater part of pleasure was anticipation, but I'm inclined to think, and won't you agree with me, that the greater part is talking over an event after it is in the past?

AND there will be plenty of opportunity for talking over the election this week, with two more debuts. Katherine McKibbin Schley is being presented this afternoon, I've mentioned before, at a tea her grandmother, Mrss. Charles McKibbin, will give this afternoon in the Hotel Schenley.

And on Friday Mrs. Will Knox Dunlap will present her daughter, Bettie, at a tea in the Twentieth Century Club.

Mrs. Dunlap's aides for the tea will be Mrs. Charles Arbuthnot, Jr., Miss Elizabeth Shaw Arbuthnot, Mrs. H. Allen Machesney, Mrs. Charles Dickson, Mrs. William Sage Dalzell, Mrs. Charles Murray, Mrs. Frank B. Gordon, Mrs. William G. Costin, Mrs. Edward Bindley, Mrs. Walter Schleiter, Mrs. Theodore W. Friend, Mrs. Gordon Fisher, Mrs. John Chalfant, Mrs. T. Coleman Ward, Mrs. Merrill Wright, Mrs. Leonard K. Guiler, Mrs. George Reed and Mrs. M. Curtin.

The debutantes will aid Bettie.

WHEN one thinks all the entertainments have been announced, one hears of another date. I've just been told about an event planned in honor of Louise Latimer Reed, debutante daughter of the W. Edgar Reeds. Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Miller, of Von Lent place, will give a dinner on Saturday, December 8, in the Pittsburgh Golf Club for her. Later the guests will attend, I believe, the regular club dance.

SOCIETY women who are interested in the Woman's Exchange are making plans for the annual sale and bridge party to be held at the Exchange on November 27. Mrs. George Macbeth is chairman for the bridge. Assisting her will be Mrs. Birney McMechen and Mrs. William Zang. There'll be at least 70 tables in play, I hear. The hours for bridge are from 2 to 5 o'clock.

And this year there'll be something new even about even as established an event as the Exchange sale. For the first time a Woman's Exchange cook book will be put on sale. In charge of this new venture are Mrs. William B. Trainer, Mrs. George Claypool and Mrs. Thomas C. Wurts.

BETTIE GUILER made her bow to society yesterday at a tea which her mother, Mrs. Leonard Kent Guiler, gave in her home in Squirrel Hill avenue. Mrs. Guiler and Bettie received together in the sun room, which had been decorated with masses of chrysanthemums and greens, together with the gift bouquets. Bettie's frock was of white transparent velvet made with a long tight bodice and a full skirt. She carried the flowers her father sent her, yellow Pernet roses and orchids. Mrs. Guiler wore pale blue crepe.

There were two tea tables, the one in the dining room being centered with a basket of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums, while the other was adorned with a silver bowl filled with pink roses and bouvardia.

THE marriage of Miss Roma Ferrara, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Ferrara, of Murray avenue, and Michael J. Catalano, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Catalano, of the North Side, was solemnized this morning at 10 o'clock in St. Paul's Cathedral by the Rev. Vincent J. Burke. The bride wore Callot satin trimmed with flowers of rose point lace, and the satin train was trimmed with the lace. A cap of the same lace held in place the veil of lace which is an heirloom in the family. She carried orchids, gardenias and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Lyman C. Feeney, as matron of honor, wore cognac transparent velvet with a hat of brown velvet and carried bronze chrysanthemums. Victor Catalano was his brother's best man, and the ushers included Lyman C. Feeney, Frank Purpuna, Frank Lawson, William Shaughnessy, Dr. Charles Barone and Charles Brody. A breakfast in the Pittsburgh Athletic Club followed the ceremony, with covers laid for 35 at the bridal table. Mr. and Mrs. Catalano will take a trip to Bermuda, and after December 1 will be at home in Shaw avenue, Squirrel Hill.

ZEP STOWAWAY OFF TO GAY PAREE, HOME

By CLARENCE "RED" TERHUNE,

(Copyright, 1928, by King Features Syndicate, Inc. Violations of copyright will be vigorously prosecuted).

BERLIN, Nov. 5.—And now its "Ho! for gay Paree." This last day in Berlin has been as interesting and exciting as any of the others of my stay. I've been about every place in the old town and I guess I must have seen about everybody—at least everybody who has gone into the souvenir business.

But at that I kind of hate leaving so soon, even if thousands of folks continued even today to mob me. They didn't exactly tear me to pieces, but some of them would just as lief as not taken the most valuable section of my clothes for a souvenir, if they thought they could get away with it. They did get plenty of autographs.

It's just as well that I'm to have a chance to hide out for a day or so. I will need that time to get used to some new clothes I bought here. I found that there are so few slim people in this man's country that it wasn't easy to find anything that even looked like what we call a "long thin model." So this brown suit I got had to be cobbled a bit. They cut the coat shorter and also trimmed off some of the pants length, but at that the suit still hangs around me pretty much like the old Graf Zeppelin would if they let the gas out and gave it to me for a suit.

I got another big surprise today when my sister, Mrs. Edna Hall, called me on the telephone from St. Louis, for the second day running. She wants me to hurry back to the land of old man river.

We sneaked through the crowd at the station and got away on the 10 o'clock train for Paris tonight. If I can get by the guards at the French border as easy as I foxed the guards at Lakehurst, why I will get a look at the gay big town. But not for long, because I have arranged to go back on the Majectic which sails on Wednesday for New York.

The only thing you got to worry about in going to Paris is this kissing habit they got there. Today some little fraulein sneaked up on me and tried to put over a Greta Garbo on me. But I am not so strong for this public kissing stuff. Well, maybe it won't be so bad in Paris, for I can stand it, provided they don't bring on some of them mayors that pin ribbons on you and kiss you on both cheeks.

Hofmann Coming To Play at Mosque

Josef Hofmann, the pianist, returns to Pittsburgh Friday night, after an absence of two years, for a concert at Syria Mosque. He is to open with Handel's "Harmonious Blacksmith," followed by Mendelssohn's "Scherzo in E Minor" and Schumann's "Carnebal." A group of Chopin numbers include "Valse in A flat Major," Op. 34, No. 1; Nocturne in E flat major, Op. 55, No. 2, and "Fantasy." Other outstanding works are "The Sanctuary," by Dvorsky; "March," by Prokofieff, and "Tartantella Venezia e Napoli," by Franz Liszt.

'64 GENERAL'S WIDOW DIES

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 7.—Infirmities accentuated by an attack of pneumonia caused the death today of Mrs. Harriet Ellen Lightburn, 94, widow of Gen. J. A. J. Lightburn, near here. She had been an invalid 15 years and for two years was bedridden as the result of paralysis. Her husband served in both the Mexican and Civil Wars, afterward entering the Baptist Ministry and becoming renowned as a preacher.

BUS ON FIRE DOWNTOWN

A dozen passengers were driven from a Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company bus last night when the bus engine caught fire at Diamond and Smithfield streets. The driver, William Nagle, of 7019 Monticello street, extinguished the flames before arrival of fire companies, which responded to an alarm turned in by a pedestrian. The coach was damaged slightly.

Those heavy velvet drapes, which deaden echo and noise in the broadcasting studios, are of little value when announcers and performers cough and sneeze before the "mike."

That is why the handy white box of GROVE'S BROMO QUININE can be found in so many of the broadcasting stations. Let a sneeze or a headache or throat tickle appear after any exposure and GROVE'S BROMO QUININE tablets are instantly recommended and promptly taken.

Many millions of people have learned from past experience that the two best things to do for a cold are: first—take GROVE'S BROMO QUININE; second—Don't wait. Take it immediately at the onset of the cold. Thus, they either side-step the cold entirely or throw it off quickly.... But don't expect such results unless you get the genuine by emphasizing GROVE'S when asking for GROVE'S BROMO QUININE. Price 30c.

"A WAFFLE is either a great delicacy or a dismal failure—there's no middle ground," says Mrs. Alice Foote MacDougall, owner of the famous New York coffee houses.

"We use the best ingredients for all the foods we serve, the best cream, the finest maple syrup, the freshest butter and eggs—naturally we use the best baking powder, which is Royal.

"We have found that no other baking powder makes waffles which are up to our standard in lightness and tenderness. With Royal there is never any danger of dryness which spoils waffles and cakes. And, of course, you know most doctors, dietitians and home economics experts say Cream of Tartar baking powder is the most healthful and the best.

"Personally, I think in all baking it is true economy to use Royal because it is so pure and dependable. As every housewife knows, the cost of the baking powder is almost negligible compared to the cost of the eggs and butter you use in waffles and in cakes."

Mrs. Alice Foote MacDougall's
WAFFLE RECIPE

3 cupfuls of flour
4 teaspoonfuls of Royal Baking Powder
½ teaspoonful of salt
2 cupfuls of milk
½ cupful of butter
4 eggs

Beat yolks well. Add sifted dry ingredients and milk alternately to the yolks. Then add the butter which has been melted, and last of all fold in the stiffly beaten whites.

Do not beat mixture too much or the waffle will be tough.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

The Cream of Tartar baking powder. Absolutely pure.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Let Common Sense Direct Your Route

DR. COPELAND

The young man mused: "There was an unbroken placidity and yet one strongly alive — placidity with an edge to it. Is it that a certain philosophy insures its own inevitable moods? More, is it that a certain philosophy is inevitable for right living?"

Alistair's conclusion was, "Anyhow, a good rule seems to be to take life as it is, to try to comprehend it by following the course it takes in different places—with discretion."

There is good sense in this, isn't there? In Pauline's language, why kick against the jobs of life?

If you are in constant rebellion against your fate, constantly finding fault with the conditions of your life, you are sure to be in a ferment of discontent and miserable unhappiness. Such a state of mind disturbs the sleep, impairs the appetite and undermines the health. To take life as it is and to follow the path that opens before you each day is not a bad rule of conduct. But as Alistair decided, you must travel with discretion.

Merely to take the easy way, to take it because it is easy, is bad for morals and for character. It might destroy health. But to follow the course it takes and to be watchful for snares and pitfalls, in short, to follow it with discretion, is probably the best way to govern your life.

Most of us are wickedly careless in many things. We expose our precious bodies to many excesses and needless abuses. In consequence, accident and disease are all too common.

Discretion is only another name for common sense. Why do we fail to exercise common sense in our contacts and experiences in life? Most of the time we do, but too often we "take a chance." Many a young man and sometimes young women, too, take the chance that causes them to repent for always.

Nature is kind, but she will not permit herself to be cheated. She resents our sly efforts to evade her laws. We must pay in mental and physical suffering for all these infractions.

There is plenty of honest pleasure in this world. We can have fun, entertainment, real joy and be decent, too.

I am not preaching, or in a "preachy" mood, but I am pleading for a manner of living that has no after regrets. To follow any other course brings sacrifices that are out of all proportion to the indiscreet action. I am speaking as your friend, the doctor.

Answers to Health Queries

A. L. M. Q—Would you approve of the continued use of yeast for one troubled with constipation? The patient is an adult of advanced years.

2—Would a porous plaster be helpful for a lame, stiff back? The trouble is worse in cold weather and seems to be due to rheumatism.

A—Yeast is usually taken as a blood purifier. If the patient watches his diet, drinks plenty of water between meals and has regular outdoor exercise he should not be troubled with constipation.

2—May be helpful, but the source of the trouble should be located so that it can be entirely cleared up.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Thursday, November 8

SUDDEN and comet-like may be the unexpected revolutions of Fate, judging by the predominance of Uranian influence on this day. And, although these indicate abrupt and quite unforeseen changes, journeys or removals, they also, under a somewhat benefic ray from Jupiter, may be interpreted as bringing some unexpected financial or other good fortune. There may be desirable openings, difficult at first and calling for unwelcome change of environment, and it is a fair time for renewed contracts and for dealing with corporations or secret orders.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of sudden changes, with possible journeys, and while disturbances may be unwelcome and seemingly disintegrating, in the long run they may bring benefits or advantageous change, since contracts, new projects and secret agreements are under a favorable sway.

A child born on this day may be restless and changeable, fond of adventure and talented in many directions.

The Impartial Admirer -:- By Fanny Darrell

DAN CUPID'S not in the least partial! He's just as much an admirer of a poor girl as he is of a rich one. Beauty and near-beauty; vamp and angel; blonde or brunette, tall or small—they're all the same to him. As far as he's concerned, there can never be ONE girl in the world. Think what he misses! Never to know the thrill of being in love! Never know the joy of a lover's kiss! Oh, dear! I do feel so sorry for poor Dan!

He's always busy making matches, and watching the happiness of others. And he's never so happy as when he's bringing two of his subjects together; object love and matrimony! So that's why he must be impartial! Every girl in the world is a likely subject to him. And he loves 'em all! To his eyes—the eyes of love—they're all lovely. And that's why he can never be coaxed nor cajoled.

Meditations of a Wife

By HELEN ROWLAND

Speaking of Marriage

ONCE a man used to give at least ONE ear-drum to his wife's conversation, but now the radio has cheated her out of even that little crumb of comfort.

* * *

Discretion is what comes to a man after the first motor smash, the second marriage, the third kiss, or the last drink. It is usually accompanied by a broken rib, shattered illusions, boredom or a headache.

HELEN ROWLAND

A man's bath should be a private and personal matter; but, from the way he splashes, sputters, groans and sings under the cold shower, apparently his idea is to advertise his cleanliness to the whole world.

* * *

When a man would "rather work than eat" it may be only a pose or chronic dyspepsia—but when he would rather work than play golf or go to a baseball game it is a sign of sheer genius.

Nowadays most of Mother's "overstrain" comes from banting or hunting for a cook to stay in the kitchen; and most of Father's "overwork" from the struggle to get away in time for a round of golf or for discussing ways and means to get the fish to bite.

* * *

Some married couples get so far away from love-making that when they run across a pair of lovers "spooning," they have that surprise, "Well-they're-still-doing-that-sort-of-thing!" feeling.

* * *

The woman, the love, or the habit to which a man clings forever is usually the one that he feels he can easily drop at any moment.

* * *

After about ten years of marriage, anything a woman may say in a domestic quarrel seems so entirely inadequate to express her feelings that she just naturally shuts up. That's how seasoned married couples "get along so nicely together."

* * *

A man sometimes uses all his art in trying to deceive a woman—and then a woman has to use a lot more art in pretending to believe him.

* * *

After 30 a girl ceases to look upon marriage as an adventure, and begins to regard it merely as a solution.

LOVE'S AWAKENING -:- A CONTINUATION OF LOVE'S EMBERS

Dicky's Mother Stricken When She Gets Accident News

DICKY spun around with a savage "Shut up, you fool!" as he heard Jerry Ticer's excited, almost sobbing words. But Jerry has a slow and exceedingly one-track mind. There was no stopping him until he had finished his question. I doubt indeed if he heard Dicky's reproof.

With a prayer that my mother-in-law had not understood him, I sped across the lawn to her side. But with Dicky's arm around her, she was battling for breath, her eyes holding the tortured inquiry which she was not able to voice.

"Mother, dear, listen!" I said loudly as I reached her. "We do not think Junior is badly hurt. He fell out of a tree, but the doctor says—"

"Help me, Madge!" Dicky's agitated voice interrupted me as his mother slumped in his arms, and we saw that she had swooned. I helped steady her, while Dicky shot a quick exasperated order to Jerry to help him lift her.

"Take her feet, Madge," my husband commanded, and we carried the helpless figure into the house aid laid her upon the couch which Katherine had made ready. The nurse tested her heart beats and then administered the hypodermic. I knew that Katherine was unusually deft and quick of movement, and that it was only my own nervousness which made her seem slow and awkward. But I could have screamed in sheer hysteria so torn was I between my desire to rush back to my boy, and my feeling that I ought to stay beside my husband until we found out how serious was his mother's heart attack.

But the hypodermic Katherine had administered was a powerful one and the attack was not so hard as we had feared. It was only a minute or two before she opened her eyes to consciousness—and terror.

"My baby!" she whispered—to his grandmother Junior will be a baby when he is graduating from college.

"He is all right, mother," Dicky said emphatically. "When you're a little stronger, you shall go upstairs and see him."

Katherine caught the cue, and improvised her lines swiftly and skilfully.

"Oh, no, not for quite a while!" she said. "This has been a bad attack. She must rest before she climbs any stairs."

The tortured old eyes went from one face to another.

"Did—the doctor—come?" She was looking directly at me, and I took up the task of fitting the truth to her need.

"Yes, right away," I told her cheerily. "He said there were no broken bones, and he didn't think there were any sprains. Junior's asleep now, and the doctor thinks he will be all right when he awakens. I'll let you know when he does wake up."

Her eyes were narrowed, piercing. "But Jerry Ticer said—" she began and I was fervently thankful when Dicky struck in, his voice keyed to just the right note of impatient scorn.

"Jerry Ticer!" he said. "Did ever that lad get anything right in his whole life? And Katie's been off her nut ever since she saw the kid fall from the tree."

As if the word had been a better tonic than the hypodermic, Dicky's mother raised herself to a sitting posture and looked sternly at her son. We knew better than to interfere with her sitting up, but Katherine unobstrusively piled pillows behind her and held them in such a position that she was supported against them.

"What tree was it?" she asked.

I forbore looking at my husband. I knew the tree she meant. It had been the subject of a long standing controversy in which Dicky on one side was ranged against his mother, Katherine and me. Junior had been taught by his father to climb trees and I raised no objection to his climbing the smaller ones which had low branches and from which a fall to the soft grass was not particularly dangerous. But this tree in the orchard had higher branches than any the small boy had been permitted to climb, and Mother Graham, Katherine and I had agree that he was not old enough yet to attempt it. Dicky, however, with masculine pride in his son's prowess, was obstinately set upon granting Junior's repeated requests to climb it, and I knew that he must have given his consent in spite of our wishes, for our little lad, though possessed of his share of childish faults, never disobeys a specific command.

For the Lovelorn

Dumb

DEAR MISS GALE:

When a fellow takes his girl to the theater where should he take her after coming out? That is if his financial standing is all right. What is the correct thing to say after being introduced to a person? Do you think a fellow knows whether or not a girl likes him after four years' acquaintance? Hoping to see this in print soon, I am DUMB.

It is not necessary for him to take the girl anywhere after the theater, but if he cares to there are lots of places where you can get a bite to eat. Naturally, I cannot name them here. Always say, "How do you do?" when you are introduced, I should think a boy would have a fair idea of the girl's attitude toward him after four years.

Mary Jo

DEAR MISS GALE:

I am very fond of a boy that my girl friend quit going with. I think he is fond of me. My problem is this: Since this girl knows I like the boy she has been paying considerable attention to him. Now, Miss Gale, I would not have allowed myself to think of this boy if I thought my friend really loved him. Do you think she is playing fair to him or to me? Please do not tell me to give either up, because I love the boy and I don't want to lose my girl friend. Wishing you loads of luck, I remain,

MARY JO.

Perhaps she just realized how much she likes him after she lost him. Let the boy do the deciding between you, my dear.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Use a Spoon

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

When serving a fruit cocktail with lots of juice, which is proper to use, a spoon of a cocktail fork? READER.

A SPOON.

The Salad Fork

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you please let me know if it is proper to put the salad fork on the left of the plate when setting the table for lunch? There will be no knife served. I have seen it on the right with spoons, and wonder which is correct. If this is the correct way, should it be in the place of the knife right next to the plate?

C. A. B.

THE fork should be placed on the left of the plate. And usually a knife should be placed, even though it may not seem necessary. Many people nowadays use the knife and fork more than they do the fork alone, and the hostess should always take into account this fact when she is setting her table.

The Mr. and Mrs. Card

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

What do you mean by a "Mr. and Mrs." card? You sometimes mention it in your column. I am a recent bride and am interested in this kind of card.

BRIDE.

A "MR. and Mrs. card" is a very convenient kind of card for a husband and wife to have, especially if they do many social things. It is a joint card of a married couple reading:

Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Grange.

The address maybe engraved in the lower right corner, if one wishes (and it is most convenient to have it) in letters of the same type as those used in the name, but, of course, in smaller size. The card is larger than the ordinary visiting card.

It has many uses: for formal affairs, when presents are sent, for weddings, for the sending of bon voyage flowers or fruits, when sending flowers or messages to an invalid, when sending flowers or messages of condolence, and so forth.

A Friendly Gift

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

My girl friend's brother is having a birthday party, and although I have met him only on two occasions, I have been invited to attend it.

Shall I send him a gift, or take one with me the night of the party, or shall I just send him a card? He is 20. If the former is appropriate, will you kindly suggest something. M. T.

YOU don't need to take him a gift, but if you wish to register a nice friendly "little something" take him a box of his favorite cigarets (find out from his sister), or some sweets for the party, or a book or a group of magazines that you think he would be interested in.

Happy is the household that's guarded by Fletcher's Castoria! Baby gets his rest, his food agrees, there's rarely any upset. At first sign of anything wrong, give him Fletcher's Castoria. This will relieve any case of colic. It will check the worst diarrhea. If Baby has caught cold, it will prevent the little system from clogging. Constipation is bad for any baby, and it can be avoided without ever resorting to anything stronger than this pure vegetable product. So stick to Fletcher's Castoria, and have a healthy baby. Doctors approve this sterling remedy for babies—indeed, they recommend its continued use as children grow older. Get real Castoria—you can tell the genuine by this wrapper with Chas. H. Fletcher's signature.

More Charm—no blemishes now

No worry about pimples now. Instead there is a certain satisfaction that gives confidence.

All this because rich, red blood is Nature's way of building and sustaining the body.

Without plenty of rich, red blood, there can be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or beautiful, healthy women.

You know a clear skin comes from within. Correct the cause—through the blood—and pimples, boils, eczema and that sallow complexion will disappear.

Thousands have regained their strength and charm by taking a few bottles of S.S.S.—Nature's own tonic for restoring the appetite — building strength — and clearing the body of so-called skin troubles.

All drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Get the larger size. It is more economical.

"Thanks to S.S.S., I got rid of pimples and blackheads. My face now has a smooth feeling. I think S.S.S. does many wonders for the system. Besides giving me a clear complexion, it gave me a healthful look."—Miss Angela Annunzio, 1007 S. Racine Ave., Chicago, Ill.

"I was troubled with pimples and blackheads. I took a course of S.S.S. It cleared my face and back. I think S.S.S. is wonderful. I have told many friends about S.S.S., and they are getting as much benefit as I did."—Miss Ruth Gahm, 1134 Elden Ave., Los Angeles, Calif.

EDDIE CANTOR AND 'WHOOPEE' GET A ROYAL WELCOME AT NIXON PREMIERE

By GEORGE SEIBEL.

FROM pit to dome the Nixon Theater was filled with a mass of enthusiastic humanity last night, forgetting even the excitement of the election to witness the premiere of the latest Ziegfeld show—"Whoopee"—in which gorgeous scenery, gorgeous costumes, gorgeous girls form a setting for the gorgeous fun of Eddie Cantor. The curtain fell at a quarter after twelve, and few people had left before that. Most of them were willing to stay and see whether the promise of ham and eggs for breakfast, made earlier in the evening, would be kept. But the show was over before breakfast, thanks to various impromptu operations on its appendix. What has been left out would make another show—you could run a few theaters with Ziegfeld left-overs.

The word "Show" is the only one that describes the entertainment—there is so much of everything that three rings should have been provided. The Owen Davis comedy of "The Nervous Wreck" has been taken, and heavily embroidered with romance. This job has been done by William Anthony McGuire, and it will do—but it is bargain counter romance, and the real value of the show lies elsewhere. The music by Walter Donaldson, the scenic settings by Joseph Urban, the marvelous dancing by shimmering choruses, and above all the funmaking of Eddie Cantor, are the elements that make this show an overwhelming experience.

Cantor is a comedian of suave method and riotous results. He works so quietly and yet brings down the house. Whether he is just the nervous wreck, taking pills and talking about his heart, or whether he assumes any of the various disguises—as colored waiter or as Indian blanket salesman—in which he disports himself at various times, he is inimitably amusing. Whether as cook he breaks eggs with a nutcracker, or whether as a singer he tells what happened "since the movies learned to talk," he is full of explosive ideas that cause the audience to double up with joy. Yes, Cantor is a clown of real genius—with voice, hands, and especially eyes as his obedient servants in the business of getting laughs.

Next to Cantor the attraction of the show is in the scenery provided by Urban. It is the most beautiful array of western mountains and canyons ever subjected to the magic of the calcium. It makes such "stupendous" exhibitions of past seasons as "Ben Hur" seem like mercly samples. Particularly the reservation of the Mojave tribe, with horses and burros descending down the rocky path, bearing show girls in costumes reminiscent of Paradise, is one of the most amazing scenes built in many a year, if it has ever been equaled.

Of the good voices in the cast that of Chief Caupolican is the most noteworthy. Of the fine dancers in the cast, Tamara Geva and Ruby Keeler have the best opportunities. But the ensembles are what counts most of all. There is such a bewildering succession of songs, dances, and interludes that the individuals are mostly lost to view. It is the groups and choruses that count, perpetually in motion, decked in costumes that have exhausted every Indian and Aztec motif, and laved in light of prismatic radiance. Ziegfeld has never produced a more gorgeous show. But there is so much of it that it calls for a ruthless surgeon.

The audience was told that its verdict would be taken into consideration in shortening the acts. But that audience was pretty impartial and very generous with its admiration and applause. And even a merciless critic would have a hard task to select the numbers for the slaughter that must go. Go they must, many of them, for the endurance of a first-night audience is not to be expected every night. And "Whoopee" is so big, so spectacular, so overwhelming in its variety that there was much more than enough—even at $7.70 for the premiere.

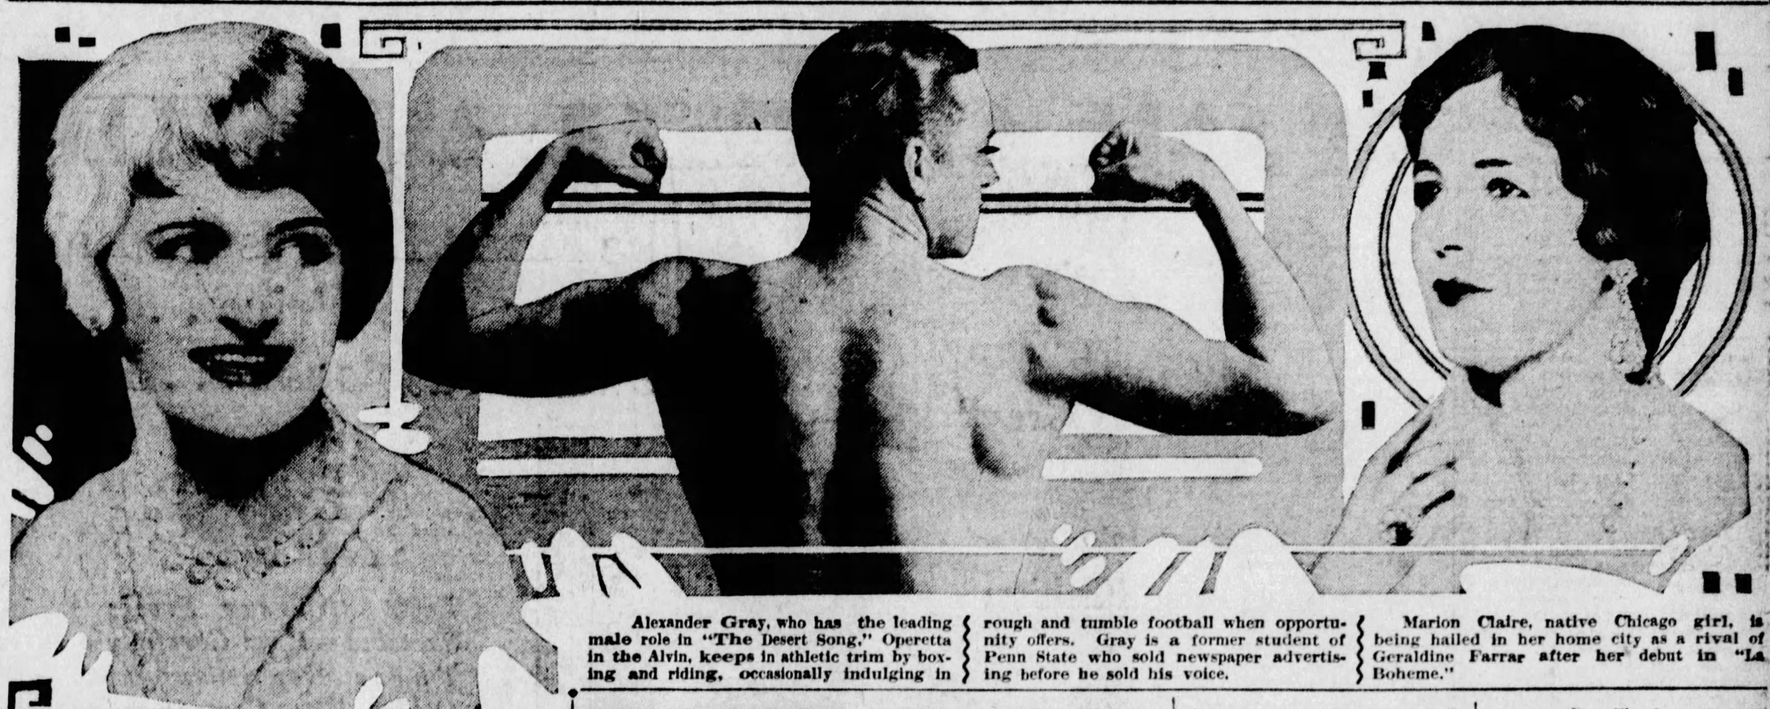
Burton Holmes Travel Talk Tonight

"The Glories of Madrid," first of three new travel talks on Spain, will be given by Burton Holmes in Carnegie Music Hall tonight. Continuing his Spanish explorations, Mr. Holmes next week will describe his impressions of the Alhambra and tell the story of his travels through Andalusia.

$1 Potatoes Make Sandy Lake Record

SANDY LAKE, Pa., Nov. 7.—Potatoes are selling in this community for $1 a bushel, the lowest price in years.

NEWS OF THEATER :-: GIVES PROMINENCE :-: TO THESE ARTISTS



Ethel Shutta is featured in "Whoopee," starring Eddie Cantor, which had its first performance anywhere in the Nixon last night.

Alexander Gray, who has the leading male role in "The Desert Song," Operetta in the Alvin, keeps in athletic trim by boxing and riding, occasionally indulging in rough and tumble football when opportunity offers. Gray is a former student of Penn State who sold newspaper advertising before he sold his voice.

WELFARE FUND PLANS READY

Neighborhood meetings throughout the city and county will mark final preparations for the Community Chest campaign in which 10,000 workers will participate, beginning next week.

Meetings will be held this afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. E. Nelson, 201 North Murtland avenue, and at the home of Mrs. W. Edgar Reed, Fifth avenue and Amberson street. William Bradford will speak at the first meeting, while Mrs. John W. Lawrence will talk at Mrs. Reed's. She also will speak tomorrow at a meeting at the home of Mrs. Rex Flinn, 5558 Aylesboro avenue.

The opening meeting of the campaign will be featured tomorrow night with a dinner of 1,200 workers in the William Penn Hotel.

Hoover Carries Own Precinct 7 to 1

STAGE BILLS TODAY AND FUTURE

"The Desert Song," which opened in the Alvin Monday, will be given at matinees today and Saturday. The leading roles are in the hands of Alexander Gray, baritone; Bernice Claire, prima donna, and Bernard Granville, comedian. This is the same company which played long runs in New York, Chicago and Detroit.

The seat sale opens in the box office of the Nixon today for the second and last week of Ziegfeld's latest musical production, Eddie Cantor in "Whoopee," beginning Monday evening, November 12, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday. "Whoopee" goes direct to New York from Pittsburgh.

"Bringing Up Father," symbolising the famous cartoon creations of George McManus, will be next week's attraction in the Pitt. The seat sale opens Thursday at 9 o'clock. Matinees will be Thursday and Saturday.

Pearl Regay, late dancing star of "Rose-Marie" and "The Desert Song," will headline the six acts of Keith-Albee vaudeville at the Davis Theater next week in a program that also includes the Courtney Sisters and Bebe Daniels in her new comedy, "Take Me Home."

"The Little Spitfire," to be played in the Gayety next week, will have Miss Dentler in the part of a chorus girl, which she portrayed in the Broadway introduction of that comedy.

Smith Sweeps Stronghold Of Vare

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—By an irony of political fate one of the few wards in this historic Republican city which was carried by Gov. Al Smith in his hopeless fight for the presidency was that of the powerful leader whose influence was believed directly responsible for Herbert Hoover securing the Republican nomination.

In the Twenty-sixth Ward, the home of U. S. Senator-elect William S. Vare, Smith scored a triumph that was as decisive as it proved to be unavailing. Exactly 19,277 votes were cast and of these 11,380 were for the Democratic aspirant.

The defeat of Hoover by a 3,493 majority in the section was heralded widely by Smith supporters, unaware for many hours that their victory was not indicative of a national situation.

MEGAPHONING DEMILLE BOYS AGAIN MAKING PICTURES UNDER ONE BANNER

By REGINA CREWE.

(Copyright, 1928, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 7.

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER is to have a monopoly of the De Mille talent for photoplays carrying the Lion brand. The name of William C. De Mille has been lettered in on an office door on the Metro lot, and the pioneer director of both silent and audible pictures is to move over from the Paramount studio. Cecil B. De Mille is engaged in the preparation of his production, "Dynamite," for Metro, which brings both brothers under one banner. In addition, Clara Beranger, the writer, who recently became Mrs. William De Mille, will work with her husband in the preparation of his film stories.

It was expected that Paramount had protected itself in signing William De Mille to make his first talking picture by securing his services for a period of years. But it has developed that the contract was only for one picture, the film version of Barrie's "Half Hour," which is called "The Doctor's Secret." With this completed and viewed by executives immediate overtures were made for the director's continued services. In the meantime, however, Metro introduced an offer too advantageous to be denied. William De Mille will confine his activities to the making of sound films. His first under the new arrangement will be announced shortly.

Miss La Plante Has Birthday

LAURA LA PLANTE, Universal's feminine box office ace, took speedy advantage of an unexpected two-week lay-off by hopping a passenger plane to New York, where she arrived in time to celebrate her birthday. Haven't asked which one. The little star who surprised every one by securing for herself the big role in "Show Boat," stayed in the big city for three days, shopping, of course, and seeing the shows. She is now flying back to Hollywood, where Universal's costume department is waiting to complete her wardrobe for "The Haunted Lady."

At last Olga Baclanova, publicized by Paramount as "Baclanova," seems definitely set for stardom. The Russian import, who became important as a picture possibility following her characterization in "The Man Who Laughs," has been playing feminine leads for Paramount. Now she has signed a new contract which calls for featured parts which will lead up to her own starring vehicles. Baclanova came to America under contract to Morris Gest, for whom she appeared in the stage plays, "Carmencita and the Soldier" and "The Miracle." She is engaged to Nicholas Soussanin, "the weeping waiter," of Adolphe Menjou's films, but their marriage has been delayed until Baclanova's Soviet divorce is straightened out.

Kipling Story May Be Filmed

RUDYARD KIPLING'S famous story, "Kim," may soon reach the screen through the good offices of Joseph M. Schenck and United Artists. The rights to the fascinating tale were purchased years ago by Maude Adams, who, from time to time, has planned to produce the yarn as a play. Mr. Schenck is at present negotiating with Miss Adams for the film rights, and if he secures them the picture will be made as a talkie.

There are at least two players in Hollywood who are not the least worried regarding the renewal of contracts which are about to expire. One is Edmund Lowe, whose five-year agreement with Fox expires within a few months. The talkies have given Lowe's stock a tremendous boost, as he has had stage training and possesses an exceptionally fine recording voice. The second actor is Robert Armstrong, whose Pathe contract is at an end. Armstrong was picked for pictures while appearing locally in a stage play. This was a year ago, and during that time the player has appeared in some 15 Pathe pictures. At present he is working on talking sequences in "Leathernecks," in which he, Bill Boyd and Alan Hale share honors.

Son of Stage Idol in Films

COSMO KYRLE BELLEW, son of the famous stage idol, Kyrle Bellew, has been signed for an important role in Pathe's "The Missing Man," one of the first audible pictures to be made on the Pathe lot. Mr. Bellew received thorough stage training prior to his venture in pictures, which began a few months ago.

Another wanderer returning to the Hollywood fold is Lya De Putti, who is now speeding from New York toward the cinema city. Lya arrives home on Thursday after a number of weeks spent in the metropolis and at various eastern seashore resorts. Lya is vastly interested in aeronautics and hoped to fly her own plane across country. However, she has not yet obtained her pilot's license and still relies on the Santa Fe for transportation.

Bolm Ballet Next In Bortz Series

The Adolph Bolm Ballet, presenting 25 performers, will be seen Monday evening in the Carnegie Music Hall as the next event in the Bortz concert series. The dance program to be presented will include interpretations of music by Mozart, Bach, Mendelssohn, Chopin, Schumann, Tschaikowsky, Saint-Saens, Stravinsky and Ravel.

DRYS WIN MORE STRENGTH IN CONGRESS

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(INS.)—The prohibition law, otherwise known as the Volstead act, stood immune today to material change or modification for another two years at least, as the drys gained strength in both House and Senate of the new Congress.

The drys virtually swept the senatorial elections, with 27 drys elected to seven wets. In the House, the drys gained slightly while the small wet bloc lost a few members.

The generals of the Anti-Saloon League army hailed the election returns as a great moral victory. They not only had supported Herbert Hoover against Alfred E. Smith, but they succeeded in winning all five senatorial contests in which they marked down wet candidates as doomed to destruction.

NOTED "WETS" BEATEN

Among their victories, the drys listed the defeat of Senator Edward I. Edwards (Dem.), of N. J., and Senator William Cabell Bruce (Dem.), of Maryland, two of the outspoken wet leaders of the Senate. The drys likewise had thrown down a challenge to the wets in the Illinois, Ohio and Delaware senatorial contests, in which drys were elected.

The victories of Theodore E. Burton (Rep), of Ohio, an ardent dry; Otis F. Glenn (Rep.), of Illinois, another outspoken dry, and John G. Townsend (Rep.), of Delaware, all over wets, were classed almost on a par with Hoover's landslide, so far as the dry leaders were concerned. They had marked the opponents of these three for defeat along with Edwards and Bruce. Another dry-over-wet victory was recorded in Pennsylvania where Senator David A. Reed (Rep.) defeated a wet opponent.

SEVEN "WETS" WIN

The seven wet victories in senatorial contests were in Massachusetts, New York, Washington, Wisconsin, Rhode Island, Connecticut and New Jersey.

In the House election, the drys boasted most of the defeat handed out former Representative John Philip Hill (Rep.), of Maryland, ex-wet leader of the House, who tried to stage a comeback. Hill lost to another wet, but the drys looked on this as a victory.

The present House has 63 outspoken wets. The new House probably will have but 55 to 60. The drys claim a victory in that they gained slightly while prohibition was being discussed on political platforms from one end of the country to the other.

Ashes of Dr. Crane to be Brought Home

NICE, France, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—The body of Dr. Frank Crane, American writer, who died here yesterday, was taken to Marseilles today for cremation. Death was due to a cerebral hemorrhage following a long illness.

Mrs. Crane and her adopted daughter, Katleen Crane, will accompany the ashes to America on November 14. The party was on a world cruise and expected to leave for Japan this month.

Congratulations To G. O. P. Team From Dawes

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Vice President Charles G. Dawes last night sent telegrams to Herbert Hoover and Senator Charles Curtis, congratulating them on "a great victory."

In his telegram to Hoover, the vice president said: "Congratulations upon your great victory and best wishes for a successful administration."

To Curtis he wired: "Sincere congratulations upon your great victory and best personal wishes."

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

BY HAVEY J. BOYLE

HE HAD just returned from the East where a playbill of the famous Provincetown Theater announced that he had directed a recent stage offering there. I hadn't seen him for a long time, not since a very long time ago when the term "college boy" carried almost a sinister implication among mill boys of the district. He had injected some of the collegiate atmosphere into an amateur football game staged by some Carrick boys against a team from neighboring Mt. Oliver. As I remember it the score was not close. The colors of Carrick were drooping while the banner of Mt. Oliver was waving giddily in the breeze. But he was a staunch Carrickite and after our once intrepid, but now forlorn forces were trying to get some order out of a hasty retreat my friend rallied the beleaguered Carrick boys and organized us into a faint, yet heroic locomotive yell for C-A-R-R-I-C-K.

That was between halves, as I remember it now, and while most of us Carrick boys were willing to die for dear old Carrick, I always remember how the Mt. Oliver boys sat around, smoking cigarets and chewing tobacco, while paying curious attention to the rallying cry of their Carrick enemies.

In the final half, Mt. Oliver rolled up even a larger score, and ever since that time I have been skeptical of the value of cheer-leading. Probably it was on account of what happened that day that I began to smoke and gave up cheering almost entirely.

FUNNY, that meeting my friend should recall an insignificant football game, but his enthusiasm that day, as you see, has stayed in memory long after the score and other incidents, excepting a kick in the neck I received, passed out of recollection.

I met him the other night in Carnegie Tech's little theater. His name is Theodore Viehman, member of an old and well-known South Side family. He studied drama at Tech, later reached the faculty, and now he has just came back from directing a play in the theater where Eugene O'Neill found, I believe, first expression.

* * *

HE is just another local boy who has made good and he promised the other night to give me a list of the large number of boys and girls who have attended Tech's fine dramatic school and who now are making good on the rialto in New York, in Hollywood, in many places.

That night in the little theater at Tech there was produced a play by Don Marquis on what Christians believe is the most sublime theme in the history of the world. "The Dark Hours" is the title of a play which recounts what happened on Good Friday, 1928 years ago. It was staged excellently by Chester Wallace.

I SAT with a lady, Joy Higgins, who is to present the play in New York in the near future. She wanted, or pretended she wanted, to know how the play struck me. I have praised it and I mentioned that for a fleeting moment a young student named Irene Tredow as Mary of Magdala revealed a spark of acting magnificence.

* * *

After having seen Chester Wallace's students, I'm going to be for Tech even if Chick Meehan and his New York University team does beat the Tartans. Moorhead and Harpster are fine, but so are Garland Kerr, Thomas Lewis, Arthur Sprenkle, John Woolley, Frank Sullivan, Florence Wakefield, Lee Mitchell, Lewis Harr, George Phelps and Leo Daschbach.

Killed

JOHN L. NYE

John L. Nye, police chief of Edgewood borough, is dead today. He was instantly killed when he was hurled from his motorcycle when it skidded against a tree on Mifflin avenue, near Overton street, Wilkinsburg. Nye was chasing alleged violators of the motor vehicle law.

Saves Vote by Delaying His Moving

In order that he might not lose his vote, the Rev. Dr. Ralph B. Urmy, former pastor of the Bellevue Methodist Episcopal Church, now editor of the Pittsburgh Christian Advocate, remained until after election in the same precinct in Avalon in which he had resided for seven years. He cast his ballot, then completed arrangements for moving next Friday to 3113 Perrysville avenue, North Side.

LEGION ELECTS OFFICERS

John E. McKee was elected post commander of American Legion Post 99 of the tri-boroughs at the annual election of officers. Other officers are Anthony Wally, senior, and C. J. Stankiwicz, junior vice commanders; H. J. Limbacher, adjutant; Thomas C. Quinn, finance officer; Dr. Thomas H. Snowhite, chapalin; A. S. Ashburner, chairman of the executive council, and Albert Parlak, Joseph R. Shermer, A. L. Shedlock, E. H. Dressler, John Mulligan and J. S. Goldstein, members of the executive committee. The officers will be installed at the November meeting.

Light Co. Players Will Aid Benefit

The Duquesne Light players will present "Quarantine," a one-act playlet, in St. John's Lutheran Church, Monongahela and McClure avenues, Swissvale, tomorrow evening. The Gleaners' class of the church is sponsoring the performance.

Traction Board O. K.'s Transmission Line

Construction by the Pittsburgh Railways Company of transmission lines on Thirteenth street between Liberty avenue and Etna street, as provided in a pending ordinance, has been indorsed in a letter forwarded to Council by the Traction Conference Board.

EDGEWORTH VOTES $150,000 BONDS TO COVER STREAM

Edgewood borough will cover 2,280 feet of Nine Mile Run the voters of the borough sanctioning the bond issue of $150,000 for that purpose. The bonds carried by nearly 800 majority.

The complete vote in seven districts was 1,344 for bonds and 415 against them.

Overflows and sewage seepage have caused damage to adjoining property at certain seasons of the year and holes washed in the run have made it dangerous for the children of the borough playing near it. The covering will be from the Wilkinsburg borough line to the city of Pittsburgh.

Wheeled to the Polls! :-: Oldest Resident Votes

MRS. BERTHA E. KEARCHER

Mrs. Bertha E. Kearcher, wife of Alderman C. P. Kearcher, 923 Carson street, voted even if it were necessary to carry her to the polls in a wheel chair. Election day was the first in four months that Mrs. Kearcher had left her home. With her husband, she was seriously injured in an automobile accident July 22, near South Park. The ballot above is for Hoover, she says.

MRS. GRIEBLE ARMSTRONG

Mrs. Catherine Grieble, 84, the oldest resident of the Fourteenth District, Seventeenth Ward, is another Hooverite. For 80 years she has lived in the Seventeenth Ward. County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong is talking election with Mrs. Grieble as she leaves the booth. "I have never picked a loser," Mrs. Grieble said.

Donations Asked For Children's Home

Women of the Bellevue Methodist Episcopal Church are receiving donations for annual founder's and donation day of the Robert Boyd Ward Home for Children, Bigelow boulevard. They are asking gifts of bedclothing, fruits, vegetables, groceries and dainties. At the annual dinner at the home tomorrow night Bishop A. W. Leonard of Buffalo, N. Y., will speak.

HURT IN CRASH, GIRL DIES

Gladys Thorpe, 20, of 1479 Park boulevard, Dormont, died in Mercy Hospital yesterday from injuries suffered when an automobile, carrying two couples, ran wild in Warrington avenue earlier in the day and crashed into a pole at West Liberty avenue. Others injured, all seriously, are Mary J. Nixon, 21, of 423 Layton avenue, Mt. Lebanon; D. E. McGuire, 27, of Parkersburg, W. Va., and Edwin Talbott, 26, of 237 Castle Shannon road, Castle Shannon. They are in South Side Hospital.

IMP TRICKS ART SAVANTS; CARNEGIE CANVAS ASKEW

For three weeks thousands of persons passing through the Carnegie galleries at the twenty-eighth International have paused, catalog in hand, and rubbed a hand over a bewildered brow as they studied the figures and the title, "The Fossil Hunters."

Apparently the work, an immense mass of black and blue print, was no puzzle to those in charge, however, for there it hung in a position to be coveted by any artist in such a world-famous collection.

But imagine one's embarrassment especially that of an official or a critic who had "understood" the painting perfectly—to hear that the artist, Edwin Dickinson, had telegraphed from Provincetown an emphatic request that his picture be placed right side up, instead of sideways. The request was heeded instantly and today those puzzled thousands may view the picture in a new light, whether or not it becomes more understandable to them.

The god that guards and inspires things art-y, with his tongue in his cheek, had played on art officials of international fame, likewise artists; critics from the East and West and everywhere, and the dear old public one of his very impish tricks.

No doubt the officials were most perturbed when they discovered that the picture had been hung for three weeks—and in the wrong way. A blanket of silence governs attaches and employes of the galleries. They smiled knowingly to curious, even nabby questioners. They shrugged their shoulders.

But it seems likely that when the artist saw his picture reproduced in the catalog he immediately corrected the error. And knowing artistic temperaments about such errors, it is hazarded that he wired, and it is further believed the wire may not have been lacking in force.

But while the joke of the art god may have been a mockery and a jocular trick, no one can say that it is not without a certain shallowness.

Because, with the picture hung the way Edwin Dickinson, Provincetown (Mass.) artist, intended, there still remains for the untutored this question; "Well, what does it mean?"

DIRECTIONS: HANG TO SUIT

"FOSSIL HUNTERS"

For three weeks, "The Fossil Hunters," a large canvas by Edwin Dickinson, American artist, hung in Gallery 8, Carnegie Institute International Art Exhibit lengthwise, when it should have been hung up the other way. The change was obvious Monday, when it appeared "long-side up." It is a study in blues and many have admired the craftsmanship, upside down or otherwise.

RECORD VOTE IN NORTH BOROUGHS

All records for voting in the North Boroughs were shattered by the rush to polls at yesterday's election.

From the time the polling places opened until they closed at 7 p. m. boards had not a moment's rest. The steady stream of men and women filing past the election officers was maintained all day. The mass of the voting was early and few were reported unable to cast ballots by reason of being crowded out in the last-minute crush.

Some of the boroughs reached 85 per cent of total registration as compared with an average of 50 per cent.

Many districts called for extra ballot boxes. In Bellevue Chief of Police Daniel Rosemeier was kept on the jump delivering additional boxes. Nearly all precincts in Bellevue exhausted their supply of blanks for taking affidavits of persons whose names did not appear on the registry lists. All such were required to take oath that they had paid taxes and had resided for at least two months in their voting district.

Hundreds had not been registered, the election revealed, either because of having moved into the boroughs in recent months or because the register assessors in their house-to-house canvass had failed to obtain their names.

Election officers in one precinct of the Third Ward, Bellevue, were reported to have refused to allow unregistered persons to vote unless they could show a tax receipt, declining to accept their affidavits.

Women obeyed the injunction to "vote early" and this in large measure enabled workers a chance to vote after hours of employment.

Approximate figures of registration in the North Boroughs follow: Bellevue, 5,500; Avalon, 3,500; Ben Avon, 1,140; Emsworth, 1,250; West View, 2,200.

Canada's Veterans Will Parade Here

Pittsburgh Branch No. 7, Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League, will participate in the Armistice Day parade November 12 as a unit of the third division, which forms at Fifth avenue and Marion street. The Canadians assemble at 9:30 a. m. at Locust and Marion streets. The next meeting of this post will be held at 8 p. m. November 16 at Hotel Henry. Several new members are to be initiated.

Speed Up Ordinance On Kelly Street Work

Council has requested the Department of Public Works to expedite the presentation of an ordinance authorizing improvements to Kelly street and Bennett street. Action was taken on a resolution presented by John S. Herron.

Butler Street in Bad Shape, Council Told

Butler street between Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh streets is filled with ruts and bumps that often wreck automobiles, according to a letter seeking relief which has been forwarded to Council by Joseph T. Peoples, 3621 Butler street.

Long Judge

JUDGE SWEARINGEN

Judge Joseph M. Swearingen has served more than 21 years on the bench of Common Pleas Court. He was born in Beaver county 74 years ago and began the practice of law in Pittsburgh in 1881. He was appointed judge of the newly established Common Pleas Court No. 4 in 1907, retaining that position until the consolidation of the four courts in 1912. He has been twice re-elected for a 10-year term. He lives in Prospect avenue, Ingram.

Further Drainage of Silver Lake Asked

Council has received a letter from the East Liberty Chamber of Commerce urging further drainage of Silver Lake as a health measure.

NIGHT RIDER TRIO ROBS 4, ESCAPES

A robber trio, believed to be the notorious "night riders" who have committed more than a score of holdups within the last two months, robbed four pedestrians on the North Side within an hour last midnight.

Using a stolen automobile the highwaymen drove along the curb and two of their number leaped out beside the walker, both flourishing revolvers.

The first victim was Adam Hoffman, of 2470 Shadeland avenue. Hoffman told police that the bandits, after taking his home money, leaped into the car and drove down Shadeland avenue.

An hour later John Rathgeber, of 416 Marshall avenue, was robbed of $2 and a fountain pen valued at $7 at Marshall and Kennedy avenues. The highwaymen stopped Rathgeber in a similar mannar, the police declared.

Felix Semash and John Greish, both of 1326 Westehn avenue were returning home early today when held up at Carsell and Fulton streets. Gerish was robbed of $80, he told police.

KIWANIS CLUB ORGANIZES

An organization meeting of the newly formed Kiwanis Club of the South Hills was held yesterday in the Mt. Lebanon Church, Academy avenue, Mt. Lebanon.

The following officers were elected to serve for the coming year: Ben F. Williams, president; James T. Hibbard, vice president; R. Alex Willson, secretary; Fred H. Slater, treasurer, and A. W. Stevenson, trustee. The directors elected were: Kenneth S. Burley, Dr. L. L. Greer, L. T. Rominger, Fred Haller, George M. Hawkins, W. R. McCaskey and P. W. Kinsey.

AGED MAN HURT BY AUTO

C. A. Dowdy, 73, of 512 South avenue, Wilkinsburg, received a fracture of his left leg when struck by an automobile driven by Calvin H. Smith, 805 Swissvale avenue. According to police Smith made a left turn into Penwood street from South avenue and hit Dowdy who was walking. Dowdy was taken to the Columbia Hospital by Smith, who was arrested and released on $500 bond for a hearing later.

Joyce Post Names Card Party Chairman

Mrs. P. J. Logue is general chairman of the committee which has arranged for the card party to be held in Guild Hall, 5920 Center avenue, next Friday evening at 8:30 o'clock, under the auspices of Kathryn Mae Joyce Post No. 509, American Legion. Bridge, euchre and "500" will be played. Assisting Mrs. Logue are Mrs. E. M. Myers, in charge of refreshments; Mrs. M. A. Youngbauer, in charge of cards, and Miss Mary Timmins, in charge of prizes.

Dance Arrangements Completed by Post

Arrangements are complete for the annual ball of North Boroughs Post No. 116, American Legion to be held Friday night in the Bellevue borough hall. At least 100 couples will attend, according to indications. Proceeds will go toward providing permanent quarters for the post.

Will Rogers Says

NEW YORK, N. Y., Nov. 7.

It was so quiet here yesterday it was like "Yom Kippur" instead of election. Taxicabs were rushing back and forth taking voters from one precinct to another.

We have to put on a new version of our show after election—got a Hoover and Smith version just waiting.

The South will give the Republicans no more votes than they ever did. Only this is the only time they have ever counted 'em.

Both men's fate is in the hands of the counters. That's like trusting yourself to a woman jury. I would rather have counters on my side than "issues." I want to hereby be the first defeated candidate to claim "a moral victory."

Yours, WILL ROGERS.

EVERY ONE HAS CHANCE FOR ONE OF 586 PRIZES

This is the last day on which to submit advertisements in competition for the 586 prizes to be given by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph for the best ads turned in by amateur writers during the sixth period of the $15,000 Zain Ad-Test. Ads must be in this office not later than midnight tonight.

The first prize for the period is $100. Fifteen prizes will be given for the 15 best ads about each of 39 local business concerns, a list of which, with the rules for the test, will be found elsewhere on this page. The ads must be written about the business, products or service of these firms.

Rules for Sun-Telegraph-Zain $15,000 Ad Test

1—$15,000 in cash and prizes distributed over seven weeks.

2—$1,000 for best ad submitted during entire campaign. Winners to be selected by committee of Pittsburgh advertising men and women.

3—Ads for sixth period must be received by midnight, November 7. Ads arriving after that time will be automatically entered for the next period.

4—Ads submitted for the grand prize must be received before midnight on November 15, 1928. In order to compete for grand prize contestants must have submitted at least one ad on each concern listed.

5—One person may submit any number of ads. The test may be entered at any time. Ads may be written about any one or all, or any product or all, of the concerns listed.

6—Write only one ad on one piece of paper. Place name of advertiser at top. Sign YOUR name and address plainly on BACK of each sheet. Also on the flap of each envelope. SEND TO THE ZAIN AD-WRITING TEST, CARE OF THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH, PITTSBURGH, PA.

7—Ads are to become property of advertiser to use in any manner he sees fit. No ads returned. No subscriptions necessary. No blanks to sign. No entrance fee required. No coupons to clip. All professional ad writers and newspaper employes barred.

SPECIAL PRIZES

The following special prizes, in addition to the $15,000 in prizes originally announced, are offered in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Zain Ad-Test:

CRUIKSHANK BROS. offer one case of "Cru-Bro" Jelly (2 doz.) for each of the five best ads submitted each period, as selected by this concern.

If the $1,000 grand prize ad be written about the GENERAL HOMES CORPORATION, this firm will give to the winner $1,000 on the purchase price of a home in Marshall Manor, Brighton road and Marshall avenue.

THE TERRHEYDEN COMPANY, 530 Smithfield street, offers two prizes for the sixth period. For the best ad written by a man they will give a "Firefly" smoking set. For the best ad written by a woman, they will give a "Swan" pen and pencil set. These awards go to persons exclusive of the newspaper winners.

THE PEOPLES NATURAL GAS CO. will give a Humphrey Radiant Fire Heater to the person writing the best ad about their firm each period of the Zain Ad-Test.

POTTER TITLE & MORTGAGE GUARANTEE CO. offer $10 in gold to each writer of the five best ads submitted on the subject of "Title Insurance" during the entire Ad-Test.

MAX AZEN offers a $100 Fox Scarf for the best ad on their store during the entire Ad-Test. If the $1,000 grand prize ad is about their store the writer will receive a $500 natural squirrel coat.

H. K. ELLIOTT CO. offer a pair of binoculars for the best ad written about their business during entire Ad-Test; a Moore Pen Desk Set for second best ad; and a fountain pen for each of the three best ads each period.

HALLER BAKING CO. offer a book of ten tickets for Haller's Special Family Bread for each of the five best ads each period, exclusive of the five newspaper winners.

FEDERAL TOBACCO CO. will give one box Arco Specials to each of five winners on this product each period.

TECH ICE CREAM will give a gallon of ice cream for each of the five best ads on their product each period, exclusive of the first five winners selected by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

$1,000 GRAND PRIZE

Ads received after midnight tonight will be automatically entered for the seventh period, in competition for the grand prize of $1,000 to be awarded for the best ad submitted during the entire course of the test. To be eligible for it you must write at least one ad about each of the 39 concerns.

In addition to the prizes mentioned, all of which are given by the Sun-Telegraph, there are a number of special prizes offered by the co-operating firms.

Professional ad writers and newspaper employes are barred from the test. That means that persons without any experience whatever in ad writing have as good a chance as anyone else to win prizes.

You do not have to know anything about the technique of advertising to write a prize-winning ad. It is the idea that counts, and it may be expressed in a few words—as a slogan, for example, or a jingle, or a letter. A few minutes of writing may win a valuable award.

STUDY FIRMS' ADS

Study the advertisements of the co-operating firms. Visit their stores and ask questions. Use their goods and service. That is the best way to get material for your ads.

Pickering's well-known furniture store at Tenth street and Penn avenue, famous for its old slogan "Your credit is good," will furnish a multitude of ideas for effective ads. There are so many interesting bargains at Pickering's that your only trouble will be to give an adequate notion of all that the store has to offer in the space at your disposal. But remember that a powerful ad can be written in a few words.

There is a F. H. Butler store near you, and there is sure to be something there that you want. The groceries handled by Butler's are of the best quality and the prices are attractive. You can follow no better plan in getting material for your ad than to visit a Butler store, look around, and make a purchase. You will be glad you did.

In your ad about the Glick Auto Supply Company, 3534-3542 Bigelow boulevard, you should feature United States Royal Tires and Willard Batteries. They are the last word in excellence. The mileage you will get from the tires, and the durability of the batteries, deserve the attention of all motorists.

POINTS TO REMEMBER

A point to be remembered in writing your ad about Sam's Umbrella Shop, 635 Penn avenue, is that it is "Pittsburgh's only Exclusive Shop" dealing in rain sticks. Umbrellas are to be found at Sam's in great variety, both as to materials and prices. And don't forget that Sam's not only sell new umbrellas but repair old ones.

Write each ad on a separate sheet of paper, which should be at least as large as a postal card, and preferably commercial letter size. Put your name and address on the back of each sheet, and also on the flap of the envelope in which you mail them. SEND THE ADS TO THE ZAIN AD-WRITING TEST, CARE OF THE PITTSBURGH SUN-TELEGRAPH, PITTSBURGH, PA.

Dry Violator Sent Home to Children

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 7.—Feeling that she was needed at home even if she was guilty of violation of the liquor laws, Judge James I. Brownson suspended sentence in the case of Agnes Blazic, of Chartiers township, who has 17 children.

P. & L. E. Recalls 30 Firemen, Enginemen

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 7.—The Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad Company has recalled 26 firemen and 10 enginemen. These have been furloughed for many weeks.

LORRAINE MORGAN

Here we find Miss Lorraine Morgan, cigaret girl at the William Penn Hotel, deep in thought. Miss Morgan has just had an inspiration for an advertisement to be submitted in the $15,000 Zain Ad-Test.

BRITISH LABOR CHIEF ATTACKS PACT ACTION

LONDON, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Ramsay MacDonald, Labor party leader, replying to the speech from the throne with which King George opened Parliament yesterday, was strongly critical of government's action with regard to the Anglo-French naval compromise.

The King had begun his address with a statement that his relations with foreign powers continue to be friendly and expressed his satisfaction with the signing of the Kellogg-Briand pact renouncing war.

MacDonald charged the government with hampering the activities of the League of Nations while professing to co-operate and with putting obstacles in the way of disarmament while terming it "assisting the league to formulate plans for general reductions of armaments."

Premier Stanley Baldwin, in reply, said the government knew it was going to be censured and that the time for a statement was during debate on a vote of censure.

The House was then adjourned.

N. Y. WOMAN IN CONGRESS

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Mrs. Ruth Pratt (Rep.) today holds the distinction of being New York's first woman congressman. She was elected over Philip Berolzheimer (Dem.) to represent the Seventeenth, or "Silk Stocking" district, which, however, includes some of the poorer residential district in addition to exclusive Park avenue. She is a widow, the mother of five children.

Retired Washington Livery Man Dies

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 6.—B. F. Sumney, 82, of 334 East Beau street, is dead at his home, following an illness due to a stroke of paralysis. Mr. Sumney was born in Nottingham township and had been a resident of Washington for 30 years. He was engaged in the livery business here for a long period. His wife, Mrs. Ella Donley Sumney, survives.

STEAM SHOVEL CUTS MAN

DOVER, O., Nov. 7.—Hugh Cox, 26, Knoxville, Tenn., escaped with cuts and bruises today when struck a glancing blow on the head by a steam shovel at Zoarville.

Kicking Landlady Sends Him to Jail

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 7.—Thirty days in jail was the sentence imposed upon John Korkowich, of Bentleyville, who confessed that he had beaten and kicked his boarding mistress, Mary Dorosdik, while intoxicated. He has been in jail since October 3, which means he will serve two months for the offense.

Smith Carries Foe's District by One Vote

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Gov. Smith carried the home district of Samuel Koenig, Republican leader of New York county, by one vote. Koenig resides in the Nineteenth election district of the Sixth Assembly District, and the vote was Smith 229, Hoover 228.

STOLEN LOVE

by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

Mrs. Barstow Calls on Aunt Evvie and Questions Her About Joan

"I WANT the wedding to be soon, but she's such a funny, shy little thing—I don't want to rush her too much. Do you suppose I could get her to consent to May?"

"May!"

"Or April—"

"Curtis—so soon?" Her heart sank.

"Soon? Call that soon? I'd be married now if she'd agree. Why don't you help me out a little? Tell her long engagements are unlucky. Go on—help me out—"

She touched his cheek with her delicate, blue-veined hand . . . Dear Curtis . . . how could she let him go?

So much to do. She'd babied him so. She had taken care of his clothes all his life, bought shirts and sox and ties . . . would Joan take all that from her too?

She remembered she hadn't sent that brown suit to the cleaner. She loved going into his room, the room he had ever since he was a little boy, and straightening this things. It made her feel necessary, beloved.

She sang, softly, a little off the key, as she gathered up plus fours, a golf sweater, and the brown suit, to be left in the hall closet for Annie to give to the cleaner tomorrow. Automatically her fingers searched the pockets for the memorandums and loose change he never remembered to take out.

A pink letter. She laid it on the bureau with a sniff. Anyone who would use pink paper, and purple ink . . . There was on envelope the large loosely formed words spelled themselves under her eyes . . . "Joan Hastings . . . disgrace . . . sailor . . . fifteen . . ."

The little song died on her lips.

CHAPTER XXIII.

"CURTIS!" His mother came into the library with the pink letter in her hand.

He saw it, even before she spoke. Damn it—he'd left the thing where she could find it! Why didn't he destroy it at once, as he should have done? And he stiffened, with unreasonable, shamed anger.

"Curtis, I found this"

"I didn't intend that you should. It was in a pocket, wasn't it?

Her delicate color rose, the wrinkled white hands began to flutter . . . he was hurting her so . . . pretending to think she had spied on her . . .

"Whenever Joan is concerned you're not yourself!" she said in her flat, toneless voice, with a hint of tears in it, "You know I came upon it by accident—"

"If that's the case—" He took it out of her hands, and tore it into shreds which he flung into the waste basket. "There's nothing more to be said. That's settled."

Curtis, you owe it to Joan to look into this."

"I don't agree with you."

The newspaper came up again, a wall between them.

"Of course, it is absurd," she went on with forced cheerfulness, "but all the more reason for speaking of it to Joan. At least tell her about it, and very likely she will know who sent it, and dispel all our doubts."

"Doubts!" He sprang up angrily, glaring at her with hostile, flashing eyes. The eyes of a stranger, not her son. "I have no doubts! Joan! My God, I'd as soon listen to gossip of you—"

She caught her breath sharply. "Yes, but if it were so—wouldn't you want to know it—now?"

He smiled at her pityingly. "Mother—I ask you—stop. If such rot were true I shouldn't be in love with her for the simple reason that it wouldn't be Joan. Now let's forget it. I have no intention of mentioning it to her—and neither have you."

"I'm sorry you choose to misunderstand," she said coldly.

He did not answer.

Mrs. Barstow felt guilty, going back to the Van Fleets again. She dreaded to think of Curtis' anger if he ever found out, but there was little likelihood of that.

Her gloved hand touched the bell firmly.

When Heeley, still wrapped in the red checked shawl, peered at her through the crack of the door she handed her a letter. "For the Misses Van Fleet," she said, "and will you tell them I'll wait for the answer?"

Heeley jerked a thumb in the direction of the drawing room. "She waiting—in there."

"Do her good to cool her heels," Evvie rumbled, with a sly look at Babe, huddled over the airtight stove, with her crochet. The more feminine and squeamish Babe became with advancing years, the coarser and more manly Evvie. She took a perverse delight in shocking and offending everybody.

"Who?" Babe quavered. "Who's in the parlor?"

Evvie rocked majestically, hands placidly crossed on her militant bosom. "Joan's mother-in-law," she guffawed.

"Evvie, please don't be funny. I think you ought to let me see that letter you put in your pocket. I saw you. It was meant for me, too, I know it was!" Her sharp little nose was pink as the shawl she was crocheting. "Is—is she married—Joan?"

"Not yet," Evvie returned amiably, enjoying the sensation she was creating, "but soon. No, don't stare at me like a dying calf, Babe. Girls do not marry you know. Especially Joan's kind—humph!"

"Not—not that boy—" Babe faltered.

Evvie's black brow darkened. "Shh—no. Somebody else, Barstow. His mother's here, and I believe I'll see her. Social climber of course. Come and watch me settle her. Heeley! Heeley, we'll have tea in the drawing room. Come Babe, don't primp—it's vulgar at your age."

"It's so cold in there. Couldn't we see her here?"

"We won't be in there long enough to get cold," Evvie said magnificently, making for the drawing room. Babe followed.

Lydia Barstow had thought she was prepared for anything, but certainly not this! A pair of antique scarecrows—patronizing her.

"And what did you say the name was?" the square, manly one with the bass voice rumbled.

But before she could answer the shriveled one with the frizzled hair said, "Barstow, sister. I remembered, because we had a laundress by that name—Della Barstow—"

"Probably no relation." Evvie boomed pleasantly. "One lump, Mrs. Barstow? Very interesting to meet our niece's prospective mother-in-law. Very interesting, indeed. Very nice of you to call, I'm sure."

Mrs. Barstow took the proffered cup, and set it on the small marble-topped table near her chair. "I have something serious to say to you," she said quickly. "Something that concerns me as well as you, since your niece is engaged to my son, as I stated in my note, I came to you because—because of an anonymous letter—"

Out of the corner of her eye she could see the one with the frizzled hair lean forward, clutch at her heart. But the square, manly one looked at her insolently in the eye.

"An anonymous letter. In my day they were dropped in the mre with tongs. Ladies didn't—"

"An anonymous letter, from Sausalito," Mrs. Barstow interrupted, struggling for composure. "I thought you should know of it. There was mention of disgrace Joan had brought to the family, and—"

"I don't feel in the least disgraced," Evvie rumpled, helping herself to bread and butter. But she had paled, Lyla Barstow's quick eye noted that. A little pulse began to beat in her temple.

A growing conviction that there was something to know, something this woman didn't want her to know, something sinister about Joan . . .

"A sailor from Goat Island—"

"No!" Babe cried, getting up and walking back and forth, dragging her long skirt like a train. "That's a lie. There was no sailor. I'm a Christian woman. I wouldn't lie to—to save my own honor—"

"It's quite safe, Babe," Evvie mumbled. "Quite safe. As safe as the navy. I'll thank you to go and lie down in your room. You are exciting yourself."

"Keep quiet, Evvie! I'm talking. You never let me talk. I was going to tell Mrs. Barstow there was no sailor. I'm a Christian though. I'll tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth—"

Two red spots burned in her withered cheeks. There came the exalted, uplifted look she saved for Sundays. She was rocking with emotion. "Let it cost what it may—"

Lyla Barstow leaned forward. She watched, fascinated. It was like seeing a battle between two pre-historic animals, the little pink snivelling one with hands like talons, and the tall, gorilla-like one with the black brows and the great fists like a man's. And she knew she had uncovered something, some festering family secret . . . Something that would save Curtis from Joan, something that would give her back her boy . . .

"I'll tell her, it's her right to know, Evvie. It is, it is—" Babe whispered, and her breath whistled in and out of her open wet mouth like the wind through a hollow tree.

"All right, tell her!" Evvie's big hands came together. Smack. As if she were shaking hands. "Tell her all about it, she probably knows already though, everybody does. It's so old. Tell her he wasn't a sailor though, even if he did die at sea. Tell her Papa just made him ship on a sailing vessel. Go on....what are you stopping for?"

The harsh, manly voice went on, taunting, though Babe had stopped and covered her face with the pink shawl.

"Tell her about the way he threw you over for Veronica. And Veronica and young Peter in the rose garden—that part is good—"

"Evvie," Babe moaned. "Stop. I—I—"

"You wanted to exhibit the family skeletons, didn't you? I'm helping you—so you won't forget anything. Now if you feel able to go with it—"

Still with the pink shawl over her eyes the little bent old woman crept out of the room. Lyla Barstow heard her crawling up the stairs, whimpering as she went, like an animal who has been hurt.

"Quite an exhibition," Evvie said. She pulled a large white handkerchief out of her petticoat pocket and blew her nose violently. "Quite worth your while coming over, wasn't it, Mrs...er.. Bloomsbury."

"Ah, yes. Babe remembered it by the laundress. I was thinking of Bloomsbury, a second girl we had—"

"Miss Van Fleet, I came here as any mother would—"

"You must excuse me if I'm a little unsympathetic," Evvie grinned sardonically, "I never was a mother—"

Loved, until—?

The other side of an amazing story you may have read in the newspapers—the tremendous true story of a famous star of the stage. Beautiful and alluring, loved by thousands—then shamed, and publicly spurned by the man who did not know he owed her everything!

DISGRACE! She heard them crying it out in the streets—and she knew that every household was reveling in the news of her shame.

For her it was like a city of flames. Where were they now—the men who had adored her, the women who had openly envied her fascination?

But surely, down at the theatre she would find friends—kinder hearts that understood her own, knowing that in her artist's nature there was no middle ground between wisdom and passion.

Yes—one! One friend—her loyal understudy who tells this vivid story. She understood, yet never dreamed what a bitter part she, too, would have to play.

Never dreamed that the brilliant young actor whom she loved, who lashed the ruined actress with terrible insults—was speaking to the woman who loved him perhaps even more! And then, swift as an avenger came the astounding climax in the lives of these three, the actress, her understudy, and the man they both loved—

But you must read for yourself this gripping revelation as it is told by the girl who lived through every heart-beat of it! Strange, tangled drama by the greatest playwright of all—Life!

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

THE NEXT TRAIN

By ELSIE KUMMER

NEIL ROWLAND smothered a savage "damn" as the two departing tail lights of the 5:15 winked knowingly at him. The third time this week he had missed it! Still breathing a little heavily after his sprint for the train, he glanced around and saw he was alone, except for a slender girl nearby. He grinned and shook his head impatiently. She looked at him uncertainly, and then, as if pleased by his wholesome appearance, smiled and observed:

"It does seem as if I could never make that train. I usually get here in time to see it pull out. My boss has just one more letter to finish every night with this result for me."

The two met several times under similar circumstances and soon Neil began to look for her. One evening, as they stood talking in the crisp autumn twilight, she gave an involuntary shiver.

"It's chilly out here," Neil ventured a little boldly. "Shall we go inside and wait?"

She assented smilingly, and preceded him into the brilliantly lighted waiting room. They found two seats under the large clock, "just as a reminder," she exclaimed laughing.

"What do you think of that poster just this side of the doorway?" Neil demanded, when they were settled. "The artist is my brother. My name is Rowland—Neil Rowland."

"I've often admired it, as I passed. The coloring is beautiful. And," she added slowly, "I am Adele Stiles."

They talked, as on other evenings, of books, music, golf and bridge with equal enthusiasm, and like children soon began comparing and exchanging confidences. Neil was fascinated with her; he loved to watch the small, rapt face, with its perfectly shaped mouth that revealed small, shining teeth. Her dark hair curled becomingly around the edge of her small felt hat, and when she raised sincere blue eyes to his, he began to think of something he might say that would cause her to do it again.

The time passed too quickly, and the five forty-five rumbled in. They managed to find seats together, and continued their pleasant conversation, when suddenly the thought was born in his heart—suppose such a girl should come to care for a man like him? He was not worthy of her. To be truthful, he had never given marriage a thought before; his studies and then his work and books had absorbed the long uneventful days and nights. Neil's thoughts were abruptly shattered, when at the conductor's slow drawl, "Craymoor," Adele stood up with a start and calling a quick goodbye was gone.

The days sped by until a week had passed, and they did not meet again. The more Neil thought of Adele, the more he wished to be with her again until the thought of her became an obsession. Her little gestures, her exclamations, the color rising and fading in a soft flush in her cheek, all became important to him. He was filled with vague foreboding, when, after deliberately missing their usual train several times, he failed to see her. It was as if she were a dream suddenly and completely faded into mist.

One evening Mr. Rowland, noting his son's depression and thinking to divert him from his thoughts, suggested, as he made ready for his weekly visit to the invalid friend of his youth:

"Neil, won't you come over to George's with me tonight? He seldom gets out, and a little gaiety and conversation will enliven and cheer him. He has a surprise for us, too—a crack cribbage player, some kin of his. That ought to be interesting enough."

Neil's first thought was to refuse, but after a glance at his father's eager face, decided. "All right, Dad. Be ready in two shakes."

As they went down the steps together, Neil forced himself to enter into the conversation with spirit, and as they neared their destination, found the walk had, indeed, been absorbing. He resolved to have more of these evenings with his father. Good old Dad!

"Well, George," Mr. Rowland demanded after the first greetings, and comments were exchanged. "Where is that expert cribbage player? It looks as if he had deserted you. Must be afraid to test himself with sharks."

George's eyes twinkled. "Oh, no," he answered. "There she is—my niece, Adele Stiles. You must remember her, Rowland. Some difference from 10 years ago, eh?"

As Neil saw her not 20 feet from him, in the softly glowing lamplight; he stood as a man bewildered, while his father bantered with Adele, pinching her cheek. Then recovering himself, Neil walked to her, and taking her hand murmured, "Adele, where did you hide yourself? I've missed you." The same Adele, with her deep, serious eyes, and sweet, smiling mouth.

That was just a beginning to the many long beautiful days spent together. Days by the side of the green-blue ocean, murmuring as they watched the endlessly, tumbling waves, shimmering and falling to creamy lather in the sun. Days of golfing, when the brisk Autumn air, and one's own sweetheart fulfilled the joy of living. Long evenings with books—evenings when a glance or touch of hands across the bridge table gave happiness for an hour. Then the first days of playing house in a tiny, cozy apartment, later filled with eager planning for a small dark-haired daughter.

Suddenly, Neil roused himself from his reverie, as other commuters came out of the waiting room at the thundering of the late train. He stood up, impatient to be off to his own fireside with his adoring ones, resolving staunchly never to take the Next Train.

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern

LITTLE GIRLS' SLEEVELESS DRESS.

Dainty and pleasing is this tiny model. It has comfortable fulness below yoke portions and an inverted plait at the center back. A neat collar finishes the neck edge. This dress is pretty in China silk, in dimity or dotted Swiss, or in voile or batiste. As pictured, it is of crepe de chine with tiny ruffles. Bands of insertion are also effective or ribon may be used for the ruffles.

The pattern for this little model is cut in four sizes: 6 months, 1 year, 2 and 3 years. It will require 1⅜ yards of 36-inch material to make the dress without ruffles—for a 2-year size. If trimmed as illustrated in the large view, 15 yards of ruffling or ribbon will be required.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

HOUSE-WORK TIRED HER

Finds Aid in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Plymouth, Wis.—"I am one of the women taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am proud to say it is good. I was so run-down that I didn't feel like doing anything and my mother told me to try the Vegetable Compound and I did. It did me good. I do my housework and also do all my garden work and I have a three-year-old girl to look after. I have told quite a few others to try the Vegetable Compound and I am willing to answer letters about it."—Mrs. Ed. Behr, R. 4, Plymouth, Wisconsin.

COMING STARS ON YEARLING ELEVEN

NOT only are Pitt men warranted in feeling highly gratified as far as the present football situation at the university is concerned, by reason of the recent remarkable improvement in the 1928 Panthers, but they may well look forward to the 1929 season with an unusual degree of confidence.

Skip Gougler

For on top of the great strides that Dr. Sutherland has made in developing this fall's green material that will be available again next year, the season to come will see the Blue and Gold's crop of playing timber enriched by the addition of some splendid prospects from the present freshman eleven.

UNDER the able coaching of Skip Gougler, Dick Booth and Buck Templeton, the Panther yearlings have been making an uncommonly impressive showing. Coach Bob Mitinger, of Kiski, whose team held the university freshmen almost even for three-quarters of their annual game last Friday, is authority for the statement that this season's freshman team is the most promising first-year Pitt aggregation that the Saltsburg school ever has played. And Kiski plays the Pitt freshmen every fall.

Incidentally, it seems certain that two Kiski alumni, Jim Clark and Ralph Daugherty, will be varsity men next year. They are among the most promising of the first-year players, have been starring in every game, and along with MacMurdo, Collins, Quatse, Murphy, McDowell and a couple of others are counted on to add strength to the 1929 Panthers.

CLARK is a powerful, fast ball-carrier and a well-rounded back. Daugherty is being converted from halfback into a center, which would indicate that Dr. Sutherland thinks he might fill the bill at the snapperback post on next year's varsity.

Kiski has a young end named Watt who looks like a comer. Vuchinich is the best boy in the backfield. The team is very green, there being only two holdovers from 1927.

Milford Berner

THE result of a football game sometimes makes a lot of difference in the amount of credit given to individual players. In other words, the work of a sterling gridder may be overlooked when his team suffers an overwhelming defeat. In last Saturday's game against Pitt, for instance, Syracuse showed several capable backs, but these men received little or no recognition for their fine play because the Orange was so badly beaten. The greatest difference in the work of the teams was in the line, the Panthers so far outclassing their much heavier opponents that the Orange backs had no real chance, after the first quarter, to show their stuff.

PITT'S splendid interference continually smothered the visiting ends and tackles, which meant that Berner, Sebo and Stevens, in the backfield, with some help from Baysinger, had to stop or try to stop, nearly every Pitt play. Berner proved one of the best defensive backs seen this season in Pittsburgh, while his mates showed only a little less effectively in this respect.

Coach Andreas' ends, however, added no laurels to their record, a choice selection of Orange wingmen alternating in the lineup and spending most of their afternoon gazing up from the ground at the flying figures of the Panthers. In the line, Winnick gave the impression of being a player who would shine under ordinary circumstances, and Ferris undoubtedly is a clever center.

FOOTBALL schedule makers are willing to bear witness as to the truth of the old saw that there's many a slip, etc. Pitt lost a date with Ohio State for this season because the Princeton-Harvard break made it possible for Dr. Wilce's team to book the Tigers for the open Saturday that was to have been given to the Panthers. Now Carnegie Tech has lost out at the eleventh hour in an attempt to book a game with the University of Wisconsin for next year.

The Badgers will not play here next year after all. Only yesterday, the proposed game looked to be as good as closed. Nothing remained to be done but to fix the time. But when Manager Clarence Overend of the Tartans received a telegram from the Wisconsin chiefs on this final detail, the whole thing had to be called off until 1930, as the dates offered by the Badgers were October 5 and 12, and the Skibos were already booked for both of those Saturdays.

Rube Walberg

THOUGH disappointed at the falling-through of the Wisconsin game, Manager Overend is still hopeful of being able to close for a meeting with Georgia Tech for next year. The management of the Golden Tornado reports that it is continuing its efforts to rearrange its schedule in a way to provide a date that will be acceptable to Carnegie. However, if a date is finally offered, and it happens to be one on which Pitt will be using the stadium here, the game will have to be played in Atlanta, the Georgians agreeing to come here the following season. If the Crackers come here next year, the Skibos will go to Atlanta in 1930. Carnegie has closed all details for the game with Notre Dame to be played here next season. Pitt will go to South Bend to meet Notre Dame in 1929, but Rockne's famous eleven will appear against the Plaid in Pittsburgh on November 23, the Saturday before Thanksgiving Day. Meeting two opponents of the caliber of Notre Dame and New York University within a period of only six days will be some kind of an undertaking for the Steffenites.

A REPORT that Pitcher Rube Walberg of the Philadelphia Americans got a rise out of Connie Mack. "I have never even thought of selling or trading Walberg," asserted the veteran manager of the Athletics. "He will be with us again next season, beyond a doubt.

"I still think that Walberg is going to be one of the finest of left-handers. He has not yet quite found himself, but at any time he is apt to start out and burn up the league.

"SOUTHPAWS are often slow developing. It seems to take them longer than right-handers to find their poise, but when they arrive what an asset they can be to a team!

"I had Walberg since 1923, and in this time he has been quite

HORNSBY DECISION SOON

BOSTON, Nov. 7.—(INS.)—With Sunday sports advocates apparently having won the state-wide referendum, the fate of Rogers Hornsby was still in the balance today.

Persistent reports had been that the Rajah of baseball would be traded to the Chicago Cubs for $150,000 and two outfielders and an infielder. However, now that Sunday sports appeared assured, the Braves management, baseball experts said, may change their minds against trading the Boston player-manager to Chicago, using him as a drawing card on Sundays.

FUCHS SILENT

A majority of the cities and some of the towns reporting on the Sunday sports referendum favored Sunday baseball. Returns were slow in coming in because of the crush of counting ballots in the national and State races. A total of 846 precincts out of 1605, including 275 out of 338 in Boston gave: Yes 389,400; No 224,278 to the plan for legalizing Sunday sports in the Bay state.

Judge Emil Fuchs, president of the Braves, issued no statement regarding the vote or the possibility of trading Hornsby. He received returns until early morning and then went into seclusion.

The referendum to instruct state Senators to petition Congress for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment did not receive the vote on Sunday sports and the result was in doubt.

DECISION SOON

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—(INS.)—"The next 48 hours will see the deal go one way or the other," declared William L. Veeck, president of the Chicago Cubs, today in commenting on the proposed sale of Rogers Hornsby by the Boston Braves to the Clubs.

Veeck refused to comment on the Sunday baseball vote in Boston. He would not discuss reports that the favorable vote on the measure would hold up the deal, the Braves, it being understood, demanding more money for their star if Sunday play were permitted.

VOTE FOR BOXING

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Ten-round contests between professional boxers will be continued in California. Returns from 4,431 of 9,086 precincts in the state gave an overwhelming vote against an initiative measure which would repeal the present boxing law. The vote: For repeal, 242,153; against, 408,551.

ALBRIGHT HITS 298 IN DUX

George Albright, of Aspinwall, who rolled a 300 score in duckpins last season, turned in a 298 score while rolling on the Aspinwall Recreation Hall alleys last night. After turning in 11 straight strikes, Albright missed pins eight and nine in his twelfth effort.

Rolling on the same alleys last week, George got eight strikes in a row and finished with 276.

THREE BILLIARD TILTS TONIGHT

Three games will be played in the Pittsburgh Three Cushion Billiard League tonight. At Crookston's, in East Liberty, Joe Mackin, of Clark's room, McKeesport, will meet Matthew McClure, of Crookston's; Robert Carter, winner of last year's league is to meet George Pitfield, of Dimlings, at Kalmer's and William Greenwood and Dale Campbell, both of Ellis' are to meet at the Ellis room, Diamond street.

English Soccer Team Tops Scots

LONDON, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—A team representing the English Soccer League defeated a Scottish League eleven by 2 goals to 1 today. Games between the English and Scottish Leagues began in 1892 and have resulted as follows: English League won 20; Scottish League 7; drawn 7.

Jeannette Dux Star Rolls 300 Score

JEANNETTE, Pa., Nov. 7.—The first perfect duckpin score ever recorded in the history of bowling in Westmoreland county was turned in by Harry Houser, of Jeannette, when he rolled 12 straight strikes for a 300 tally on the Fifth Avenue bowling alleys.

HOPE TO STOP TARTANS SATURDAY

FULLBACK BARABAS

Steve Barabas, Georgetown's hard-hitting fullback, is rated one of the best backfield men in the East. He carries the ball well either through the line or around the ends and is an accurate passer. In the big game with Carnegie Tech at Albany, N. Y., Saturday, he will be called on to match his wares against big John Karcis, the Plaid fullback.

CAPT. CARROLL

WAGNER FIRST TO K. O. SID

By HARRY KECK, Sports Editor.

IF Eddie (Kid) Wagner, the elongated lightweight boxer of Philadelphia, never does another thing of merit he always will be able to point with pride to one notable accomplishment in his career, and that is the first knock-out defeat of Sid Terris, the New York star. He turned the trick in 1924, when Terris was being touted as a sure thing to become the lightweight champion of the world. Eddie smacked Sidney during the sixth round and he stayed smacked for the count. Since then all of the boys have been chipping the glass out of Sid's chin bone. But it took Eddie to prove that the speedy Terris could be caught up with and socked down.

Eddie (Kid) Wagner

Wagner, who meets Young Rudy, of Charleroi, in the 10-round main bout at Motor Square Garden next Monday night, now is under the management of Billy McCarney, veteran handler of boxers, of New York, whose greatest protege was none other than the late Luther McCarty, who looked like the best of the white hope brigade until he was killed in a bout with Arthur Pelky in 1912. Max (Boo Boo) Hoff, of Philadelphia, was Wagner's first manager, and, in fact, Eddie-the-Kid was Boo Boo's first fighter. Wagner has just passed his twenty-eighth birthday and has been boxing since 1920. For a time he campaigned as a featherweight, then as a junior lightweight and now he is a full-fledged lightweight.

A recapitulation shows that he has boxed five champions either before or after they became titleholders, the same being Kaplan, Dundee, Mandell, Goodrich and Latzo. Most of these he fought more than once. Cuddy DeMarco, the local lightweight champion, has been met three times by Wagner in 10-round bouts, one decision going to each and the other battle being a no-decision affair. They boxed at Motor Square Garden, December 10, 1923, with Cuddy winning. This was Wagner's only appearance in Pittsburgh.

From Manager McCarney comes some dope on the recent doings of Wagner. He points out that he has whipped Lope Tenorio, the Filipino; Bruce Flowers, the New York Negro, and King Tut during the last year and that just a month before Champion Mandell so decisively whipped Jimmy McLarnin in New York he was extended to win over Wagner in Detroit. Wagner has beaten Maxie Strub, of Erie, three times, twice in Erie and once in Cleveland.

Speaking of boxers and whatnot, an Eastern writer, in reporting the Paulino-Von Porat heavyweight battle in New York Monday night, referred to Paulino as —of all things!—the well-known human being.

THE world champion Yankees are going to have four southpaws on their pitching staff next year, Pennock, Heimach, Zachary and Ed Wells, former Bethany College and Detroit star, who was in the Southern Association during the past season. And the Pirates tried to get by with only Russell throwing them with the wrong arm during most of the 1927 campaign.

The smart eggs of sportdom will have to find some other fall guy to blame all of the crooked stuff on now that Arnold Rothstein, the gambler, is dead, the victim of a murderer's bullet. Every time there was a big upset, like a funny-looking world series, or a fight with a clouded outcome, or anything else that didn't look just right, the boys at once looked for angles involving the celebrated Rothstein and his side-kick, Abe Attel, the former featherweight champion. No one ever was able to pin anything on them, from the Black Sox series of 1919 down to the two Tunney-Dempsey fights, but that didn't keep the gang from pointing the finger of suspicion at them, anyway, and living up for a block to find out how the pair were betting and trying to get down their shekels the same way.

JAMES M. (RED) MASON writes from Chicago that after next Monday night's fight with Eddie (Kid) Wagner his Young Rudy will change his name to Rudy Young. That's what we in a newspaper office simply call making a transposition. Just how Mason figures changing his fighter's name at this stage will help him either as a boxer or as an attraction is not easy to understand, but he could do worse. He might, for instance, call him Rudy Ceder the Second or after the late Rudolph Valentino, whom it is said he might resemble if his facial features were different.

CORNELL BEGAN IN 1887

KISKI BATTLES ARMY PLEBES TODAY

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 7.—The grid warriors of Kiski meet up with the Army Plebes here this afternoon in a game that promises much action. Coach Bob Mitinger, Advisory Coach Jim Marks and his large squad arrived on the scene of action this morning for their test here late this afternoon. The game will not get under way until 3:45 o'clock, due to the regulations of the Military Academy.

Several radical changes are expected in the Kiski lineup today as a result of their defeat at the hands of the University of Pittsburgh Freshmen last week. The team is in a fighting mood, however, and the service men are expected to have a real job on their hands.

Both teams are in fine physical fettle and a contest with the breaks of the game featuring is anticipated. The probable lineup:

Kiski.		Army Plebes.
Watt	L. E.	Lankenau
Komora	L. T.	Price
Gallus	L. G.	Darcy
Blackson	C.	Bunker

TARTANS IN FINAL DRILL

By JESS CARVER.

DR. RICHARD BOOTH, known merely as Dick prior to his acquiring a dental diploma, has figured out a sure fire way to break up an enemy's aerial attack.

"It is very simple," says Dr. Richard. "All you have to do is to get two halfbacks who are good hog callers. You put them back on secondary defense, and when the other team starts a pass, they immediately set up their yodelling, and the ball, being a pigskin, naturally floats toward them. And there you have the passing game shot to pieces."

But it's not the passing game of the Wash-Jeff football team, the next opponent on the Pitt schedule, that is bothering the coaches as they whip the Panthers into shape for Saturday's contest. Coach Sutherland is driving his backfield men on their already powerful tackle plays, which will be directed at the best set of tackles that Pitt has met this fall. In Jap Douds and Levine, Andy Kerr has a set of powerful defensive linemen, who have both the mental and physical ability of champions.

W.-J. CRIPPLES BACK

With Morty Robinson, Capt. Carlo Aschman and Douds back in the lineup after a two weeks' absence, the Presidents stack up as a formidable opponent. When the Dukes, Fordham and Carnegie Tech were running over W. and J. it was the general opinion that Pitt need not worry over the Wash-Jeff game. But with the fine comeback staged by the Kerrmen last Saturday against Lafayette, and with the three injured stars fit for play again, Pitt's task becomes a difficult one.

Bob Waddell will give his Tech Tartans their final home workout this afternoon prior to the team's departure for the game with Georgetown at Albany, N. Y., which is slated for Saturday. The Skibo squad, in charge of Graduate Manager of Athletics Overend, Coach Waddell and Student Manager Buckley, will leave tomorrow afternoon for Albany. The team may spend Friday in Rochester and not move on to the New York state capitol until the morning of the game.

In meeting Georgetown, Tech will be hooking up with a team defensively capable of holding the powerful attack of New York University in complete check while advantage was being taken of the breaks and the ball game was being put in the bag. Tech, Georgetown and the Army are undefeated, and along with Villanova, head the eastern championship ranking. It is possible that three of these elevens may meet defeat this week. Notre Dame may take the Soldiers, Temple has the power to come back and beat Villanova and Georgetown and Tech will do a bit of eliminating provided they do not wind up in a deadlock.

TECH LINEMAN HURT

Tech suffered the loss of a reserve lineman in yesterday's practice session. Helmbold, a reserve tackle, who was hurt prior to the opening of the season when he and his motorcycle tangled with a lamp post, cracking a shoulder blade, had the newly mended member injured again and will not be available for Saturday's contest.

Tech will likely start against the Hilltoppers with the same lineup that faced Pitt. Schnupp and Highberger figure in the call at the tackles, with Bob Schmidt riding the bench at the start. Harpster, Letzelter, Karcis and Moorehead will be in the backfield. Lovewell, Meilziner and Dresher should be in at the center of the line and Roschewelg and Sweet at the ends.

To return to Pitt and the Panther-President game, how about this guy Parkinson? Will he be fit to play this week?

Trainer Bud Moore has been working very carefully on the injured fullback. Dr. Ollie Kendrick says Tom's cracked up ribs are in fair shape, but the big fellow hasn't worked out as yet and until he runs about a bit and tries to loosen up all his breast and shoulder muscles, it will be impossible to get a line on his condition.

With Edwards hitting the line as well as he has been, and with Baker's presence almost imperative at quarterback, Pitt should be able to spare Tom for another Saturday. They'll need him at Nebraska, for out there, it will be absolutely necessary that the reserve material be as strong as possible. Wash-Jeff isn't any better off for replacements than Pitt, while the Cornhuskers have two teams of great weight and strength. Such a life.

JIM MOONEY

Weighing only 172 pounds, Mooney, Georgetown's star tackle, has been outplaying men who outscale him by many pounds. He is a hard charger and an intelligent lineman. He also is the team's star punter, and his fine booting contributed largely to the downfall of N. Y. U. last Saturday.

GEORGETOWN NO EASY MARK

By JESS CARVER.

RELUCTANT to make any untoward boasts of the prowess he expects his Hilltoppers to show on the gridiron this fall, Coach Lou Little, of Georgetown University, nevertheless was far from gloomy as he surveyed his prospects for the present campaign.

Reports from Washington, other than those given out by Coach Little, had it that Georgetown was to be represented by another fine eleven. The team already has chalked up five triumphs. Georgetown possibilities in a football way are of especial interest to Pittsburgh folk because of the fact that the Hilltoppers will be the sixth opponents of Carnegie Tech, facing the Tartans in Albany, N. Y., Saturday.

TEAM UNDEFEATED

Both elevents have battled through their games so far undefeated. Georgetown shook the country last week by downing New York University, spoiling Chick Meehan's hopes of an undefeated season. Tech has trimmed all of its local opposition.

A fast-charging, effectively interfering line, a typical Little forward wall, and a talented array of backs indicate that the team this year is on a par with elevens of the past three seasons. Capt. Jerry Carroll and Sam Cordovano have declared themselves "in" at the guard posts. Gene Driscoll, a converted fullback, is doing the heavy replacement work at one of the positions. Charley Walsh, Murphy, Eckert and Baldwin complete the list of guard candidates.

TACKLES STRONG

At the tackles, Liston, who played guard at times in 1927, and Jim Mooney are holding the starting jobs. Bob Flood, Montanus, Frieghan and White have been used at the positions as reserves and will continue to see replacement action.

Ken Provincial and Tomanini are the leading end candidates. Provincial is ranked among the best wingmen in the East. Gehringer, Shea, McGrath and McCarthy are other ends who have shown promise.

For his backfield, Coach Little has Hudack, Dwyer and Barabas, the line plunger who broke his leg in the Syracuse game last year, as holdovers from the '27 team. Five sophomore backs, all of whom have shown fine football ability so far, are being counted on to fill out the backfield and to serve as replacements. Duplin and Gardner have caught the eye of Coach Little by their speed and elusiveness. Johnny Bozek, who won all-American scholastic halfback honors in 1925; John Scalzi, Eddie Deary and William Marcus complete the roster of outstanding backs.

Duplin, Bozek, Hudak and Barabas started against New York and as they came out of the fracas without serious injury, they probably will be Coach Little's starting selections against Tech.

Georgetown has already met one Tri-State District team—West Virginia Wesleyan, which was defeated two weeks ago. West Virginia will complete the list of district opponents on the Hilltoppers' card, meeting the Washington eleven on November 17.

MINOR LEAGUERS MEET SOON

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

FOUR weeks hence the baseball magnates and many players will come out of temporary retirement to stir up the winter events. The minor-league fellows will make the first real gesture by gathering in Toronto early in December for their annual meeting.

The men who run the smaller circuits have been straying far from these parts to hold their yearly gatherings, their decision to come this way again being a welcome one. They went as far as Catalina Island several years ago and in a general way have traveled extensively to hold their reunions.

MEETING TO BE LARGE

Toronto is likely to give the baseball fraternity a rousing reception, and it is possible that the coming meeting will be one of the largest ever held by the backers of the sport who develop the rookies and recruits. Canada is sold on baseball, Montreal being a hotbed of interest since that metropolis annexed an International League franchise.

Most of the major-league magnates will be on the job in Toronto. Shortly after these deliberations and reunions are finished the big leaguers will gather for their own annual sessions.

The schedule arranged for the major conventions calls for action in New York and Chicago. The National League holds its meeting in New York, while the American League favors Chicago. This year Judge Landis will stage the joint meeting in the mid-western city, this arrangement making it necessary for the men of the senior circuit to rush to Chicago after finishing up their work in New York.

The National Leagues are due to convene in New York on Tuesday, December 11. They expect to leave the following day for Chicago where on December 13 the moguls of the two circuits will talk things over and perhaps enact some legislation with Judge Landis presiding.

CHILLYSAUCE

VIC ALDRIDGE, it is reported, may get another chance to show John McGraw he can pitch winning ball for the Giants. As you probably are aware, the Giant chieftain sent Victor to the Newark detention camp late in the season largely as a matter of punishment for holding out.

Aldridge didn't do much for the New York cause in joining the club after the season was under way. Then, too, able performances of one Burleigh Grimes doubtless had anything but a soothing effect on Boss McGraw and Vic's case reached a climax in the last month of the season when the Hoosier Schoolmaster was given a one-way ticket to Newark.

Instead of becoming disgusted with baseball things, Vic hustled over to Walter Johnson's club and won three well-pitched ball games. McGraw had him out on option, it developed, and Vic was recalled. In the event that he does not put over the holdout act again he may be left with the Giant entourage.

Fans throughout the country will watch closely the activities of the Washington Senators under their new leader—Walter Johnson. The heroic figure of the diamond, beloved by baseball followers everywhere, seems to engender doubts as to his managerial capacities through his easy-going tactics.

Johnson, however, did not have what he termed a Sunday School class in Newark, but if his players got away from him little was said of their antics on the big circuit. It may be that the year's training in the International League may be just the sort of experience needed by Johnson.

COLBERT NAMED PITT JUNIOR COLLEGE COACH

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Nov. 7.—Dr. Charles R. Colbert, of this city, will coach the Pitt junior college basketeers here during the coming season, according to announcement yesterday. More than 40 candidates were present at the session at which Dr. Colbert's appointment was disclosed.

The new coach was a member of the Pitt band for four years, being drum major in his senior year, when he also coached the Wilkinsburg Junior High cage team of his sophomore and senior years. Dr. Colbert is a former assistant football coach at Johnstown High.

PENNSYLVANIA BEST GRID STATE

By JOHN W. HEISMAN.

Former coach at Wash-Jeff., University of Pennsylvania, Georgia Tech and Alabama.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Where is football played the most and the best—in which state? Fifty years ago it was played entirely in Eastern colleges; but since then the game has spread into colleges, prep and high schools and normal colleges over the entire country.

For many years, Yale was "cock of the walk"—so much so that one had to yield the place of honor to Connecticut merely on the strength of that one college's excellence in the sport. But nowadays we have plenty of teams right in Yale's class and many states that can boast of five times as many teams as can the Nutmeggers.

Naturally one looks today for more football elevens in a section where there are most schools and colleges, and that again is in the most thickly populated sections. Thus it comes as no surprise to learn that there are more educational institutions putting out football teams in the Eastern states of New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio than in others. Illinois is another. Again, the states of Texas and California are not only large in area, but likewise in population, and the facts have it that many colleges and schools are to be found in both states.

EASTERN STATES LEAD

Counting up, however, with some care the football universities, colleges and schools of each of these states we find in truth that the populous Eastern states still lead.

So far as mere number in the list goes, Ohio leads with a total of 38 of all kinds of higher educational institutions that put out teams. Pennsylvania is close upon her heels with a total of 36. Then comes Illinois with 31, while New York comes last with 25.

Of course, there might be a few arguments in individual cases as to whether a certain institution, with a curriculum half way between that of a college and a prep school should be classed as a college or not. There I have had to use my judgment—and I have not included in any list or count institutions that have not achieved a football renown of some kind outside its own state.

I have further listed the institutions of each of these states into three groups or grades, first, second and third, according to their playing ability. Here again I had to rely entirely on my own judgment.

Scanning the totals I find that the states of New York and Pennsylvania are tied with 6 each of what I would call the first rank. Illinois has 3 first grade teams, while Ohio has only one.

OHIO LEADS SECOND GRADE.

Comparison of the second grade lists discloses Ohio in the lead with 14 of that classification, Pennsylvania with eight and New York third with five. Illinois I can give but three of this grade. In other words most all of Illinois teams are either very good—like Chicago, Illinois, or Northwestern, or else they slide into third rank.

Coming now to the third grade teams we find Illinois in the lead with 25, Ohio second with 23, Pennsylvania next with 22 and New York last with 14.

The result may better be grouped as follows:

	Penn	Ohio	N. Y.	Illin.
1st. Grade	6	1	6	3
2nd Grade	8	14	5
3rd Grade	22	23	14	25

Scanning the above we find that Illinois is so far back in her second grade list she can have small claim to the title of premier football state. New York is all right when it comes to first grade teams, but is far short on second and third grade. Ohio is hopelessly outclassed on number of first grade teams, but is very strong on both second and third rank. Pennsylvania has many of all three grades.

It would, therefore, be fair to say, I think, that Ohio leads in sheer number, while Pennsylvania and New York lead in quality. Considering both factors together, it would have to be conceded that Pennsylvania comes down the stretch in the lead.

GIANTS BEAT POTTSVILLE PROS

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—The New York Giants, champions of the National Professional Football League, defeated the Pottsville Miners, 13 to 7, in a league game at the Polo Grounds yesterday afternoon. Nearly 20,000 persons saw the game and a New York high school contest which formed a preliminary attraction.

The Giant outfit, although minus Bruce Caldwell, Jack McBride and Haggerty, outplayed the visitors all the way. Eckhart scored the first touchdown for the Giants in the second quarter and in the third Hinkey Haines ran 20 yards around right end for the other, Eckhart kicking successfully for the extra point. Pottsville avoided a shutout when Latone plunged across the goal line in the final period after a fumble had been recovered on the opposing 10-yard mark.

NORTH UNION ELEVEN STRONG

HOPWOOD, Pa., Nov. 7.—The North Union High School football team, with a record of five games won out of six played, looms as the likely district champion. Opening the season with a surprising 18-0 victory over Uniontown, the Northerners continued their fine play and so far have succeeded in keeping their goal line uncrossed.

Germantown High was the eleven able to hold North Union, playing the team to a scoreless tie.

North Union	18—Uniontown	0
North Union	20—Brownsville	0
North Union	6—Germantown	0
North Union	7—Waynesburg	0
North Union	33—Georges Twp	0

BOBCATS TO PLAY TWO GRID TILTS NEXT WEEK

BUCKHANNON, W. Va., Nov. 7.—A long signal drill was the work of the Wesleyan Bobcats as they prepped for their game with Salem College at Clarksburg Monday.

The gridders are in fair condition, and the absence of a game this Saturday will give the Bobcats two extra days of rest before they face the terrific week ahead, during which time Salem and D. & E. will be played in six days. Miller, McClung and Kolopus are O. K., while Reemsnyder, who received a knockout blow in the first quarter of the Navy tilt, is ready to take his stand at the left tackle position.

W. VA. WALLOPS FORDHAM

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—West Virginia University's football team, scoring a touchdown in each of the first three quarters, won a brilliant 18-0 victory over Fordham at the Yankee Stadium yesterday afternoon before an election day crowd of 27,500 yelling football fans.

The Mountaineers displayed a savage running attack, headed by Cassie Ryan, who turned in runs of 24 yards, 20 yards and 10 yards, the latter good for the final six-pointer in the third quarter.

RYAN SCORES SECOND

The second touchdown was scored late in the second canto after a march down the field had been stopped by Fordham on her own nine-yard line. Brewster, brilliant Mountaineer tackle, broke through and blocked a Dallaire pass, which Lang caught on the Fordham nine-yard line, where he was immediately downed. Ryan shot through tackle for a four-yard gain and, after Keefer had been stopped at center, Bartrug picked up two yards at left tackle. On the next play Ryan dove through right tackle for a touchdown.

The final six-pointer was the result of a well-executed 43-yard advance. Captain Keefer intercepted a pass at midfield and was downed on the Fordham 43-yard mark. Keefer fumbled on the first play, but Ryan recovered the ball for a three-yard loss which Keefer got back on a plunge through center. Eddie Bartrug then shot a beautiful pass to Little Sleepy Glenn, who raced to the Tiger 10-yard stripe on the next play Ryan raced around right end, eluding four would-be tacklers, for his second touchdown. All three of Glenn's attempted placement kicks were blocked by Fordham in the first quarter.

RECOVERS FUMBLE

The Mountaineers missed an excellent chance to score when Vacheresse packed up a Fordham fumble and dashed 20 yards to the Fordham four-yard line, three line plays failed and then a pass was grounded over the goal line.

Fordham threatened only once during the entire game. In the first quarter, Shableski caught a pass which Ryan partially batted down and ran to the West Virginia 15-yard mark where the Mountaineers defense was impregnable.

Bartrug's punting was remarkable, his boots averaging more than 50 yards during the 60 minutes of play. Fordham unable to gain by rushing the ball, took to the air, completing passes for several good gains.

West Virginia, however, intercepted six Fordham heaves and batted down many others. The first downs were 15 to 6 in favor of West Virginia. The lineup:

FORDHAM.		WEST VIRGINIA.

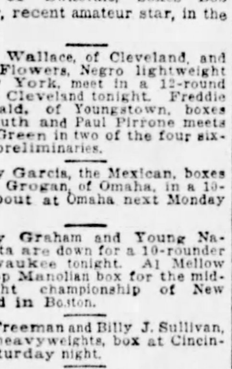
helpful to the team. All the time Walberg is learning, and I find him getting better every season. Some of these days he will arrive, and I wouldn't think of permitting any other club to reap the benefit after Walberg finally finds himself."



Ed Walsh

REFERENCE in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph to the Leifield-Brown slab duel here in the morning game of July 4, 1906, in which each pitcher allowed only one hit, caused a Gallitsin (Pa.) reader to recall another sensational pitchers' battle. He writes this paper as follows: "Another great game was pitched on a Sunday afternoon in late September, back in 1908, between Cleveland and the White Sox. The late Addie Joss shut out the Sox without a hit, and the original Ed Walsh, now coach of the club for which he then pitched, held Cleveland to one hit and struck out 15 men. I have always considered this a high-spot game, as in that year a single victory meant the pennant to any of the first three clubs in either league. It was a great season in both circuits. A friend of mine spoke to Walsh a short time after the game, remarking that it was tough luck to have lost such a contest. Walsh replied that it would have been even tougher for Joss if Addie had lost it, after pitching as he did."

M'KEESPORT FIGHT CARD COMPLETE

Promoter Jim McGirr, of McKeesport, has completed his card for tomorrow night with the signing of Tommy Heilman, of Monongahela, to meet Jack O'Banyon, of Clairton, in the second bout. They are lightweights. Both have boxed Battling Gizzy at Washington, Pa., with Heilman winning the decision over the Battler.

Cuddy DeMarco, of McKeesport, and Benny Burns, of Akron, will box the 10-round windup. Johnny Vivio, of Bloomfield, who fought a draw with Dominick Profio, of Cecil, at East Liverpool, O., Monday night, meets Georgie Peck, of the North Side, in the six-round semi-final, and Howard Williams, Negro of Swissvale, boxes Bob Smoller, recent amateur star, in the opener.

Billy Wallace, of Cleveland, and Bruce Flowers, Negro lightweight of New York, meet in a 12-round bout in Cleveland tonight. Freddie Fitzgerald, of Youngstown, and Babe Ruth and Paul Pirrone meets Bobby Green in two of the four six-round preliminaries.

Bobby Garcia, the Mexican, boxes Tommy Grogan, of Omaha, in a 10-round bout at Omaha next Monday night.

Bushy Graham and Young Nationalista are down for a 10-rounder in Milwaukee tonight. Al Mellow and Wop Manolian box for the middleweight championship of New England in Boston.

Both Frankie Palmo, of Cincinnati, and Henry Firpo, of Louisville, who box the eight-round semi-final to the Young Rudy-Eddie (Kid) Wagner bout at Motor Square Garden next Monday night, pack a knockout wallop. They are young middleweights who have been making their mark in other cities. Palmo has stopped 22 opponents in 70 fights and Firpo has stowed away 18 in 49 and only last Monday night reversed a decision in a return bout with Floyd Hybert, of Ashtabula, O., at New Castle.

Bobby Burns, of Swissvale, and Frankie Lang, of Sharpsburg, have been matched for the four-round opening bout at Motor Square Garden Monday night. Another four-rounder and a six-round preliminary will round out the card.

Cuddy DeMarco has turned down a bout with Young Jack Thompson at Motor Square Garden, November 9.

Johnny Datto, Filipino featherweight of Cleveland, and Al De Rose, of Indianapolis, have been matched for the 10-round main bout at the Jolly Bowl, New Castle, Monday night. Frankie Rio, of Cleveland, and Paddy Gallagher, of the South Side, meet in the six-round semi-final.

ICE RINKS NEARLY READY

San Francisco soon will have an ice rink with seating accommodations for 4,000. It will be known as Iceland. Professional ice hockey will be played there.

HOMEWOOD GETS REAL SOCCER

By TOM BIRKS.

EAST END fans are, for the first time in local soccer history, enabled to see a real soccer team in action without travelling a long distance, since the Pittsburgh Soccer Club managed to get a permit for the Homewood playgrounds. It will serve the identical fare in the soccer football world that the Homewood-Brushton Club did in independent baseball.

Since it is the first club to get a chance to show its stuff for the East End sport fans' approval, folks in that district should drop over to the playground and see soccer as it should be played by a club that is cluttered up with stars, and which rates with the leading amateur clubs in the country.

BOYLE REAL STAR

Fans there will get a glimpse of Bobby Boyle, the last line of defense for Pittsburgh, who can be classed as the Roy Worters of the soccer code. Boyle is the man who set all St. Louis a-talking away back in 1920; who received all kinds of fabulous offers to change his affections and ability to the Mound city. Fans will see young Miller from the Monongahela district, who is classed as one of the best fullbacks in America's amateur ranks. In Augie Behling, American devotees of the game will see an American-born boy, who plays his soccer along American lines, "go-and-get-it," without the usual science that others might introduce. Others can be mentioned, but anyone having 90 minutes to spare next Saturday afternoon, should drop in at the Homewood playgrounds around 3 o'clock and get a real afternoon's sport.

OFFICIALS LAX

Reading over the remarks of our contempories, it seems essential that soccer referee's start reading up on the rules. When a referee calls a game concluded while a penalty kick is being taken, then something is wrong. And again, we notice that quite a number of our leading referees are still trying to referee soccer games from the middle of the field. It was demonstrated long ago that this is impossible. And no matter who the referee may be, he must be up on the play to give fair decisions.

THREE GAMES SUNDAY

Three games will be staged Sunday in the American League. Probably the most interesting will be at Heidelberg, where Dunlevy, with a number of former Heidelberg stars, will do its stuff. Dunlevy can usually show more fight and pep than any other five clubs in the district, and Sunday will be another of those days.

The German Sport Club, still trying to get over its debacle of last Sunday, will travel to Curry, another tough little burg to get points. The Corinthians will be met, and the Corinthians have been invincible of those grounds. However, Benick, who played himself into a two-column head, has left the home club for Dunlevy, so the Meisenberg outfit will not have to worry regarding him.

CUP TIES CARDED

Any soccer fan in the district looking for thrills Sunday should drop down the Panhandle district and take in any one of a half dozen junior cup ties scheduled. This year, for the first time in many years, the Panhandle section seems to be monopolizing the junior spotlight, and what a fight there is going to be before that junior title is safely landed in any of those little towns. Talking about cup ties and juniors, we wonder who prompted some of the junior teams in the district to enter the national amateur cup?

Personally, the writer cannot see what the junior clubs have to gain by entering the National race, unless it is the chance of getting drawn with Heidelberg or Dunlevy where the crowds are large, and walking away with a licking and a nice chunk of the gate receipts. The juniors will have a busy season in the Chartiers Valley League, and the West Penn junior cup. If any of the players feel they should be playing in the amateur, they should join a senior club.

PENNSY BOYS STAR WITH OHIO FROSH

BY LESTER J. BIEDERMAN.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 7.—When the Pitt Panthers attempt to make whoopee with the Ohio State football team next fall at the spacious Pitt Stadium, the excellent group comprising this year's freshmen squad at the Buckeye school may have something to say about the hilarity, such as to who is to take part, where it will occur and what fans will be in on the celebration.

Out of the 300 candidates who appeared for the frosh workouts the list had been chopped down to a mere 150, and in that list the eastern part of Ohio and some towns in Pennsylvania play an important part in the makeup of the first two yearling elevens.

One of the most prominent members of the Buckeye yearling team is Joe Kazmerchak, last year a member of the fast Nanticoke (Pa.) High School team, prominent in the settling of the Pennsylvania state football championship. Kazmerchak is 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighs 180 pounds and is filling the fullback post to perfection.

AULTMAN AT QUARTER

The quarterback is Cliff Aultman, who played the past two years at Kiski and prior to his regime there was a mainstay at Akron North High. Aultman is almost six feet tall and tips the scales at 175 pounds, and is one of the brainiest field generals that has appeared on the yearling roster in many years. He is highly regarded here. His punting and passing are two features which make him a marked man when the frosh go up against the varsity twice weekly.

Suart Holcomb, 5-10, weighing 170, is halfback candidate from Erie, Pa., and at present is playing on the second team but should be on the first eleven ere long. John Huff, Oil City, Pa., a six-footer scaling 180, is a likely looking end, one of the many who are waging a desperate fight for the two frosh flank posts.

The last Pennsylvania boy is Dale Hawkins, who prepped at Fredericktown, Pa., and one of the classiest linemen on the team. Hawkins stands one inch over the six foot mark and weighs 207 pounds and uses his weight and height to great advantage.

Averlett, Akron, Aukerman, Martins Ferry, Briggs, Massillon, Clapsaddle, Alliance, Combs, Cambridge, Doak, Marietta, Edwards, Youngstown, Firth, Canton, Griffith, H. Liverpool, Hodnick, Canton, Johnston, Youngstown, Kreiseleman, Akron, Maurer, Canton, complete the list of backfield aspirants from from the eastern portion of Ohio.

MANY FROM OHIO

Linemen from the eastern sector of Ohio who are playing fine ball are: Charley Kabealo, of Youngstown, who weighs 175 and is six feet tall. He is a tackle. Bill Loretta, Steubenville, is a 170-pound guard, standing 5 feet 10. Dave Smith, of Ashtabula, is 5 feet 10 and weighs 165. He has designs on a guard post. Bill Spence, of Massillon, is aiming at a guard assignment although he is but 5 feet 10 and weighs but 170.

The first freshmen eleven as used by Coach Olsen against the varsity equipped with the Buckeye opponents' play has been Farrier and Wetzel, of Dayton, ends; Baumgarten, 6 foot 2 weighing 225, from Louisville, Male and Hawkins, Fredericktown, Pa., tackles; Wingert, Hillsboro, 195 pounds and Larsen, Bridgeport, Conn., 210 pounds, are the guards; Dave Slaughter, of Louisville Manual, a brother of Butch Slaughter, of Michigan, the All-American, is a six-footer weighing 180 pounds and he is the center.

COONEY, OLD-TIME BRAVE, DIES ON WAY TO POLLS

BOSTON, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—William Cooney, old-time pitcher and shortstop of the Boston National League baseball team, died suddenly yesterday in Roxbury while on his way to cast his vote. Cooney was a member of the Braves team about 20 years ago.

SHORT SERIES FELT

Uncle Sam doesn't like the four-game world series. This year and last only about $80,000 was collected. In previous years the tax money amounted to well over $100,000.

DEMPSEY HARD AT WORK

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Once more there are signs and portents that widespread public demand will bring Jack Dempsey out of fistic retirement and into the ring again.

Despite vigorous assertions by the onetime Manassa Mauler that his fighting days are over, day by day the evidence piles up that Dempsey soon will don the gloves and battle once more for the fame and wealth the ring has already given him.

These constantly recurring reports of another Dempsey comeback gathered more credence among close followers of the ring when the former heavyweight champion entered training at a local gymnasium. Bag punching and calisthenics made up Dempsey's initial workout. He now weighs about 205 pounds, about 10 pounds above his normal fighting weight.

Direct questions as to whether this training program was the first step of another comeback campaign brought forth from the smiling Dempsey only a denial.

ST. FRANCIS TO BATTLE DAVIS-ELKINS SATURDAY

ELKINS, W. Va., Nov. 7. — St. Francis College is to be played by the Senators of Davis-Elkins College in a feature game at Cumberland, Md., on Saturday afternoon.

The Pennsylvania eleven has not been defeated this season. One of the most decisive victories for the Loretto lads was the 32-0 decision over George Washington University. Last Saturday St. Vincent's College was beaten 26-0 by the Donohoe-coached eleven.

How to Read Corporation Reports; Education Needed

By B. C. FORBES

AMERICAN investors and speculators are increasing in number faster than they are increasing in education.

Brokers relate many incidents illustrating the amazing ignorance of many who buy stocks, especially those who buy on margin. What can be done to remedy this unfortunate condition?

TOO many financial people assume that everybody knows more or less about income statements, balance sheets, securities and commonplace financial expressions. Because they have such matters at their fingertips, it does not occur to them that more than half the people in the country are without the slightest knowledge or understanding of them.

Not a few financial writers who discourse daily on the stock market's movements and on other financial developments use words and phrases and language which are Greek to the man in the street. The other day a successful business man asked me in all seriousness what was meant by "call" loans. He asked because his wife had taken to dabbling in stocks and she wanted to know! As a good many people are in danger of learning by and by, call loans are loans lent on stocks which can be called, that is, withdrawn, without any notice. Sometimes they are referred to as "day by day" loans, sometimes as "demand" loans. It is not improbable that there will be a lot of hurried calling of loans once the present unexampled speculative boom bursts.

Time loans, incidentally, mean loans covering a stated period of time—usually anywhere from 30 to 60 days to six months. Such loans cannot be called, or cancelled, until the end of the period they cover.

THE Corn Exchange Bank, which does business through its head office and its 66 branches with many thousands of individuals, including many small merchants, has done something to give ordinary folks understanding of what a bank statement really is. It supplements the items all banks are periodically called upon to publish by a brief, lucid explanation of what each item means.

Now comes an industrial company (Canada Dry Ginger Ale) with a statement along the same lines as that of the bank. Such terms as "net sales," "gross income," "net profits" are briefly explained. Seeing that it is now popularly estimated there are 15,000,000 holders of stocks scattered all over the country, it may be helpful to present here this illuminating form of statement. Here it is:

"NET SALES—This is the amount charged customers for their purchases after deducting freight and breakage.

"COST OF SALES AND EXPENSES—This covers all expenses involved in the manufacture, distribution, selling and advertising of the company's products except depreciation.

"PROFIT FROM OPERATIONS—This is the amount remaining after deducting the above costs and expenses.

"OTHER INCOME—This includes interest on investments and bank balances. Also discounts earned for prompt payment of bills for purchases.

"GROSS INCOME—This is the sum of the two preceding items.

"OTHER DEDUCTIONS—This includes discount allowed customers for prompt payment of bills, provision for uncollectible accounts and miscellaneous small items.

"PROFIT BEFORE DEPRECIATION, INTEREST, UNITED STATES AND DOMINION OF CANADA INCOME TAXES—This is the difference between the two preceding items.

"DEDUCT: DEPRECIATION, INTEREST, UNITED STATES AND DOMINION OF CANADA INCOME TAXES—DEPRECIATION—This is the amount deducted from earnings to provide for the cost of replacing property when worn out. INTEREST—This is the cost of money borrowed by certain subsidiary companies. UNITED STATES AND DOMINION OF CANADA INCOME TAXES—This is the amount deducted from income to provide for payment of income taxes on current earnings.

"NEW PROFIT FOR THE PERIOD—This is the amount remaining to increase the corporation's surplus and to pay dividends to its stockholders."

WHEN you reflect, do you not arrive at the conclusion that the cure for almost every evil, the pathway to almost every line of progress, takes the form of the right kind of education?

Take stock speculation, now so unprecedentedly rampant. The remark very often has been made of late that those who have made most money are those who have had the least experience. That may be true, indeed, it is true in considerable measure. But you can depend upon it that when the fireworks cease, the majority of the fingers burned will belong to novices rather than to conservative bankers and experienced business men. Ignorance is a dangerous asset—it is a liability.

ANYTHING and everything possible should be done to promulgate the A B C's of financial and economic education, especially now that we have become the foremost business and industrial nation in the world and promise to become also a nation of investors.

HOOVER VICTORY SENDS STOCKS SKYWARD

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Wall Street celebrated the election of Herbert Hoover today by staging a vigorous bullish demonstration in stock prices. Early gains of 2 to 10 points were fairly well maintained in the face of heavy profit-taking, with more than a score issues, 14 of them oils, setting new high records for the year. Orders piled up in such tremendous volume that the ticker fell 45 minutes behind the market by early afternoon, total sales crossing the 2,500,000-share mark before the end of the third hour.

Lowering of the call money renewal to 6 per cent, announcement of stock split ups by the National Sugar Refining and a few smaller companies, and the prediction of at least two more years of good business by Arthur W. Cutten, one of Wall street's largest market operators, all helped to stimulate bullish enthusiasm.

Buying orders covered practically the entire list, but centered largely in the oil, copper, public utility and merchandising issues. Cautious short selling was again in evidence although no concerted effort was made to stem the rising tide of prices. Indications of pool distribution were apparent in a few issues.

Several large blocks of 5,000 to 20,000 shares changed hands in the oil group. The list of new highs included Standard Oils of New Jersey and California, Maryland, Sinclair, Pan American Common and the B Stock, Mexican Seaboard, White Eagle, Shell Union, Pure Oil, Phillips, Superior, Amerada, and Texas Coal & Oil, the gains ranging from fractions to 3 points.

Kennecott, which sold less than five years ago below $30 a share, ran up five points to a new top at 133. Anaconda crossed 91 to a new high. Other highs included Woolworth, Real Silk Hosiery, First National Stores, Consolidated Gas, American & Foreign Power, and Commonwealth Power.

Curtiss scored an extreme rise of 10 points and Wright Aeronautical 7½, but they lost a substantial part of their gains on realizing. National Bellas Hess ran up 8½ points, Jewel Tea 6 and American Railways Express 5¼.

The closing was strong. The position of the shorts in many stocks was aggravated by the tremendous influx of buying orders in the final hour, which brought today's aggregate sales approximately to 5,000,000 shares.

Extensive buying of coppers and oils was supplemented by heavy absorption of airplane and chain store issues. In many instances early gains were materially extended, advances running to about 12 points each in Curtiss and Wright Aero. Green Cananea Copper was up nearly 9 points and Kroger Grocery 5, while Kennecott Copper crossed 135.

EVENING Local Stocks Strong SUN-TELEGRAPH Stocks and Bonds MARKETS

TOO FEW STUDY VALUES OF STOCKS

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

THERE are two kinds of speculators—those who follow tips and those who devote as much or more intelligent thought to buying and selling stocks as they do to their regular business. The tip followers do what someone tells them to do regardless of the fact that the source of information may be no more reliable than their own ability to guess. The other type knows what a stock is worth before a purchase is made and knows why its future price should be more than the quotation today.

Too few of the customers of brokerage houses actually know what is going on in the properties behind their stocks. Too many attempt to follow supposed inside information or mere guesswork.

Given a good market, such as has prevailed most of the time for the past four years, the trader who devotes real study to listed companies and then makes his commitments in accordance with the facts and figures usually fares well.

THE market letter of H. S. Edwards & Co. gives a good example of the possibilities for profit in a little statistical work. This letter has been chosen because it does not pretend to have a prophet's insight in the future, does not claim to know what some mysterious "they" may be doing, but does make a thorough analysis of the earnings and financial position of a company each week. On this alone its conclusions are based.

Out of 46 recommendations made between February 2 and October 13, all but 7 showed profits by the close on October 18.

ALTHOUGH profits are slim in the coal industry, the increased production should have a beneficial effect on general business conditions in this district. Coal payrolls are steadily growing and many of the idle miners have either returned to work or have drifted into other industries.

Bituminous coal output for the entire country recently has been about 1,000,000 tons a week greater than a year ago. In the week ended October 27 production was 11,249,000 tons compared with 10,019,000 tons in the corresponding week of last year. Pennsylvania has been showing a good share of the increase. In the week of October 20 production in this state was 2,744,000 tons compared with 2,436,000 tons a year ago.

Why are Concrete streets preferred?

Because they are—

Most durable
Smooth and even-surfaced
Rigid and unyielding
Economical
Clean and beautiful
Safest in any weather
Low in maintenance costs

No other paving material can be "just as good"!
Pave with concrete exclusively.

Vote In County Shows Admirable Independence

The voice of the people has been heard in Allegheny county, as elsewhere, in mighty volume, expressing the public mind on questions of national and local import, and today our citizenry finds itself a little amazed at the strange tone of its own voice. It is a strange tone despite alterations that were forecast by the rumblings prior to the march to the polls by the most impressive army of a civically militant populace that ever has been mustered in this county.

Without even considering the outcome of the balloting, it may be said that a noble duty has been performed in the splendid response of our sturdy workers, our financial captains, our professional leaders and our women to the duty summons of citizenship. As to the outcome, let their be no regrets about that, since it represents the choice of a majority, which is the standard upon which our government and our adherence to it rests.

While the county appears to have voted on the national issue in a manner to keep it safely in line with its political traditions and the party affiliations of the majority of its residents, the final result, not yet fully known, but definitely indicated, will show that our people displayed an admirable independence. Party lines were ignored and the vote shows that political dominance by self-designated leaders is a myth when the people really choose to make their desires felt.

The campaign was an interesting one and hotly contested. Despite that there was much good feeling among the people who differed with each other. There was evidence that the feeling of opposition against either national candidate did not descend to bitter animosity toward his supporters, which certainly can be regarded as an improvement in our manners. We have got to the position where we can fight out issues at the polls and be satisfied with the results.

That is why we can face the future today with confidence that the voice of the people has spoken wisely since it is the voice of the majority. That is why we take up our work with the certainty that the country is not going to the dogs. Those who supported Mr. Hoover are convinced he will measure up to our expectations in a big way. Those who supported Mr. Smith are resigned to the decision of their neighbors, who outnumbered them, but showed in impressive numbers that many of them were willing to adhere to Mr. Smith's cause.

Today we are concerned in the fate of the proposed amendments to the state constitution in which the voters found much interest. As the counting of the vote on the amendments was actually made secondary to that of the presidential candidates, the outcome of the amendments is to be awaited.

Beauty of Form

Not Forgetting FACE and SMILE.

MUCH TO RECOMMEND THIS FAIR ONE.

Leaving aside the musical show, good of its kind, let us consider this young person who is UNUSUALLY good of HER kind.

She represents admirably the girl of the period. No ruffled skirts to this bathing suit, nothing coming down to the ankles, or up around the ears. No corsets to hide natural shape and beauty. No painful self-consciousness in the youthful face and laughing eyes.

We submit this to expert readers as a fine type of modern beauty in FORM, in FACE and in SMILE.

No "made up" face here, no lips painted in offensive scarlet. Just a nice little girl, as heaven made her, and calculated at the first glance to make the most life-weary young gentleman willing to postpone his heavenward trip for many years.

Young ladies will notice that this girl has not striven to look all "skin and bones." Her body goes straight up and down, with just enough swelling at the hips and elsewhere to prove good health, effective metabolism, and future usefulness among the ranks of mothers.

Learn from this girl, young ladies, that the art of being beautiful in face and figure is at least 90 per cent in BEING NATURAL.

Breathe plenty of fresh air, let the sun do its good work for you, don't worry, get plenty of sleep.

NATURE WILL DO THE REST.

New York Day by Day

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The night club, still picking at the coverlet, lingers feebly with its ghostly array of empty white-topped tables. Only a handful, which maintained a certain respectability, are doing anything like a normal business. In its last agony it has been specializing in beating up ladies.

The night club for a number of years has been recognized even by a visiting mayor from Galesburg, Ill., as nothing but a sucker racket. Running them was a trick—a deft understanding of Broadway mob psychology. Strangely enough the idea is to make patrons uncomfortable. The spacious, comfortably equipped place with plenty of room to dance has always failed.

But when tables were jammed together and sour ventilation was sufficient to gag a buzzard—try to keep 'em out. Waiters were actually instructed to bump into chairs. Forcing people to squeeze their way torturously to their seats provided another illusion of intimacy that seemed to thrill.

The idea, too, of having an extra table crowded in for late arrivals was a soothing caress for 'egos. Tables were set and waiting and waiters carried them aloft, subtly banging a few heads en passant. What was for the moment a ringside table, soon became one six rows from the dance floor.

The fuss and flutter for a sucker was elegant opera bouffe. "Table for Mr. Eppis!" cried the head waiter, sharply clapping his hands. Then the flying wedge to escort the poor sapidilo to his table began. Mr. Eppis acquired the neat notion he was quite a card around town.

The successful night club had little entertainment. The managers were hep to the idea 80 per cent of the patronage was composed of philandering couples quite content to amuse each other. Low lights and sensuous music provided an agreeable background.

An eight-minute act twice nightly sufficed. Ridiculous prices were necessary. The little boy in every big man enjoyed this gyppery because it created the impression of high-rolling—the form of polite robbery about which men liked to brag. Strange people—the Finnish.

The meanest trick of the week is reported from a liner sailing at midnight. A departing voyageur stood at the rail to watch the vanishing skyline. A few moments before the "All Ashore" gong, a friend rushed up the gang plank with a huge bowl of goldfish. Before the passenger could protest it was shoved into his hands and there he stood holding it while the ship pulled out.

Another senseless story concerns an apartment party. A surprise stunt was the arrival of a midget just an inch or so taller than a high hat. As he came in twirling his cane, a guest rubbed his eyes, shook himself and cried: "That can't be on the level. He's on stilts."

One of the best known men about London is "Swaff," a dramatic critic. His name is Hannen Swaffer and he has been booed in theaters as well as barred from them. He is an odd, shuffling world-weary egg, who will wear a necktie to the last thread, has an impediment in his speech and yet is one of the best after-dinner speakers in The City. He is hated by actors and producers and loved by Fleet street and the theater goers. "Swaff" is to visit New York this spring and Broadway looks to his arrival with an eager curiosity. Several years ago in London he told me more about the New York theater than I had learned in years of prowling about the Rialto. And three of his predictions at which I secretly hooted have come tru

The golf architect is a comparatively new product of the specializing age. Top notchers are said to command incomes in five figures and spend most of their time running around in butter-bean shaped pants, playing their favorite game—golf.

Tales That Are Told

Useless

TWO men traveling in the same carriage had become friendly.

"Have a cigar?" said one.

"Don't think I'll take one, said the other.

"Have a cigaret, then?"

"No, thank you!"

"How about a pipe?" the first persisted in desperation.

"Don't use tobacco at all."

"Goodness! What on earth do you do with your mouth?"

The Explanation

PITTER—"What are you reading there?"

Andres—"It is called 'Money and Work.'"

Pitter—"What does that mean?"

Andres—"Suppose you lend me $50, that is money."

Pitter—"And what about work?"

Andres—"You will have that getting the money back again."

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS.

YOU know, some people do get kinda stuck up when they get to singing in public. You just can't imagine how important they think they are. I don't know what it is that gets into a person that makes them think that singing a song on a stage is more important than building a pyramid.

Anyhow, there was a woman that tried for years to be a great opera singer, but somehow she never could make it. She got plenty of chances to sing, but every time she started to sing the audience slung carrots and turnips at her.

Well, some of her professional friends was discussing her, and one of them says, "Somehow, she thinks she's it anyhow, doesn't she?"

"It? Why, do you know why she never succeeded? She not only wants to stand in the center of the stage when she's in an opera, but she wants to sing all the duets and choruses by herself!"

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

The Critic

UPON another's life I looked
And saw the follies there,
Saw all the frailties that it brooked,
Its futile toil and care.

With scorn I watched its plot unfold,
The ignorance and loss,
Its story old as time is old,
The tale of human dross.

But, looking there, I found at length
What first I failed to see:
Endurance, honesty and strength
The years revealed to me.

Late, late I bowed my head in shame,
For then I understood
This life, where I had sought but blame,
Was beautiful and good.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

THE rules that worked for Dad won't always serve for son in 1928.

For instance, there's that venerable axiom—"BE SURE YOU'RE RIGHT, THEN GO AHEAD." That was great advice for generations who had plenty of time and not much competition, but it's dangerous dope for these more strenuous days.

WE CAN NO LONGER AFFORD TO MAKE SURE WE'RE RIGHT BEFORE WE GO AHEAD. There isn't time. While we're trying to make up our minds the chance may pass, or the other fellow may jump in and grab it.

Moreover we are now doing many new and experimental things for which there is no precedent. It is impossible to determine in advance whether these are safe or profitable things to do. Somebody has to do them for the first time and often it's up to us. If we want to keep moving with the crowd we must face a certain amount of risk and we must be prepared to face that risk.

We must prepare for modern life as a fighter prepares for the ring. Life is our sparring partner and its blows fall thick and fast. We must train ourselves to duck and dodge, take advantage of every opening, make lightning decisions, be agile of heel and brain.

Such training isn't easy. We must often revise all our habits and attitudes. We must eliminate much self-indulgence — little tricks of dawdling and day dreaming. We must tighten up and speed up our mental muscles as a fighter speeds and tightens up the muscles of his body. We must keep ourselves fit by tremendous discipline. We must develop our powers of decision as he develops his blows.

Sometimes those quick, snap decisions will be wrong. But the chances are that they won't be wrong any oftener than the slow, cautious decisions of grandpa's time. And they'll at least be decisions. It's better to make a few wrong decisions than never to make any at all.

You've been wondering why Lady Luck has been passing you up lately. Maybe that's why. Perhaps while you were trying to make right before you went ahead, the rest of the gang have been giving you their dust.

Snap out of it
Speed up!

Get the tempo of 1928, or as sure as God made little apples, pal, you'll be disqualified.

COSMIC RAYS

By Garrett P. Serviss

ARE the "cosmic rays" now so much talked about in popular as well as scientific circles, something hitherto unknown for the reason that they have but recently come into existence? Can they be forerunners of some stupendous change coming over the universe—something apocalyptic—which, when it is consummated, will wipe us out of existence in the twinkling of an eye? In short, is this discovery one of those forerunning "signs" of the "last day," so fearfully depicted in Scriptual prophecy? And has science thus unwittingly become a witness for revelation?

Such ideas as these have manifestly been lurking of late in the minds of some preachers, and gaining a little credit among their congregations. It may be worth while to point out what science itself has to say. To be sure, this strange, marvellously penetrating, radiation, which seems to rain down out of open space, still is too mysteriously "cosmic" to afford much clue to its origin. The inhabitants of the earth have no consciousness, or no sensual evidence, of its existence. The eye cannot see, nor the hand feel it. It does not produce any effects perceptible in any of the processes or activities of life. It is only detectable by refined and difficult scientific methods of investigation.

Yet, they show that this radiation is powerful enough to pass through 18 feet of solid lead. It must pass through us, but we are evidently too "coarse," or too insensitive, to be affected by the passage. Through our eyes we are affected by the radiant light of the stars, and with delicate instruments we detect their heat radia or but we cannot say that they produce any general physiological effect upon us. Now, the total energy coming to the earth in the cosmic rays, according to Dr. Millikan, is only about one-tenth of that coming in the light and heat of all the stars, our own star, the sun, being excluded, because on account of its proximity it stands in a class by itself. So, nothwithstanding the tremendous penetrating power of the cosmic radiation, we see that its effective energy is, from our point of view, very slight.

It is, no doubt, due to the announcement made some time ago that the cosmic rays probably played a part in the existence and maintenance of life, that such ideas as those exposed at the head of this article have arisen. But all this is very vague and entirely speculative, and the insistence, at present, is upon the relation of the mysterious radiation to the birth, in the universe, of matter itself the rays are supposed to arise from the continual creation of new atoms, the process taking place out in interstellar space. To quote Dr. Millikan, "the cosmic rays are the signals sent out through the heavens of the creation of the common elements out of positive and negative electrons."

The formation of atoms out of electrons liberates energy of a very high vibratory frequency, and this explains why the process of creation just described gives rise to the penetrating rays.

As far as observation, and resultant efforts to form guiding theories, are concerned the existence of this radiant energy, so far from implying any possible catastrophic change in the existing regime, indicates, on the contrary, a regenerative process which might be interpreted as proof that the universe is eternal, though passing through cycles which involve the successive creation, dissipation and recreation of individual parts.

Bible Passages

Tribute Unto Caesar

(Luke 20; 21-38.

AND they asked him, saying, Master, we know that thou sayest and teachest rightly, neither acceptest thou the person of any, but teachest the way of God truly:

Is it lawful for us to give tribute unto Caesar, or no?

But he perceived their craftiness, and said unto them, Why tempt ye me?

Shew me a penny. Whose image and superscription hath it? They answered and said, Caesar's.

And he said unto them, Render therefore unto Caesar the things which be Caesar's, and unto God the things which be God's.

And they could not take hold of his words before the people: and they marvelled at his answer, and held their peace.

Then came to him certain of the Sadducees, which deny that there is any resurrection; and they asked him, Saying, Master, Moses wrote unto us, If any man's brother die, having a wife, and he die without children, that his brother should take his wife, and raise up seed unto his brother.

There were therefore seven brethren: and the first took a wife, and died without children.

And the second took her to wife, and he died childless.

And the third took her; and in like manner the seven also: and they left no children, and died.

Last of all the woman died also.

Therefore in the resurrection whose wife of them is she? for seven had her to wife.

And Jesus answering said unto them, The children of this world marry, and are given in marriage:

But they which shall be accounted worthy to obtain that world, and the resurrection from the dead, neither marry, nor are given in marriage:

Neither can they die any more: for they are equal unto the angels; and are the children of God, being the children of the resurrection.

Now that the dead are raised, even Moses shewed at the bush, when he calleth the Lord the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob.

For he is not a God of the dead, but of the living: for all live unto him.

Isn't It So?

At any rate the good blondes dye young.

RIGHT ANGLES

By Alexander Cairns

Just think of Turk's Head Tavern and the satellites gathered about the great lexicographer, Dr. Johnson: Garrick, Goldsmith, Burke, Reynolds, Hume and other sundry giants.

Gladstone, the Grand Old Man of British politics, was a magnet who made notables commonplace in his parlor. Tennyson liked to try out his lines on the Premier.

Ruskin, of the flowing beard and fluent pen, dropped in at Hawarden, the home of Gladstone, as today English neighbors drop in for a casual cup of tea.

And one day the great Premier said to Ruskin:

"I am a firm believer in the aristocratic principle—the rule of the best. I am an out-and-out inequalitarian."

And that last big, newly-coined word made Ruskin laugh. For Gladstone had said in essence that he believed all men were created unequal. And we agree that

All men are unequal.

And the aristocratic principle.

And surely we are all inequalitarians, for we know, as we know the alphabet, that the spears of grass and the scions of men are all unlike. There are no duplicates in the creations of God.

But when Gladstone talked with Ruskin he doubtless had in mind the pre-eminence of the smug aristocracy over the poor of the simple annals; the landed proprietors over the insecure tenants; the Oxford men over the Manchester men.

He learned better. The day came when the disinherited of the British Isles looked upon Gladstone as their liberating Moses.

The rule of the best is the rule of the morally best and intellectually best. The aristocratic principle is the predominance of brains.

Men are like apples in a barrel riding over a bumpy road. The big ones come to the top. Especially in a democracy.

And, as Old Chronos filters decades through his hour glass, we see in America a genuine evolving democracy, with the rule of the best, the real best, in the ascendent.

OH, THESE WOMEN

By Leola Allard

SHE was climbing the stairs ahead of me, to a department store. She was a young woman. In her arms was a fascinating blue-eyed baby with a blue sweater and a cunning little pale blue cap. It had the merriest face I saw in the great Broadway crowds.

Trotting along beside her, asking questions which were always answered, was another child about 3, with a blue coat, half hose, a very smart little hat and white gloves, spotless white gloves, which seemed to delight her as she wiggled her fingers and asked more questions.

The mother wasn't what you'd call well dressed. Her clothes were neat and home made. Her children looked much—oh, very much better.

Chic "business women" bustled hers and there, looking competent and prosperous, and feeling pretty sure of themselves. They were successes.

The "business" women had some bills from high-class stores, which were unpaid. They had rose-budded, chiffon lace, trimmed undies, and some smart hats in the closet.

The mother had no unpaid bills, and when you went into the house about meal time you could smell savory things cooking.

You wouldn't hear many laughs in the home of the business girl I saw, because there really isn't so much to laugh about.

"The business woman" wouldn't change places with the mother. She thinks she wouldn't. Give up "HER LIFE" to a lot of babies? No, sir! She wants to LIVE, whatever that means.

And would the mother give up her life for the trimmed undies and the party in a favorite speakeasy now and then? You wouldn't ask her if once you got a look into her happy face.

Then a fine, sound business woman who has been tremendously successful came along, and she stopped to tell me that she had adopted a second child. "The little girl had a birth mark on her face," said this fine woman, "and I thought if anybody ought to take her, I should, as I made my money in beauty work, and here was a chance to return some of the kindness life had shown me."

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

BECAUSE your friend is more conservative than you are you call him a crab.

Because he has a sense of propriety that forbids him to do as you do you think he is impossible.

He throws cold water on your plans.

He does not care for your sporty, carefree friends. And says so.

And it is.

You don't like it.

You have had embarrassing moments due to your prime desire to have a good time.

Has your precipitate nature gained you satisfaction?

Are you not wondering why you must endure a lot of things you don't like?
